Police step up traffic enforcement for bicyclists, pedestrians

DOWNEY - The Downey Police Department will step up bicycle and pedestrian traffic enforcement at various times during the month of August, focusing on collision-causing factors involving drivers, pedestrians and

The department has mapped out locations over the past three years where pedestrian and bike collisions have occurred, along with the violations that led to those crashes.

Extra officers will be on duty patrolling areas where bike and pedestrian traffic and crashes occur in an effort to lower deaths and injuries.

Officers will be looking for violations made by drivers, bike riders and pedestrians alike that can lead to life-changing injuries. Special attention will be directed toward drivers speeding, making illegal turns, failing to stop for signs and signals, failing to yield to pedestrians in crosswalks or any other dangerous violation.

Additionally, officers will be looking for pedestrians crossing the street illegally or failing to yield to drivers who have the right of way. Bike riders will be issued citations when they fail to follow the same traffic laws that

"All riders are reminded to always wear a helmet - those under 18 years of age must wear helmets by law," police said. "Pedestrians should cross the street only in marked crosswalks or at corners."

Bicycle and pedestrian fatalities are rising in California as more people use non-motorized means of transportation. Locally, the Downey Police Department has investigated 276 fatal and injury collisions involving pedestrians and bicyclists during the past three years.

In 2012, California witnessed 612 pedestrians and 124 bicyclists killed while nationally 4,743 pedestrians and 726 bicyclists were killed.

Funding for this program is provided by a grant from the California Office of Traffic Safety through the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

PIH Downey hires new group to manage ER

By Christian Brown Staff Writer

DOWNEY – For the first time in 30 years, a new medical group will manage the emergency room at the former Downey Regional Medical Center, now PIH Health Hospital -

PIH Health officials announced last week that Downey Acute Care Medical Group, which currently manages the hospital's emergency department, will be replaced by Dallas-based EmCare, a leading national provider of clinical services.

"After extensive review of several potential medical groups to provide emergency care services to its patients, including the current group, PIH Health Hospital - Downey has selected a new medical group and is currently in contract discussions," said Monique Rodriguez, manager of public and community relations for PIH Health.

While PIH expects many of the physicians from the Downey Acute Medical Group to remain on staff when EmCare takes over, not all of the employees are excited about the

"We're happy PIH purchased the hospital from Downey Regional Medical Center and got us out of bankruptcy, but this is a sad day for the community," said Dr. Jack Kennis, associate director of the emergency department at PIH Downey.

Kennis has treated patients at the Downey hospital since 1983. He believes the decision by PIH to remove Downey Acute Care administration desires a more handson role in the emergency room.

"And that's a mistake," he said. "The independence of the emergency room is important, but PIH doesn't want an independent contractor, it wants employees that it can fire at

While Kennis acknowledged that PIH Health is offering jobs to many of the current nurses and physicians, he also maintains the shift has alienated longtime employees who plan on leaving the hospital as a result.

PIH has chosen Dallas-based EmCare to manage the Downey hospital's emergency room. Not everyone is happy about the change.

Several former employees and current patients joined Kennis at the Downey City Council meeting last Tuesday to protest PIH's decision.

Downey resident Sandra Orzoco receives regular care at PIH Health Hospital, located at 11500 Brookshire Ave., due to her multiple sclerosis. She praised the Downey emergency room for its assistance through the years, but expressed concern that a large, national group may "lower the standard of patient care."

Downey city councilmembers could not publicly respond to the comments last week at the meeting, but city officials are keeping an eye on the emergency room developments.

provided a challenge for residents with unacceptable wait times.

"We're hopeful this change improves the quality of care our residents receive," they said.

Changes to the emergency room are already underway at the hospital. In 2014, PIH Health announced that it will invest nearly $5.5 million into expanding the current emergency department, adding approximately 5,000-sq.-ft. with 12 additional beds.

PIH Health could not confirm when it expects EmCare to assume control of the emergency room, but when it does, the new group will control its own billing, receiving payments from patients for medical services just like Downey Acute Care Medical Group did in past years.

TWEET OF THE WEEK

@lazuli: Did this paper [L.A. Times] really refer to Downey as the Mexican Beverly Hills? I'm moving out.

2 | The Downey Patriot Thursday, Aug. 6, 2015

No, Downey is not the 'Mexican Beverly Hills'

OPINION: For those of us who live outside of North Downey on the margins of the city, characterizing Downey as "Mexican Beverly Hills" is unfathomable.

By Tina Vasquez Contributor

Earlier this week, the Los Angeles Times ran a story on Downey that circulated widely on social media. The headline, later changed, was "Latinos Rising Fortunes Are Epitomized in Downey, the 'Mexican Beverly Hills." Downey residents were interviewed to discuss the ways in which the city represents "upward mobility" for Latinos, people like Rick Rodriguez Sr., owner of California's largest Latinoowned private security firm, Nick Velez, owner of Bastards, Valentin prospering in Downey and words like "Latino" and "Mexican" are interchangeable.)

As a Latina of Mexican descent who was born and raised in Downey, I felt the familiar sting I always do as a person who has become accustomed mainstream media cherry picking the stories they want to tell about

> What overshadowed that pride was the sinking feeling that this is the way it will always be: We will always be divied up into those who are considered acceptable Latinos and those who are not; those who are worth being embraced by this country, and those who are not. Usually, both are dictated by a person's willingness to assimilate and trumpet the virtues of the U.S., while slowly leaving both their culture and their willingness to discuss racism

> The Times article could have just been a case of a journalist, unfamiliar with the community they're covering, getting the story wrong. In journalist Cindy Carcamo's version of Downey, it's a suburban utopia for Latinos who've obtained the American Dream and have been embraced by their community. End of story. I work in media and see journalists mess up all the time, failing to dig deeper and develop nuance, but I couldn't dismiss the article. It grated

> For those of us who live outside of North Downey on the margins of the city, characterizing Downey as "Mexican Beverly Hills" is unfathomable. I live in a neighborhood where a few years ago, a two-year-old girl was shot. In my pocket of the city, it's not unusual to see kids spend their weekends standing on street corners holding up signs featuring the faces of deceased friends or family members, asking passersby for money so they can cover their loved ones' funeral expenses. I live where helicopters hover over head most weekends. Most of the the people who populate my neighborhood are the kind of hardworking folks who would commute into Beverly Hills as domestic workers, but they will never live in Beverly Hills or anywhere like it. I will always assert my portion of the city is just as beautiful as North Downey and that my Latino neighbors, who may never own homes or start their own businesses, are just as vital to our community as Flores, founder of Downey Art Vibe, a part of me grateful to see positive those who go on to do those things.

The more I thought about the Times article and the implications of it, the more upset I became. I turned to Facebook, asking former and current Downey residents to weigh in and share their thoughts. It Downey, which is primarily being was after exchanging messages with educator and writer, Mari Urrutia Gedney, that I was able to better articulate why I believe the article did more harm than help.

Gedney is a current Downey resident who serves on the board of the Downey Arts Coalition, and she knows the city well. Her family moved to Downey from Huntington Park when she was in second grade and to make the cost of that possible, they had a multi-generational home. She was upset by how strongly the Times implied that moving to a city like Downey, deemed in the article to be better than neighboring cities like Bell and South Gate, equals necessary assimilation and a sort of point of pride in being able to pass as something other than Latino. Gedney says in some cases, those that numbers don't always mean things are done as a way for a person to keep themselves safe - and that's valid, but without addressing the racism in Downey or the internalized racism of those looking to shed their Latino identity, how honest are we being about our city?

Like Gedney, I no longer read the editorial page of the Patriot. The overt racism of white residents writing letters to the editor, almost always targeting Latinos and spewing vitriol around topics like immigration, became too aggravating and hurtful. Let's not pretend this racism only exists in the pages of a newspaper.

If you'll recall, it was Downey residents that were upset by a new supermarket considering a Spanish name. So much pressure was placed on the owner that he opted out city where white residents angrily addressed then-Mayor Guerra for his honest opinion as to why Trader Joe's continuously refused to open a location in Downey, despite years of courting. "We're not white enough or rich enough for them," he said. All hell broke loose because here, it seems, we like to pretend that race isn't an issue.

People of color friends of mine have been pulled over by Downey police traffic stops. As a contributor to the Patriot, yes, I've written about the revitalization of Downtown spearheaded by young people of color, but I've also covered the killing of Michael Nida, the unarmed Latino father of four who was shot multiple times in the back with a submachine gun by Downey Officer Steve Gilley for a robbery Nida did not commit.

It was after a series of stories about Nida that I received a private letter from an elderly Latino man who had spent a bulk of his life in Downey. The letter detailed the & work. multiple instances of racism he'd experienced living in our city. When I called him, asking how I could help, he simply said, "I just wanted you to know this isn't a new thing here." These things don't happen in Beverly Hills, and they certainly don't happen to white people.

It's important to remember power and honestly, power doesn't always mean power. There are many Downey residents who surely feel that because Barack Obama is president, racism is over. The Black Lives Matter movement tells us otherwise. Because Latinos make Health expo at up the bulk of the population in Downey and because three of our five council members are Latino, doesn't mean that "upward mobility" or the American Dream are a possibility or an aspiration - for all Latinos in the city. And please, let's stop pretending there is one Latino Experience. Some of us are much more privileged than others, depending on our countries of origin, our family's number of years in this country, our citizenship status, our skin color, etc. Gedney, who has appeared of using Spanish. This is the same on the cover of the Times for her writing and educational work, told me that the most offensive part of the article was how the use of the phrase "Mexican Beverly Hills" makes the rest of Downey's population invisible, not important enough to address or talk about. I can't help but think that's how Downey would prefer it. If we talk about the Latinos who haven't "made it", we'll have to talk about some of the reasons why. Downey is the same city where Downey clearly isn't ready to have that conversation.

DOWNEY – Assemblywoman officers at gunpoint for routine Cristina Garcia said she supports Huntington Park's decision to appoint two undocumented residents to city commissions.

Below is her full statement:

"I praise the City of Huntington Park for their bold action in naming qualified, undocumented volunteer immigrants commissioners. With hardliners in Congress stalling comprehensive immigration reform, California has been at forefront in moving to engage on the issue & bring immigrants out of the shadows & into participating in the communities where they live

"There is a lot of talk about combating apathy & increasing civic engagement in order to build on our democracy. Last night's appointment is taking words & putting them into action. The reality is that there is enough space in our society for everyone to play a part in their community. Let's use this as an inspiration to motivate all of our residents to participate in higher numbers, to make government work for everyone & provide fresh ideas to help our communities prosper."

Jean was born and raised in Akron, Ohio. After graduating from high school she attended Ohio State University majoring in nursing, only to have her studies interrupted by WWII.

Anita Irwin Celebrates Her 102 Birthday

Anita Irwin was born in Fano, Italy on August 7, 1913 to Almurrico Ceresani and Maria Morelli and passed through Ellis Island in New York city harbor in November of 1921 at age eight with her older brother Pasquale Ceresani. Moving to New Haven, an established Italian cultural heritage city, Anita was one of the Italian diaspora disembarking from Genoa, Italy, arriving in New York city and, like many Italians, traveling a short distance and settling in New Haven, Connecticut. There she and her brother attended Thompson Grammar and West Haven High School and retained her Italian heritage and daily language until the 1950's when many of the first generation of Italian immigrants passed on thus completing her assimilation into America. Her career in entertainment in the 1930's was cut short by her mothers early demise and she returned to manage the household of her father and brother. She gained full citizenship in 1941 when, during the war, Italian aliens were under threat of deportation. Her marriage to Russell Thomas Irwin in 1945 yielded a single son with whom she currently lives with. Moving to Southern California in 1985 with her son Robert, and his wife Helena, where he completed graduate work at the University of California in physics. And later moved to Downey in 1988 taking an engineering position at the Northrop Grumman Corporation until his retirement in 2010, where currently he is retained as a consultant. Anita has lived on Dolan Avenue in Downey with her son since 1991 and is looking forward to her 103rd year in good health and with all her faculties.

Norwalk athlete wins gold medal at Special

NORWALK - The Special Olympics World Games started on a high note for John Glenn High incoming junior Destiny Sanchez, who was given the honor of lighting the Olympic torch during opening ceremonies July 25.

Over the following three days, Sanchez carried on the positive and competitive spirit, winning the Gold medal for the 200 meter, the Silver in the 100 meter and the Bronze on the 400 meter relay race.

Every two years, Special Olympics athletes come together to compete at the Special Olympics World Games - this time in Los Angeles. More than 7,000 athletes from 177 countries descended upon the region, to compete in 25 different sports at venues throughout Los Angeles during the last week in Norwalk-La Mirada School Board President Jesse Urquidi said Sanchez is an inspiration to the entire community.

'The Special Olympics is a transformative experience that brings out pride, courage and joy in athletes, while inviting families and entire communities to join in celebrating their success. Norwalk-La Mirada Unified applauds her for her tremendous accomplishments."

Sanchez attends Linda Parra's special education class where she is learning life skills needed for independence and will earn a certificate of completion. Parra, a special education teacher and the athletic director at Glenn High in Norwalk, encourages students to try out for the Special Olympics because it allows them to explore the broader world, meet new people and build their Sanchez's mother, Lourdes, said Special Olympics has made the seemingly impossible feel attainable. "Destiny loves her coaches and likes the fact that competing makes her special," Lourdes said.

"Special Olympics has given her a lot of confidence and she feels like there's nothing she can't do. She thoroughly enjoys participating."

Sanchez won a gold medal in the 50-meter dash and a bronze in the 100-meter dash during a local Special Olympics competition last year on behalf of Team Norwalk, and was chosen by the Special Olympics World Games Committee to join Team USA for the World Games this summer.

"Destiny set her mind to winning the Gold medal and this accomplishment speaks to her work ethic, determination and tenacity," said Superintendent Dr. Hasmik Danielian. "She truly is a role model for all of our students, and even adults throughout our community to reach for their dreams."

Parra, too, is thrilled about Sanchez's gold-medal winning performance and to have seen her featured in the World Games opening ceremony. "She just sprinted up the stairs with confidence and ease to light the torch with millions of people watching. I am so proud of her," she said.

Rio Hondo launches center for veterans services

WHITTIER - Rio Hondo College's Veterans Service Office launched a one-stop service center this summer that will allow veterans of the U.S. armed forces to conveniently obtain a host of critical services that range from counseling and tutoring to financial aid and loan assistance.

Veterans make up a small, but growing percentage of Rio Hondo's student population.

"Our veterans are returning to college after making significant sacrifices on our behalf," said Superintendent/President Teresa Dreyfuss. "As such, they have special needs that go beyond those of the typical student - and we want to be sure we meet all of them to ensure their success at Rio Hondo College and beyond."

Veterans Services, said the center was inspired by a desire to provide veterans with a place where they would feel most comfortable getting the services needed for their education.

Yvonne Gutierrez-Sandoval, Director of Financial Aid, Scholarships and

"Our veterans share unique experiences – many of them traumatic – and it creates a level of comfort for them to be around other veterans who understand that," Gutierrez-Sandoval said.

Services for veterans include:

- Counseling services
- •A Veterans Administration education benefits certifying official
- •A financial aid adviser
- •Emergency student loans
- Tutoring services
- Computer lab
- •Information on community programs and services for veterans

•Graduation cap and gown loan program

"The transition to civilian life can be a difficult one," added Arely Castaneda, Rio Hondo College's newly appointed Veterans Service Center coordinator/counselor. "Providing a convenient location that meets all of a veteran's needs helps eliminate unneeded stress. It also promotes their efforts to complete their courses and make the transition to a four-year college or new career."

Board of Trustees President Madeline Shapiro said the new center is part of a larger campaign launched by the College to ensure all students receive services sculpted to meet their unique needs.

"Veterans are a growing and significant element of our student population," Shapiro said. "It is a privilege to play a role in helping them transition to their next role in our society, and any service we can offer to make the process work more smoothly benefits us all."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR:

Teachers endorse school board

Dear Editor:

President of the Downey Education Association (DEA), Jim Mogan, publicly announced DEA's endorsement of the four incumbent Downey Unified Board of Education members who will be up for re-election this November. This declaration in support of Tod M. Corrin, William A. Gutierrez, Donald E. LaPlante and D. Mark Morris, was made on Wednesday,

Tod M. Corrin, currently serving as President of the Board of Education, Trader Joe's and Sprouts has represented Trustee Area Two for 12 years. Serving since 2003, Corrin has been re-elected three times. Presently a member of the Board of Education Dear Editor: and previous 2014 Board President representing Trustee Area Three, William A. Gutierrez has been an active member since 2001. The longest elected member, Donald E. LaPlante, has served on the Board since 1979 and represents Trustee Area Four. Throughout his 36 years, LaPlante has served as Board president six times and in 2012, was elected as Director for Region 24 for the California School Boards Association. The final incumbent for the November election is D. Mark Morris, who represents Trustee Area Six. Following close behind LaPlante, he has served on the Downey Unified Board of Education since 1982. Elected as president five times during his 33 years on the Board, Morris was previously a member of the Delegate Assembly for the California School Boards Association.

The Downey Education Association has endorsed these four incumbents because of the countless accomplishments throughout their years of service, especially during the worst economic crisis in decades from 2008-2013.

"Downey Unified has soared above and beyond because of the decisions that have come out of the board room," stated Mogan. In the 2014-2015 school year alone, Downey Unified has unveiled two state of the art buildings at the high school level that has expanded the educational offerings for many students. Downey Unified was also selected for the College Board's AP Honor Roll, has had a feature story broadcast on public radio highlighting the exemplary implementation of curricula in comparison to other school districts, has been selected by the State Superintendent for a $6 million Career Pathway Trust grant and have had 26 high school students compete at the national SkillsUSA Competition, four of which received gold medals becoming National Champions.

This past year, Downey Unified has also reached a record high graduation rate of over 93 percent.

For these reasons and countless others the Downey Education Association is proud to endorse these four incumbents for re-election to the Downey Unified Board of Education.

Praise for Assemblywoman

Dear Editor:

As a resident of the city of Downey, I have to give a round of applause to Assemblywoman Cristina Garcia. She was elected in 2012, reelected in 2014, to represent the 58th Assembly district. During this short time she has become the Assistant Majority Floor Leader, the Vice Chair of the Legislatives Woman's Caucus, served on numerous commissions, and before that was a successful statistics teacher for 13 years.

This wasn't even what grabbed my attention. What did was everything that she has done locally. But before I get into that, let's examine what she has done legislatively.

House Resolution 5 passed in the Assembly 76 to 0 in a strong show of bipartisanship. It calls for Mexico to address its human rights violations, particularly in the event of the disappearance of 43 college students. In the past decade, there has been an estimated 25,000 disappearances in Mexico and the least we could do is stand in solidarity against these actions by showing our support to our fellow neighbors to the south. We have her to

She also authored Assembly bill 146, which helps to teach elementary school students about the Mexican Repatriation of the 1930's that illegally deported around 1 million Mexican-Americans and legal Mexican immigrants. It is in the State Senate now and we have her to thank for that as well, especially since a large number of the citizens in the district are of Mexican descent. But this still wasn't what caught my attention.

My attention was grabbed by her Summer Reading Program, the Young Legislator's Program, and Pride 58. All three of these initiatives help make communities better on the local level. The Summer Reading Program helps to keep children's minds stimulated during vacation and it is encouraged with prizes for the winners. Reading is essential to youth development because once you learn how to read, your access to information is unlimited.

With the Young Legislator's Program, students have an opportunity to learn about the political process locally and it strengthens their civil engagement. So in the future when someone could possibly tell them something about government, policies, or political parties, instead of just absorbing whatever is being said to then they will be able to rationalize and discern information to see where the truth is. They will be less likely to be persuaded due to a lack of knowledge and in turn can educate their peers.

With Pride 58, it's a campaign she started to highlight positive contributions in the community. It could be a person, a business, an organization, and what it does is help to reinforce the betterment of the Lost and found pets community and applications are accepted year round.

From legislation to local issues, it is clear that her background in teaching has influenced her civic approach towards community in a positive way. So far she is doing a great job and we need more representatives like her that focus on citizenship and service. I'm glad she is our Assemblywoman and I hope she doesn't mess up.

Birthday party

Dear Editor:

I want to thank you for printing the article on July 23 about our 95th birthday party. It was ever so much better than having our obituaries printed. People I had had in my teaching career have read it and others as well have been able to share our joy at living so long.

Thank you for giving the Downey citizens a chance to read local news. Margery Barnings Downey

I have been watching the gradual building of the new shopping center/ hotel/movie theatre, and am glad to see that the City of Downey is trying to grow and develop and attract more businesses to Downey

However, I was very disappointed to find out that no effort has been made to bring a store such as Trader Joe's or Sprouts to Downey. Most Downey residents would love to have such a store in our neighborhood, instead of having to drive to Cerritos, Lakewood or Long Beach and spend our money in those cities (instead of adding to the tax revenue of our own city).

If the mayor and the City Council really care about this city, instead of bringing yet another Walmart, which we do not need or want in this city, they could make a little more effort in bringing a higher scale of stores that the citizens of this town actually want, care about and would love to have.

I am asking the Downey Patriot to share this letter with the City Council and the Mayor and ask them to make an effort to bring more upscale businesses to this area. Cerritos is a much newer city, yet its better planned and built, and has made a successful effort in attracting the right kind of shops and businesses that make it a more attractive city to live in. I would like Downey to come up to Cerritos' standards. Its definitely doable if a little Downey is a great town and has the potential to be even greater if our government actually listens to the desires of its citizens. Bring Trader Joe's and Sprouts to Downey now!

Illegal immigration

The issue of illegal immigrants is just that, an issue that politicians from Hillary Clinton to Jeb Bush need to have something to talk about instead of Illegal immigration is easy to stop, but to do it, the reasons for illegal immigration must be understood. Illegal immigrants don't come escaping political persecution or religious intolerance. They come because they listen to the only voice that never lies, the voice of the stomach. In other words, they come because they can find work here because it is financially profitable for big corporations like Wal-Mart (the Wall Street Journal reported they had hired illegal aliens) and for individuals who hire an illegal gardener.

The solution suggests itself: Don't employ illegal aliens and since there is no work, they won't come and those who are already here will return to their home land. In order to do this, something brave is required from the government like imposing a one year jail sentence for every illegal individual company has hired. Seeing the CEO of Wal-Mart in jail will be a strong incentive for other companies not to hire illegal immigrants; the same pressure will apply to individuals.

Will the government do this? I seriously doubt it because after all we need Wal-Mart and its low price items and the political contributions of C.E.O.'s to finance political campaigns.

Until we are ready to do the right thing all debate about illegal immigrants is laughable. Jorge Montero

State privacy act

The California Electronic Communications Privacy Act (S.B. 178) is racing down the tracks at the state legislature. But it would be a train wreck for California's five Internet Crimes Against Children (ICAC) task forces, true human rights heroes who combat child sexual exploitation.

In its blind zeal to slow down online law enforcement at any cost, the bill would require that police notify child pornography traffickers they are coming, prove a child was in danger of "serious physical injury" or face destruction of evidence, and stop accessing "device information" suspects freely offer online. It would force the ICACs out of national and international law enforcement programs and nearly out of business entirely.

The authors should fix this trainwreck of a bill now.

Grier Weeks Executive Director

National Association to Protect Children

After our dog Daisy went missing on Thursday, the 23rd of July, we did what any responsible owner would do and put up lost dog signs. Little did I know this was against Downey's Code Enforcement, and was quickly notified by Carmen that it was in fact punishable by a hefty, and I mean hefty, fine.

The real issue began when I asked for Carmen to provide me with an alternative, essentially "What could I do to get the message out that my dog was missing?" without being able to put up any signs. The responses I was given was "Well, you could try SEAACA." How can one severely underfunded organization help me spread the word of a missing dog when they're busy rescuing nearly 25,000 animals a year? I am not speaking badly about SEAACA because everything they have helped me with thus far has been amazing and they have blessed me with my dog Mika. I am speaking badly about the lack of consideration this city has with helping its own citizens.

By not allowing my family or any family to post signs on what was referred to as "community property," I feel the voice we have in this community has been squelched. Yes, we do have other outlets to express ourselves, but what can and has this city done to help reunite owners with their lost companions? Directing us to other outlets is the equivalent of handing off a class project to the rest of the group simply because you do not want to deal with the

Now, I am not asking for a city-wide search party with bloodhounds and people searching in shifts throughout the night, though it would be nice. I am simply asking for this city council to actually perform for its community. As a community I would expect some empathy towards one another and at the very least offer a city run bulletin board which citizens can post Lost or More Donald, less Mario

The distance I now feel from living in this "prideful, historical, and very Dear Editor: involved community" is disheartening. So my question to you, city council, is: "What defines this community?"

Cecil the lion

Dear Editor:

I am sure by now you must have heard about the fate of Cecil the Lion that was murdered by Walter James Palmer, a United States citizen from Minnesota. He paid $50,000 to go lion hunting in Africa, and ended up torturing and murdering the country's most famous lion.

Cecil was lured out of the Zimbabwe's Hwange National Park at night time, with a dead animal on top of a vehicle. Palmer then shot Cecil with a crossbow, in which he suffered in agony for 40 hours until Palmer and his helpers tracked him down and shot him with a gun, skinned him, and beheaded him, and then they proceeded to destroy the GPS collar that Cecil was wearing as part of research backed by Oxford University. Humans are not the only species that inhabit this planet, we share this planet with magnificent creatures that have as much right to be here as humans do. That is why I am asking my political leaders to take a stand on this issue. It should be illegal to hunt any animal, whether it be in the United States or across the globe.

We need to introduce legislation to ban the import of game trophies of any animal, whether it be endangered or not, and Walter James Palmer and his co-conspirators should be imprisoned for the rest of their lives, for the unacceptable act of the illegal hunt of Cecil the lion.

My heart aches for Cecil. Our Creator created such a magnificent creature. I can only imagine the intense grief God must have felt upon seeing what this man did to this beautiful animal that didn't want to die. Patty Jackson

Dirty street

Dear Editor:

As of today nothing been done about the large tree opposite 9702 Tweedy Lane. I wrote about the dangers this large tree presents two weeks ago.

Today my wife and I again walked under this tree and noticed a couple of other eyesores. The sidewalk next to the school is a disgrace. Some weeds are about a foot tall, other trash never seems to be picked up. For many days there is standing water in the gutter about 100 feet long that never reaches the drain near the crosswalk at Lubec Street, an obvious street problem. This standing water is the perfect breeding spot for mosquitoes.

It is apparent to us that this area at Griifiths must be the worst maintained school in California if not the whole country. The pavement on Tweedy Lane has some smaller but still unsafe potholes. The principle, Mr. Stapp, the teachers, the council person for this area, and the mayor of Downey do not seem to care about this disgraceful part of Downey or lack the initiative to clean up Tweedy Lane between Suva and Lubec Street.

May I suggest the removal of the slogans that are painted in large letters on the school buildings visible from the sidewalk. They might be spelled correctly but give the wrong impression. What do you teach this young Fortunately my wife and I are in a position to leave our home on Tweedy Lane at any time. I am 82 years old, afflicted with Parkinson's, unable to drive but would like to make myself popular at a council meeting to state my concern in person.

Donald Trump

In regards to Donald Trump, let's hope his political career ends before

He received a lot of backlash for his remarks concerning Mexicans and about John McCain and veterans. In this day and age, political correctness is necessary (especially for politicians). Imagine him being President and not being politically correct when meeting foreign leaders and representatives; not only will he receive backlash, but he will continue to give the US a bad image, if not worse.

Trump could have better phrased his remarks, but chose not to, nor did he apologize. If he would have done either of the two, maybe he would be in better standing with the public, but he didn't, and now he has to deal with his mistakes. Although he may be ahead in the polls for the Republican party, other Republican candidates have distanced themselves from Trump and criticized him for his remarks; to me, that says a lot, his own party does not like him.

I look forward to seeing Trump put his foot in his mouth in future

Guillermo Vazquez Downey

Dear Editor:

On debate Thursday, my guess will be about two candidates out of the top 10 attacking the front runner, Donald Trump. Every one of them wants to be the big man who can claim to knocking him out of the race.

Any way you look at it, it will be a lesson in futility when politicians as usual attack the outside, the plain talker, the gutsy Trump. Trump will best all of them with his plain from the heart and guts speech -- no nicey nicey, touchy, feely good, kissy poo poo stuff. They are all gonna take a lickin' while he still keeps on a tickin'.

Trump has what those guys wish they had: guts and plain speak like the average man on the street. Most politicians have that fancy, namby pamby, touchy, feely good political ho-hum dribble-from-the-mouth speak. Some are better at putting people to sleep than Nyquil. Same old ho hum and more PhD politico crap. PhD means Piled Higher and Deeper in referring to windy politicians, and liberal educators with BS degrees meaning not Brilliant Stuff but plain old Bull Stuff.

Jeb Bush doesn't deserve the number 2 spot, and I hope that Cruz, Walker or Huckabee beat him for that spot. It is time for a newer name than Bush or Clinton to run our country.

Hillary is a 1% now too with her million dollar speeches, her old man, and her get from questionable donors, here and foreign. Jeb doesn't deserve to inherit the presidency from the Republican Party. I liked Bush 1 and 2 over what we have now in this administration. President Obama, if you need me, I'll call you. Don't hold your breath waiting for my call.

Present administration trusts our enemies better than we the people. By dealing with Iran the way we are doing, giving them $150 billion, it is like buying the rope to hang the U.S. with. That's you and yours whose lives are

Trump is the right man for the job at this time of American history because it has to do with survival of the free world as we know it.

Teacher gets probation for placing bag over student's head

LOS ANGELES - A former fourth grade teacher at Rosewood Elementary School in Los Angeles pleaded no contest Wednesday to one count of child abuse for placing a plastic bag over a student's head in class, the Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office announced.

Thelmo Garcia, 37, was ordered to attend weekly psychiatric counseling for an undetermined amount of time and to complete 100 days of CalTrans work. In addition, he must complete 52 weeks of child abuse counseling and he is barred from teaching minors under 18 while on probation for five years.

Deputy District Attorney Samuel Hulefeld with the Family Violence Division, who prosecuted the case, said if Garcia successfully completes all of the required terms and conditions, his felony conviction will be reduced to a misdemeanor when he returns for sentencing in two years.

Garcia admitted placing a plastic bag over a 10-year-old girl's head during class on Feb. 5. After several seconds, he removed the bag. The child was uninjured.

If Garcia fails to comply with the conditions, he faces up to six years in state prison.

Deputy District Attorney Sarah Ballog said Jason Faison, 23, entered a no contest plea today to two felony counts of second-degree robbery.

Faison also admitted a prior strike allegation, a first-degree burglary, person present conviction in 2012.

On Dec. 22, 2013, the defendant stole a pick-up truck and robbed a man at a gas station, the prosecutor said. Faison then robbed a woman at a restaurant and then fled in the stolen truck and hit a man with his car, the

He later followed another woman home where he stabbed and robbed her, Ballog said. The woman sustained minor injuries.

District Attorney honors citizens for acts of bravery

LOS ANGELES - Los Angeles County District Attorney Jackie Lacey on Wednesday recognized three Los Angeles County residents who acted bravely and at considerable personal risk to help crime victims in the Long Beach/South Los Angeles area.

The award recipients include a man who helped deputies capture an armed robber using a GPS locator, a woman who aided an elderly disabled man beaten by his girlfriend and a man who rescued two women from a violent sex trafficker.

"Today we commend the acts of heroism demonstrated by these everyday people," Lacey said. "They stood up for victims of crime and played pivotal roles in the prosecution of each case. I am proud to be in the presence of these very special people whose steadfast conviction helped attain justice."

The District Attorney's Office presents Courageous Citizen Awards several times a year to people who have performed extraordinary acts of valor and selflessness in assisting in criminal prosecutions, aiding victims, preventing crimes, or capturing suspects.

The honorees are:

Joshua White, 28, of Los Angeles

Mr. White rescued two women and helped put a violent sex trafficker behind bars.

On May 15, 2013, Mr. White was leaving a Century City mall when he was approached by two women. They told him they had been forced into prostitution. When they tried to escape, the women said the physically abusive pimp locked them in a car while he went into the mall. He told them that he was going to take them across states lines.

In the mall parking lot, the women left the vehicle and ran to Mr. Shin, who has since lost his license to practice medicine, operated a pain White for help. As Mr. White listened to their story, he knew these were serious and violent crimes. He drove them to a police station so they could office manager, Thomas Mark Oseransky, 50, and a colleague, Dyno Travato report the crimes. The next day, Long Beach police arrested the suspect. Mr. White testified against the pimp without hesitation, strengthening the

> A jury convicted the human trafficker of two counts of pimping, two counts of pandering by procuring and one count each of human trafficking to commit another crime, sodomy by use of force, forcible rape, aggravated mayhem and kidnapping. On Sept. 18, 2014, he was sentenced to 47 years and four months to life in state prison.

The case was investigated by the Long Beach Police Department.

Rosa Almanza, 21, of Gardena

While riding in a car in Long Beach, Ms. Almanza witnessed an older disabled man being attacked and stopped to help.

On July 13, 2014, Ms. Almanza was a passenger in a vehicle, when she noticed a woman with a metal cane approaching an older man. Ms. Almanza attempted to warn the man that he was in danger, but it was too late. The blind 63-year-old man was hit over the head several times.

Alarmed, Ms. Almanza asked the car's driver to make a U-turn and stop. She saw the victim bleeding profusely from the head. Ms. Almanza called 911 and waited with the victim until police arrived. She provided a statement to police and offered the only eyewitness testimony at the trial. Without her help, the attacker likely would have been acquitted because the victim recanted his story - the attacker was his girlfriend.

A jury found the female defendant guilty of one felony count of injuring a boyfriend. On March 16, 2015, she was sentenced to 19 years in state prison.

The case was investigated by the Long Beach Police Department.

Luis Moreno, 27, of Los Angeles

With quick thinking and swift action, Mr. Moreno foiled a robbery and helped sheriff's deputies catch the suspect.

On June 15, 2014, an armed man entered a wireless phone store in Carson. He announced he was robbing the business and pushed employees and customers to the back of the store. The armed man handed a trash bag to Mr. Moreno, a store employee, and demanded he fill the bag with phones. Mr. Moreno intentionally placed an iPhone dummy, which had an active GPS locator, into the bag. The robber left the store.

When deputies arrived, Mr. Moreno told them the dummy phone was in the robber's bag and should help them locate the suspect. The robber's location was identified and he was arrested with the stolen property.

On June 10, 2015, the defendant pleaded no contest to kidnapping and second-degree robbery and was sentenced to 30 years in state prison.

The case was investigated by the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department.

Court clerk arrested for stealing payments

POMONA - A former Los Angeles County Superior Court clerk is awaiting arraignment on multiple counts of misappropriating filing fees meant for the courts.

Linda Mascorro is scheduled to be arraigned on Aug. 20 at the Foltz Criminal Justice Center. She is charged with 15 felony counts of misappropriation of public funds and is being held on $100,000 bail.

Deputy District Attorney Michele Gilmer with the Public Integrity Division said Mascorro is charged with stealing more than $6,000 between 2010 and 2014 while she worked as a clerk at the Pomona court. The Covina resident allegedly stole money while processing and collecting fees from individuals filing civil name change petitions.

The case was filed for warrant on July 24 and Mascorro was arrested on July 30 by investigators with the District Attorney's Bureau of Investigation.

The case was investigated by auditors with the Superior Court of

If convicted, Mascorro faces up to 18 years in state prison.

Human trafficker gets 42 years in prison

LONG BEACH - A 32-year-old man was sentenced Monday to 42 years and eight months to life in state prison for trafficking several teenage girls for sex in the Long Beach area between 2006 and 2013.

On Nov. 25, 2014, a jury found Robert Jerome Walker of Compton guilty of six felony counts: four counts of human trafficking of a minor for a sex act and one count each of dissuading a witness from prosecuting a crime and lewd act upon a child.

Deputy District Attorney Rachel Hardiman, who prosecuted the case, said Walker was a member of a group of pimps that referred to themselves as the Compton Division.

The pimps forced teenage girls to prostitute themselves in the Compton and Long Beach areas, the prosecutor said.

According to the prosecutor, Walker made each of his four victims engage in acts of prostitution by using force and threats of violence.

The youngest victim was 11-years-old, the prosecutor added.

Dodgers catcher Yasmani Grandal visits Lynwood elementary school

LYNWOOD - Dodgers all-star catcher Yasmani Grandal took a break from the pennant chase Friday to share an inspiring story of success with more than 100 students at Lynwood Unified's Helen Keller

Grandal, who came to the school as part of the Read Lead Summer Literacy Program's finale, read a story about Jackie Robinson, who broke baseball's color barrier in 1947. The book titled "Stealing Home" gave students insight into Robinson's historic home plate steal, which earned the Brooklyn Dodgers a win in Game 1 of the 1955 World Series against the New York Yankees.

The trip and the story provided Grandal, who was born in Cuba, with the opportunity to encourage students to never give up.

"I want to tell the children to always work hard so they can reach their dreams," Grandal said. "In coming here, you never know whose life you can change. A little encouragement can really make a big impact on a child."

During the six-week Read Lead program, students ages 5-13 read culturally relevant books as a way to boost self-esteem, instill a love of reading and generate a positive attitude toward learning. The free program was designed as a way to stem summer learning loss, which researchers have identified as a primary factor in widening the achievement gap between student

"The Dodgers were excited to be able to support the Read Lead program not only with our funding, but with the sort of inspirational support that comes from players such as Yasmani Grandal," Foundation Director Nichol Whiteman said. "Literacy is one of those foundational skills critical to success in all educational endeavors."

"In education, the foundation focuses on college access and success, but another major component is literacy," said the Foundation's

Menopause The Musical is set in a department store where four women at a lingerie sale have nothing in common but a black lace bra and memory loss, hot flashes, night sweats, not enough sex, too much sex and more.

"Marilyn" Oct. 24, 2015: It is 1962 and Marilyn Monroe is in the midst of a photo shoot. Divorced for a third time, living alone, frustrated by Hollywood and tired of the "sex symbol" label, Marilyn longs to be respected for her talent and loved for who she really is rather than the character she has created for the silver screen. She wonders what it would be like to do it all over again. This award winning play stars the incomparable Sunny Thompson, who takes you into the mind and heart of the famed actress Marilyn Monroe based on her memoirs and quotes. Thompson's portrayal of the star in this musical play is uncanny, heartwarming, and gives audiences an in-depth look into the late Marilyn Monroe's life.

"Bullets Over Broadway" Jan. 27, 2016: Bullets Over Broadway is the story of a young playwright who, in desperate need of financial backing for his next show, accepts an offer he can't refuse from a mobster looking to please his showgirl girlfriend.

Dedicated as the Dick Torres Memorial Stadium and shared with Santa Fe High School, the stadium features an elevator and press box, as well as locker and weight rooms, an equipment storage room and coach's office with restrooms in a separate structure below. Other projects planned for Pioneer include refurbishments to the gym and cafeteria.

> California High School's athletic facilities are also undergoing extensive renovation as construction crews have begun building a similar 7,000-seat football stadium. Crews broke ground on the 22-acre site soon after graduation, tore down the existing bleachers and are constructing the new athletic complex, which will include separate baseball and softball fields, as well soccer practice areas. Plans include refurbishing the outdoor basketball and volleyball courts. The stadium will also be the home field of the La Serna and Whittier high school football teams.

> At Whittier High School, air conditioning and a pipe organ are being installed in the Vic Lopez Auditorium. The organ is the kind the auditorium was designed to house and is a gift from the Whittier High Alumni Association. It was manufactured in 1927 for the Fifth Avenue Theater in Seattle. Opened in 1940, the historic Art Deco venue seats 2,500 and was named after former Whittier High School CIF Football Coach and Whittier City Councilman Vic Lopez in 2001. The project is scheduled to be completed by the start of the school year. Additionally, the front entrance to the library, which features new furniture, has been improved. Other plans include improvements to the large gym.

> At Santa Fe High School, new and returning students will be served lunch in a newly-remodeled cafeteria that is expected to be completed at the end of August. As part of the plan, the patio area near building B, which houses English and Special Education classrooms, was enlarged and new shade structures were constructed. Future improvement plans include renovations to the administration and music building, large gym and library.

> La Serna High School's gymnasium is currently under construction, with the addition of a new roof, bleachers and hardwood floor, drinking fountain and public announcement system, and the upgrade of the fire alarm system, as well as the installation of an air conditioning system. Additionally, four classroom portable buildings have been added to the upper campus and five temporary classrooms are being replaced. Future plans for La Serna's athletic facilities include improved baseball and softball fields, natural turf football field with all-weather track, and upgraded soccer fields, tennis courts and pathways.

If you, your partner or your family want - or need - to get out of breaking the bank?

Planning is essential. Embrace travel as a hobby - look for tricks, Over the summer, student athletes at Pioneer High School have techniques and current online resources to keep abreast of the best last-

> Compromises will be necessary. You'll likely need to travel at off-peak hours (either the first flight out in the morning or the last one at night, usually on weekdays) and stay at hotels or venues off the beaten path.

Here are some quick tips to save money on last-minute travel:

Travel light, move fast. Traveling last-minute isn't for the indecisive. Dedicated travelers are minimalists – they know what to pack, organize their paperwork and payment options and have the mental preparation to deal with problems and challenges along the way. Also realize that lastminute travel can increase risk and other costs. If you're planning a trip that requires travel insurance, (https://www.insuremytrip.com/learn/ travel-insurance-basics/when-to-buy.html) you may not get coverage approval in time.

Build the right online resources. The Internet has revolutionized most forms of purchasing goods and services, but for travel, it has offered unprecedented speed and customization. Use top travel sites that have a tested track record and broad listings of various travel products, but be on the lookout for new travel websites and apps launch every day. Some airlines now offer their own last-minute fare sites, but try to sign up for email alerts and social media feeds from a variety of travel resources so you won't miss a deals on air, hotel or ground transportation. Also, layovers are good to build into your itinerary as long as you don't have to pay for a hotel and take a moment to compare the price of two one-way tickets - possibly from competing carriers - against round-trip tickets at single carriers. You might save.

Test new lodging options. The new generation of apartment and sparebedroom sharing sites and longtime online vacation home rental services offer last-minute and in some cases "day-of" lodging possibilities, but keep in mind that online scammers (http://www.practicalmoneyskills. com/rentalscams) have entered this territory and all transactions should be verified independently. Staying in hostels is not just for students and backpackers anymore; there are hostels that aim for older travelers as well. Getting on the phone also works in the hotel industry - check online prices against what you can find by calling up the hotel's booking number and ask if there is a lower corporate rate or special for the period of your stay.

Compare ride-share with car rental. If you think you're going to need to drive at your destination, check car-rental rates against leading rideshare companies available at the touch of a smartphone screen. Many ride-share companies allow you to get advance pricing estimates in advance. Also keep in mind what it might cost to park the rental car in your destination city – ride-share will help you avoid that expense.

Finally, evaluate every membership connection you have. Start by looking at all the plastic you have in your wallet. From your credit cards to the membership card for your main professional networking group and even to the auto club that tows your car, can you take advantage of any travel benefits you can leverage on a last-minute trip? Take some time to review those benefits - or look at them for the first time.

Bottom line: Last-minute travel is almost always possible as long as you're willing to do a little homework and improvise.

ANGELES.
THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that WAYNE E. BRUMFIELD be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on August 20, 2015 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 29 located at 111 North Hill Street, Los Angeles, CA. 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filling of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. SHARED STORIES: THE TIES THAT BIND

Reflections on the Space Age

Kay Halsey was born 95 years ago in Atlanta in 1920, where her father was a minister. The arc of her life spans a time from Model-T Fords to space travel. As she reflects on the changes she has seen during her lifetime, Kay is always looking forward. Shared Stories is a weekly column featuring articles by participants in a writing class at the Norwalk Senior Center. Bonnie Mansell is the instructor for this free class offered through the Cerritos College Adult Education Program. Curated by Carol

By Kathleen Halsey

A few years ago our country celebrated the ending of our space program started by President Kennedy. His idea was to put a man on the moon. The final flight of the space ship Endeavour flew over my house. I heard it coming and ran out to see it. When I went into my house the TV was showing people who worked in Palmdale on the Endeavour with tears

I thought back to my childhood in 1927 when I would go up a hill behind my house and look at the dark sky with a bright shining moon and thousands of twinkling stars. There were not many street lights then to block out the vision to the stars.

I sang this Mother Goose rhyme: I see the moon and the moon sees me/ The moon sees somebody I want to see/God bless the moon and God bless me/and God bless the one I want to discovered in the 20's. Instead of carriages and wagons drawn by horses, Henry Ford and others were perfecting the automobile. Our lighter-than-air vehicles were being experimented with and tested on the beach in Long Beach and in North Carolina. Many men were killed when their biplanes crashed. Charles A. Lindberg, however, after many crashes was heard on shortwave radio on his nonstop solo flight across the Atlantic Ocean to Paris in May 1927. The South Pole was being explored and recorded by shortwave radio by Admiral Byrd. He used ships and planes. I was moved deeply when on a visit to Maui I took a long automobile trip along the coast to Hana, a native Hawaiian village. On the coast was a small stone church with Lindbergh's grave. The epitaph on his grave was from Psalm 139: "If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea, even there your hand shall lead me and your right hand shall hold me." His victory had turned tragic when a kidnapper took and killed his young son for ransom. Lindbergh and his family had fled to a small island off the coast of France. Then he retreated to Maui.

Our scientists continued to work on air travel, spurred by Many things were being WWII. Experiments on TV in 1940 materialized so that we made the first space capsule in Downey. In 1969 Neil Armstrong landed on the moon, "One was watching the event on TV with my father who was born in 1886.

When I was teaching in the 1960's and 70's, NASA produced great brochures about space development that I displayed on the bulletin boards. It was an opportunity to open the eyes and minds of a new generation of children who did not understand the involved steps of space travel and many men, not only in the US but all the knowledge that we had gained about our universe.

The development of the rockets Atlantis, Discovery, and Challenger was done in Downey, El Segundo, Long Beach and San Diego. Even seven flights set down in our Edwards Air Force Base. No wonder the creators of the Endeavor had tears in their eyes. Thousands of hours of work by many people made Kennedy's goal of landing a man on the moon a reality. It was a giant step for mankind," I heard as I long time since man believed that the world was flat until a man actually landed on the moon.

> My Mother Goose prayer about "the one I want to see" was a reality made by the dreams and work of many men. We have sent rockets to Pluto recently and learned many things about our universe. What wonders have been wrought by the work of around the world?
