78 fireworks citations issued July 4

DOWNEY – Nearly 80 citations were issued for firework related violations on Independence Day, the Downey Police Department announced.

During the 4th of July holiday, Downey Police issued 78 citations for the possession/lighting of illegal fireworks, according to a statement posted on Downey Police Department's Facebook page.

DPD says it received 266 calls for service from the hours of 2 p.m.

"Respectfully, we're aware that we were only able to contact a fraction of the individuals that were in possession of illegal fireworks. However, all of our personnel that were working last night (Patrol Officers, Motors, Fireworks Detail, Dispatch, & Forensics), gave maximum effort," DPD's statement said.

Other noteworthy calls July 4 included the locating of a carjacked vehicle (belonging to an Uber driver) in which the suspect was arrested, the location of a stolen car in the area of Woodruff and Foster where the driver was arrested without incident, a subject believed to be under the influence of narcotics who was taken into custody after threatening staff at the Taco Bell on Lakewood and Gallatin (suspect attempted to flee upon officer's arrival), and a serious injury traffic collision on Stewart and Gray Road, between Brookshire and Patton.

The Downey Fire Department did not respond to a request seeking information on its Independence Day activity.

The negotiations of potential salary increases and a future solid waste contract was the hot topic of the afternoon.

More than anyone else, Vice Mayor Leonard Shryock and Councilmember Margarita Rios seemed to butt heads, with neither seemingly willing to budge on their stances concerning the impact that future negotiations would have those statements, however. on the 2017-18 budget.

was "putting the cart before the horse." She spoke openly after the meeting's conclusion.

"I don't know if we can necessarily make any decisions as to our negotiation piece because we don't know which numbers we're working with at this point," said Rios.

"My experience has been

Councilmember Jennifer Perez also had a strong voice in the meeting, showing concern for the budget talks which have drawn on.

Downey fireworks show

Chris Luna: How come there was just a fireworks show? Why wasn't there any food for sale? Did the city waste their budget on more lamps on Lakewood Blvd. or benches on Firestone? To be honest, it was a good show, but I thought there was going to be more than just fireworks. At least some games for the kids.

Diana George: It was beautiful.

We need more facts and fewer opinions from the media

By Lee H. Hamilton

I'll be the first to admit that when it comes to journalism, I'm a traditionalist. Old-fashioned, even. But I don't think it's a coincidence that even while confidence in the media drops to new lows and Time magazine feels moved to wonder "Is Truth Dead?" on its cover, huge numbers of Americans have come to believe the media is not as Some news organizations do this. Too many don't. authoritative as it once was.

asset, a cornerstone of democratic life. This is threatened by the trends reshaping the media landscape. With less consensus around information and data, the cohesiveness of our society is diminished.

I'm not just talking about the rise of deliberately "reported" misinformation and disinformation. Some news outlets may not be as egregiously destructive of democratic values, but their urge to chase viewership and clicks at the expense of solid, fact-based reporting is doing us no favors.

Indeed, I think a lot of people want what I do and feel they're not getting it: more facts and fewer opinions; more investigative reporters and fewer pundits; more substance and less fluff; more policy exploration and less politics; more respect for consumers and fewer efforts to manipulate them.

Is it really behind the times to expect journalists to seek accuracy above all? To pay attention to fairness? To strive to keep government and welcome rigorous editing? I don't think so.

Nor do I believe that infusing the news with a political agenda serves our society or news consumers. There may be no such thing as absolute objectivity, but you can sure strive to get as close as possible.

This is not to say that editorializing and expressing opinion have no Straightforward, responsible journalism is an indispensable public place in journalism. But opinions should be separated from reporting. Too many journalists want to be pundits and not reporters. I've had any number tell me they're in the business to express their own opinion rather than report the truth. When I turn on the television and find five or six pundits vociferously sharing their views, it's diverting, but in the end I'm not that interested in what they think. I'd rather have someone tell me the facts so that I can form my own opinions.

> In a media world in which opinion serves as the chief currency, rather than straight-ahead reporting of hard truths, politicians face less scrutiny of their statements and less accountability. They are succeeding at manipulating the media by using Twitter, refusing to hold press conferences, restricting questions and cameras, employing set speeches, and refusing to conduct a free-wheeling discussion of their opinions in front of the press.

> The result is that significant policy decisions affecting millions of Americans are being drawn up with less scrutiny and promoted as beneficial without the clarifying debate that a representative honest and the voters informed? To check facts, use multiple sources, democracy depends upon. Without it, we know less about our officials and legislators, what they think about the issues and what they do.

> The picture is not entirely bleak. We are fortunate to retain a number of high-quality news organizations with first-rate reporters. The New York Times, The Washington Post, The Financial Times, The Economist, CNN, PBS, ProPublica, Politico, and other news organizations continue to dig deep and uphold high journalistic standards even in the face of the tsunami of media disruption that has taken place over the past decade. They and others have stepped up their games in recent months, partly in response to citizens desperate for hard-nosed and accurate reporting. And where they've gone astray, they've usually owned up to it quickly.

> This is crucial, because we live in an era when solid reporting rooted in high standards of accuracy is not just a goal, but a vital, small-d democratic necessity. As consumers of news, we need to encourage the media to undertake it and hold its members to account when they stray. And we need to shoulder our responsibility for helping news organizations improve. After all, we're the ones who turn to fluff rather than substance and consume only stories that reflect our own perspectives. As citizens, we need to step up our own game, too.

The double murder of Otto Warmbier

By Michelle Malkin

We may never know what brutal torture and malign neglect American student Otto Warmbier suffered at the hands of North Korea's dictatorship before losing his life this week at the age of 22.

But it wasn't the first time the free-spirited Ohio native died.

More than a year before succumbing to the unknown illness or injury that left him in a coma thousands of miles away from home, Otto Warmbier's own countrymen murdered his reputation. His character. His humanity.

Click-hungry media ghouls knew nothing about Warmbier's smalltown upbringing, his family life, politics, personality, disappointments or dreams. But they gleefully savaged a young man who made a mistake on a doomed trip to a totalitarian hell.

Warmbier's thoughtless taunters instantly transformed him into a bigger, badder villain than the barbaric DPRK goons who beat, starve, rape and kill enemies of the state for such offenses as listening to foreign radio broadcasts, possessing Bibles and disrespecting Dear Leader -- in Warmbier's case, by attempting to steal a propaganda sign that read "Let's arm ourselves strongly with Kim Jong-il's patriotism!" as a souvenir.

Fireworks

Dear Editor:

Every year it's the same thing, same people and nothing gets done bashing echo chamber:

Fireworks all over Downey -- they should outlaw them. They are illegal fireworks and yet we still sell them. I feel sorry for all the pets that are roaming around going crazy.

Do something about the fireworks, don't just say you will.

Irene Trevino Downey

Dear Editor:

Another 4th of July, and thank God we are still living in the land of the free

Again we will hear about the concern of the pet owners due to the noise of "illegal" fireworks. I wrote on this issue along with the problems of fellow veterans last year.

The complaint is always about the noise of" illegal" fireworks. Well, can someone answer this for me? What is the difference between the noise of" illegal" fireworks and the noise of "legal "fireworks"?

I speak of the displays that are conducted at city parks, high schools, the Rose Bowl, and any and all cities that charge admission for these shows?

What about the pets and any other human issues in those local areas? Are the pets and public not affected because the fireworks are "legal"?

The Huffington Post published an acid rant by "Blogging While Black" writer La Sha titled "North Korea Proves Your White Male Privilege Is Not Universal." She rejoiced at Warmbier's sentence because, she gloated, it taught him that "the shield his cis white male identity provides here in America is not teflon abroad."

Instead of faulting a repressive socialist regime, La Sha blamed Warmbier for "being socialized first as a white boy, and then as a white man in this country." The HuffPo's megalomaniac millennial had the gall to compare her daily plight of living and breathing freely in America to Warmbier's captivity:

"The hopeless fear Warmbier is now experiencing is my daily reality living in a country where white men like him are willfully oblivious to my suffering even as they are complicit in maintaining the power structures which ensure their supremacy at my expense."

But it wasn't just babbling diversity bloggers who exploited Warmbier's imprisonment.

For a few cheap yuks, liberal black comedian Larry Wilmore plowed ahead with smug disregard to how Warmbier's parents, family and friends must have suffered as photos and videos of their son and loved one were plastered all over media. To canned laughter, Wilmore mocked Warmbier on his Comedy Central show with a graphic labeling him an "ASS," which spelled out a fake frat name, "Alpha Sigma Sigma."

crocodile tears," Wilmore snarked as he roasted the "Frat Boy."

Left-wing website Salon added another layer to the white male-

"This might be America's biggest idiot frat boy: Meet the UVa student who thought he could pull a prank in North Korea."

Not to be outdone, Affinity Magazine (a "social justice" online magazine for teens) stomped on Warmbier's grave after his death was announced:

"Watch whiteness work," the publication tweeted. "He wasn't a 'kid' or 'innocent' you can't go to another country and try to steal from them. Respect their laws."

This from a rag that had deified Black Lives Matter icons Michael Brown and Trayvon Martin as downtrodden youth whose extensive rap sheets must remain unmentioned at all costs.

Otto's saboteurs engaged in the very same bigotry and stereotyping they recklessly accuse everyone else of at every turn. The far left learned nothing from leaping to conclusions about the Duke lacrosse players or the wrongfully accused members of Phi Kappa Psi at University of Virginia -- where Warmbier was a junior doublemajoring in commerce and economics.

By all accounts, Warmbier was a charismatic and caring human being whom one high-school classmate called "Everyone's friend." He was a lover of cultures and intellectually open-minded -- "a warm, engaging, brilliant young man whose curiosity and enthusiasm for life knew no bounds," according to his family.

Utterly consumed by malignant identity politics, the left-wing intelligentsia have become the intolerantsia. They are bent on dehumanizing individuals, fomenting racial, ethnic and class division in the name of "progressivism," and never taking responsibility for the damage done.

Contrast the no-regrets policy of these "Frat Boy"-bashers, with a former North Korean prison guard, Lim Hye-jin, who escaped recently and recounted the horrors of life in the camps.

"We were manipulated not to feel any sympathy for prisoners," she "It's just tough for me to have much sympathy for this guy and his said. The guards of the totalitarian state "do not see them as human beings, just as animals." After realizing she had been brainwashed by ideological monsters, she spoke out.

"Now I know they were normal people, so I feel very guilty."

Will the short, slandered life and double death of Otto Warmbier prompt the American left's cruel character assassins to admit the

America's workers need healthcare

By Jill Richardson

Our country is founded on a myth that anyone can succeed so long as they work hard.

That's the story of Alexander Hamilton that has swept Broadway: how a "bastard orphan" can become "a hero and a scholar." According to the lyrics he did it by working harder, being smarter, and being a

If that's all you need to do to succeed, then it's your own fault if you're poor.

And White House spokeswoman Kellyanne Conway has no sympathy for you. If you're sad the Republican health care bill is going to take away your Medicaid, she says — and it will — you can go get a job. Because your poverty is your own fault.

To quote Ernest Hemingway, "Isn't it pretty to think so?"

The reality isn't as nice. We don't live in a society where anyone can get ahead just by working hard. It might feel that way if you grew up middle class, but that's not the reality millions of Americans live in.

Sociological research confirms this unpleasant truth again and again.

As for the people on Medicaid who should just "get a job," odds are they already have a job. Maybe two jobs.

We as a society want people working in restaurants, cleaning our hotel rooms, checking us out and stocking shelves at stores, and doing any number of low-skilled, generally low-wage jobs. Some people even oppose giving those workers a raise because it would either cut into corporate profits or raise prices.

Well, we can't have it both ways. We can't benefit from low-wage labor while simultaneously blaming low-wage workers for their own poverty.

And if you're truly callous enough not to care if the working poor have access to affordable health care, consider how their plight affects you.

Suppose for a moment that 22 million Americans lose their health care, which is what the Congressional Budget Office predicts if the

Those 22 million people no longer go for preventative check ups. They don't treat medical problems when they occur, before the problems get worse. They wait until they have no choice, and they go to the emergency room.

Senate passes the Republican health care bill. What happens?

If they cannot pay the bills accrued at the emergency room, the hospital eats the cost. But hospitals must balance their budgets somehow, so they raise prices for everyone else.

If you're insured, then you're not paying the hospital directly, so the higher prices go to your insurance company. And they pass it on to you in the form of higher premiums.

Thus, if you aren't moved by the human suffering caused by depriving the working poor of health care, perhaps you'll be moved by your own pocketbook.

Unless emergency rooms start declining treatment to anyone who can't pay, turning cancer patients and gunshot victims onto the streets to die, somebody is going to pay for the care of the uninsured.

The question is whether they'll be able to go for preventative check-ups and treat problems early, or whether they 'll go to the emergency room after they can no longer avoid it.

For those who rely on Obamacare for their insurance — myself included — the prospects of losing their health care is terrifying. I have several friends with cancer who are literally afraid they will die if the repeal bill passes. And that's not hyperbole.

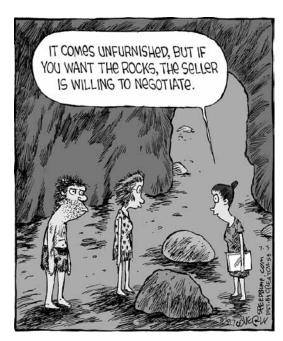

It's time we stopped telling ourselves that anyone who's struggling only has themselves to blame. And as the wealthiest nation on earth, it's a travesty that we aren't willing to help them.

State dissolves car charity that used false advertising

LOS ANGELES - A Los Angeles-based car donation charity accused of soliciting vehicle donations using false and misleading advertising has entered a stipulated final judgment ordering its dissolution and other provisions.

In December 2015, a consumer protection lawsuit was filed against the People's Choice Charities by the offices of the California Attorney General and District Attorney. At the time of the filing, the lawsuit alleged the organization promised 100 percent of the proceeds from the sale of cars would be given to charities selected by the donors.

However, an estimated 97 percent of funds were purportedly used toward administrative costs, including advertising, towing and car

The stipulated final judgment places a permanent injunction on Gary Stone, the nonprofit's president, barring him from serving as a director, officer, trustee or employee of any California charitable organization.

Stone is also permanently prohibited from doing contract work with charities, holding any management or supervisory position or engaging in fundraising activities.

Under the terms of the stipulated final judgment, People's Choice Charities also agreed to pay $30,000 for the establishment of a fund with the California Community Foundation. The fund will support charitable programs for the benefit of children.

A payment of $870,000 was stayed but may be enforced if the nonprofit violates the injunction.

"This settlement should serve as a warning to any other organization that takes advantage of the kindness of consumers," District Attorney Jackie Lacey said. "Donations generated through deceptive advertising take valuable resources away from legitimate charities."

Man convicted of impersonating police officer

ANAHEIM – An Anaheim man was convicted last week of assaulting two women after claiming to be a police officer.

Jurors deliberated for several hours over a three-day period before finding 41-year-old Joseph Christoph Moore guilty of one count each of assault to commit a sexual assault, criminal threats, grand theft, second-degree burglary and two counts of false imprisonment by violence. He also was convicted of three counts of unlawful use of a badge and one count of sexual battery, all misdemeanors.

Sentencing is set for July 25 when he could face a possible maximum sentence of life in prison.

On two occasions, Moore stopped women in the Hollywood area pretending to be a police officer. On Nov. 24, 2015, Moore flashed a badge, pulled out a handgun and threatened a woman after fondling her. Less than a week later, he again inappropriately touched a woman after showing her a badge.

In October 2015, Moore entered a store, locked himself inside with the female owner and made her take off her clothes. The victim's exhusband arrived at the store and Moore fled.

Basketball coach accused of lewd acts with a teen

HACIENDA HEIGHTS - A Hacienda Heights basketball coach pleaded not guilty last week to having unlawful sexual relations with a fatally shooting his ex-wife and seriously injuring her boyfriend. 14-year-old female student.

Terrence Lee (dob 1/28/88) of La Habra Heights has been charged with two felony counts: lewd act upon a child and oral copulation of a Prosecutors said at the time of the reported crimes, Lee was the basketball coach at Cedarlane Academy in Hacienda Heights.

He allegedly began a sexual relationship with a 14-year-old female student in April 2017, according to prosecutors.

Last month, the girl's family member reportedly discovered sexually explicit messages between Lee and the girl, prosecutors added. Lee was arrested on June 10 and bonded out the next day.

If convicted as charged, Lee faces a possible maximum sentence of three years and eight months in state prison, as well as lifetime sex offender registration.

Wrestling coach charged with molesting 6 students

SUN VALLEY - A man who coached wrestling teams at John H Francis Polytechnic High School in Sun Valley and the wrestling team at the Boys and Girls Club of San Fernando was charged last week with an additional 31 counts for the alleged sexual assaults of six teen athletes.

Terry Terrell Gillard, 56, of Sylmar now faces 61 counts: 40 felony counts of lewd acts upon a child ages 14 or 15; eight felony counts of attempted lewd acts upon a child ages 14 or 15; three felony counts of lewd acts upon a child under age 14; two felony counts of oral copulation of child under age 18; and one felony count of sexual battery by restraint.

Gillard pleaded not guilty to the charges on the amended complaint and is scheduled to return on July 27.

Most of the alleged conduct occurred between 2014 and 2017 and involved minors Gillard met through the school's wrestling team, the prosecutor said. The felony complaint includes a victim from 1991.

The victims include four boys and two girls between the ages of 11 and 14.

Man charged with killing ex-wife in Whittier

WHITTIER - A 38-year-old man was charged Wednesday with Efrem Ruben Lozoya (dob 7/11/78) of Pico Rivera has been charged with two felony counts: murder and attempted murder. The charging document includes a special allegation that Lozoya personally and intentionally discharged a firearm, which caused great bodily injury

He was scheduled to be arraigned Wednesday in the Los Angeles County Superior Court, Downey Branch. Prosecutors are asking that bail be set at $5 million.

Prosecutors said Lozoya and his ex-wife, Nereida Villanueva, have two children together and had been divorced for several years.

On the morning of July 1, Lozoya reportedly dropped off one of his children at Villanueva's apartment in Whitter, prosecutors said.

Shortly after entering Villanueva's residence, Lozoya allegedly shot his ex-wife and her boyfriend, who also was in the apartment, according to prosecutors.

Following the attack, Lozoya reportedly fled the scene, prosecutors added. Authorities were called and Villanueva was pronounced dead at the scene, while the victim's boyfriend was taken to a hospital for medical treatment, prosecutors said.

Hours after the fatal shooting, the defendant turned himself into authorities, prosecutors said.

If convicted as charged, Lozoya faces a possible maximum sentence of 75 years to life in state prison.

CRIME REPORT

FRIDAY, JUNE 16

Officers stopped a car in the 7900 block of Phlox that was wanted in an attempt burglary that occurred last month at a local jewelry store. Evidence was located in the vehicle further tying this car and the driver to the previous burglary. The driver, a 20-year-old Downey man, was arrested for burglary and his vehicle was impounded.

Officers responded to a theft call and located the getaway car driving in the area and attempted to stop it. The driver led officers on a brief vehicle pursuit before pulling over. Ultimately, officers arrested the driver, a 25-year-old female from Duarte, for evading and the passenger, a 25-year-old man from Downey, for stealing the lawn equipment. Because the driver also had her 15-month-old child in the back seat of her car during the pursuit, she will likely be charged with child endangerment as well.

During evening hours, officers from the Crime Impact Team provided extra patrol to the downtown area. Seven citations were issued for drinking alcohol in public and three subjects were issued citations for urinating in public.

SATURDAY, JUNE 17

Early Saturday morning, a couple standing by their parked car in the 10900 block of Downey were robbed by two men, one of whom was armed with a handgun. After stealing a wallet and purse from the victims, the suspects fled the area and were not immediately located.

SUNDAY, JUNE 18

In the early evening, two men wearing all black clothing entered the Mobil Gas Station at 9000 Telegraph Road and robbed the business. One of the robbers was armed with a gun and jumped the counter to steal money from the cash register. Both suspects then ran out of the store and were not located.

FRIDAY, JUNE 23

At about 1:30 p.m., detectives arrested two brothers for selling illegal fireworks to undercover detectives. Over 3,000 pounds of illegal fireworks were seized from a residence in the 7300 block of Dinwiddie St. One suspect was booked for a misdemeanor charge of selling illegal fireworks and the other suspect was booked for a felony charge of possession (over 100 pounds) of illegal fireworks.

SATURDAY, JUNE 24

At 3:00 a.m., a drunk driver crashed into a power pole at the 105 Freeway and Bellflower Blvd. The crash caused a temporary power outage in the area. The driver sustained minor injuries and was arrested for driving under the influence.

SUNDAY, JUNE 25

At 3:00 a.m., a man was arguing with a woman outside the Hookah Lounge (8323 Firestone Blvd.) The woman then followed the victim to a nearby parking lot where she stabbed him once in the abdomen with a knife. The suspect fled in a black colored vehicle with two other females, but was not located. The suspect was treated at a local hospital and later released. Detectives are investigating.

At 4:30 p.m., a male suspect was in a traffic dispute with a female victim at Imperial Hwy and Brookshire Ave. The suspect became angry and drove his vehicle into the victim and her vehicle. The suspect fled the scene, but was located by officers nearby. The victim was not seriously injured. The 27-year-old suspect from Paramount was arrested for aggravated assault.

Ben Dickow takes over management of Downey library

DOWNEY – Current Columbia Memorial Space Center Executive Director Ben Dickow will now be overseeing daily management of the Downey City Library, effective July 1.

In previous years, function of the City Library had been overseen by the Director of Community Services with daily management oversight by the mid-management position of City Librarian.

In 2010, the City Librarian position was vacated due to the incumbent's retirement, and the position eliminated as part of the Fiscal year 2011-12 budget reductions.

The Assistant to the City Manager has provided management oversight of the Library since 2012.

Council unanimously voted to hand over the responsibilities to Dickow at the Council meeting on June 27.

Dickow will receive a 5 percent increase to his salary due to the changes, now making just under $11,184 per month.

According to Dickow, he will still be spending a majority of his time with the CMSC and that there will truthfully be little to no change, saying that Library staff is "great and on top of things."

While there is currently no plan as of now, Dickow said he foresees plenty of opportunity for even further collaboration between the space center and Library.

Whittier elementary school looks to create female engineers

Elementary School fifth-grader Cristal Becerra is a born tinkerer with a dream of becoming a civil engineer who will one day build bridges, roads and skyscrapers.

Becerra said she has always enjoyed creating things, but that her decision to pursue civil engineering was encouraged by the District's four-week summer enrichment program, which ends June 30.

Becerra said projects like her model rocket for a mock mission to Mars and learning about towers and structural integrity during the program showed her that her love of building could be parlayed into a career.

passion that I wanted to build things," Becerra said. "I like constructing things and I like using math, so being an engineer allows me to do all of that for an actual career."

program, which is enjoying its second year, provides science, technology, engineering, arts and mathematics (STEAM) activities in three classes for 112 students in grades three through seven. This year, the program has focused on inspiring future female engineers and has shown promising results since some 46

Girls outnumber boys 2 to 1 in the enrichment program's fourthand fifth-grade levels.

District educators are also "I was just born with this hoping to encourage more female students to join Los Nietos Middle School's Mathematics Engineering Science Academy (MESA) and to consider careers in the engineering field.

> Becerra said throughout the program her enrichment teacher Alvarado encouraged her to pursue her interests in on joining MESA once she reaches middle school. She also said Alvarado has influenced her college prospects by recommending that she consider studying engineering at Cal Poly Pomona.

> Enrichment teacher Jacqueline Ramirez said the program is a great tool for showing girls that they can make a major impact in engineering and that sometimes all it takes is a little encouragement to trigger

> "We noticed that when we held some of the competitions the top three students were girls," Ramirez said. "So I told them that girls can also be engineers because a lot of times they think it's only for boys."

> > Ramirez said her girls female students are enrolled. produced some of the best projects, including spaghetti bridges which held 15 pounds without breaking and a Popsicle stick bridge that held officers will be at the Starbucks an estimated 120 pounds of textbooks (29 books in total).

> "We're trying to reach out to female students to let them know there are no barriers to the careers members will feel comfortable to they can pursue," Alvarado said. "Hopefully, we can get through to our students and show them what they can accomplish."

Alvarado said her female engineering and is now set students have shown promise with their ability to think outside of the box, especially when making load-bearing towers out of index cards and masking tape. Alvarado said the winning group, made up of girls only, created a tower made of columns, multiple layers for support and absolutely tower the strongest and the classes at the no masking tape - making their lightest.

> "I think it's amazing that our summer enrichment program is encouraging so many young female students to consider engineering as a career," LNSD Superintendent Jonathan Vasquez said. "We believe that programs that encourage STEAM careers are paramount for developing critical thinking and helping students, male or female, succeed in their future careers."

John Zander turns to magic for his comeback

■ MAGICIAN: After a pair of strokes, the Downey resident is changing careers.

By Alex Dominguez Staff Writer

For several years in the not so distant past, there was a common sight at most (if not all) city events: John Zander and his camera.

The long time Downey resident, 54-year old Zander served as Downey's official photographer for some time after a conglomerate of major medical issues forced him to shift his focus from his prior career in the entertainment business.

"I had a stroke in 2013," said Zander. "I have a condition called A Fib... when I have issues, my heart rate will do 60, and then it'll jump to 180, and then it'll go to 90, and then it'll go to 210 with every beat. When that happens, I can't function...it's like you've been running for 24 hours, because your heart is just beating the crap out of you."

Unfortunately, Zander only became aware of his heart condition after it caused him to have a stroke in 2013.

"I was really lucky I only lost some vision," said Zander. "Stroke was on my left side, so I lost vision on my right."

Still, Zander's physical abilities forced him to make adjustments. Not able to keep up with the demand from his prior occupation, Zander's longstanding hobby of photography became his new source of income.

"I would just go around the city and shoot photos and give them away," said Zander. "...that started the city saying 'hey, maybe you could come out and shoot this thing.' So, that led to being the official city photographer for three years."

Yet he was still plagued by ailment.

Zander discovered that he had bulging disks in his back. Rather than surgery, he opted for a pain blocker.

After a relatively easy procedure involving a shot into the spine, Zander found himself feeling "pretty good" within a couple weeks.

Then on October 28th of last year - around three weeks removed from his procedure - Zander woke up knowing something was wrong.

"My vision was so jacked up," said Zander. "You have a headache like you wouldn't believe."

emergency room.

Zander had had stroke number two. Doctors determined it was Zander's previous procedure for his back that was the cause.

The combination of medical issues has left Zander unable to work, and there is almost nothing he can do about it.

"On top of my stroke symptoms...the pain blocker wore off a long time ago, and I can't get the pain blocker because I cannot go off the medication...I can't get the pain blocker and I can't get the back surgery because the risk of a third stroke is too great."

And despite being "lucky" through two strokes already, Zander would likely not be as fortunate if another should occur.

"It's curtains," said Zander. "Nobody makes it through three strokes."

Unable to make an income of his own and due to difficulties securing disability funding, Zander has had to rely on his wife Dawn to make ends

"It's been nine months; who can live without working for nine months?" said Zander.

Zander has also found some financial support through many of his friends in the community. A GoFundMe page was even set up to help

"So many people reached out and helped me," said Zander. "It was such a blessing."

Still, Zander has been looking for some way to make an income, and has found an opportunity in a surprising and familiar territory.

"The now president of the Chamber of Commerce Joanna Peterson, who is one of my dearest friends, we were at lunch and I brought some cards; did some card tricks for her. She was so amazed," said Zander. "That afternoon she called me and said Gallatin Dental that she works for was going to have a booth at the Ride and Stride, and would [I] come d do some magic at the booth."

Zander had previously been a professional magician for around five years, but had stepped away from magic to pursue other career

His successful performance at the Ride and Stride sparked an idea.

"Talking to my wife, I said 'I wonder if this is something I could do

Zander has already started to ease his way back into the profession, hosting magic seminars and performing several times.

He recently held a small show at the Masonic Lodge for the purpose of recording a demo video he could potentially send out to stores and potential clients.

Zander stressed his thanks to those that have supported him -

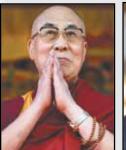

Upon arriving at the hospital, he was whisked away into the especially that of his wife and son Gibson - as he makes yet another

"I'm not a photographer anymore," said Zander. "I'm a magician."

Nevada firm acquires Santa Fe Spring industrial complex

SANTA FE SPRINGS – Dermody Properties, a national real estate investment, development and management company headquartered in Reno, Nev. and specializing in acquisitions and development of industrial real estate in strategic locations across the United States, recently acquired the Bloomfield Industrial Center located in Santa Fe Springs from a private investor.

Located at 10712-10748 Bloomfield Ave. this 75,960-square-foot warehouse and distribution facility marks Dermody Properties' first offering in the Southern California area. Currently, up to 37,800 SF of this multi-tenant property is available for lease.

"We appreciate the hard work of Jeff Chiate, Jeff Cole, Mike Adey, Ed Hernandez and Chuck Berger of Cushman and Wakefield and Bob Crenshaw of Newmark Grubb Knight Frank who represented both buyer and seller in the transaction," said Nancy E. Shultz, SVP, Capital Deployment, Dermody Properties. "Mr. Berger along with Mike Foley, Dave Hess, and Ryan Bos from Cushman and Wakefield have been retained to lease the two vacant spaces available at the Bloomfield Industrial Center."

"This is an excellent location in a constantly growing market and boasts easy freeway access, close proximity to the LAX Airport and the ports of Los Angeles and Long Beach," said Shultz. "The area is a true hub for industrial activity. This acquisition is poised to help fill the demand for quality industrial properties in the Los Angeles

There are two units available for lease at the project: a 22,440 SF unit with 1,349 SF of refurbished office space, and a 15,360 SF unit with 1,357 SF of refurbished office space. The units are adjacent to one another and can be combined to create a single unit size of 37.800 square-feet. Bloomfield Industrial Center offers dock high of 37,800 square-feet. Bloomfield Industrial Center offers dock high loading, 24-foot interior warehouse clearance, LED lighting and a prime corner location.

"Expanding our portfolio to include quality offerings in Southern California is a top priority and we are excited to have acquired this asset in a prime Mid Counties location," said Douglas A. Kiersey, President of Dermody Properties, "Bloomfield Industrial Center is an ideal central location for a variety of industries."

The newly renovated property is in the Mid Counties submarket of Los Angeles County and offers easy access to the entire Los Angeles Basin. Interstate 605 and Interstate 5 are within two miles of the property offering quick connections to major east-west transit

The ports of Los Angeles and Long Beach, the largest and second largest ports in North America representing 40 percent of U.S. container traffic, are 22 miles to the southwest and the Los Angeles International Airport is 22 miles to the west.

Bellflower Unified to buy 2 electric buses

BELLFLOWER – Bellflower Unified School District will receive more than half a million dollars to buy two electric school buses and charging stations under a South Coast Air Quality Management District (AQMD) program that will strengthen the District's already environmentally friendly bus fleet.

The District is one of 16 districts and two charter schools to share $8.8 million, intended to fund 33 buses and the necessary charging stations. Bellflower Unified's $536,000 grant includes $496,000 for two zero-emission buses and $40,000 for charging Bellflower Unified has a fleet of 28 buses, including 26 powered by compressed natural gas (CNG). Thirteen of the CNG buses are 14 years old, 11 are 13 years old, one is 12 years old and one was purchased this year.

The District also has a dieselpowered bus it is looking to replace under a different AQMD program and an 18-year-old gas-powered bus.

Electric buses typically travel 60 miles or farther on a single charge and, according to the California Air Resources Board (CARB), should be less expensive to maintain than diesel buses.

Most of the District buses travel routes of 40 to 60 miles a

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS CALLING FOR BIDS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Downey Unified School District "District" of Los Angeles County, California, acting by and through its Governing Board ("Board"), will receive up to, but not later than, 1:30 p.m. on August 8th, 2017, sealed bids for

Bid #17/18-07

EXTERIOR PAINTING OF DOWNEY HIGH SCHOOL GYMNASIUM

All bids shall be made and presented on a form furnished by the District. Bids shall be received in the office of the Director, Purchasing and Warehouse and shall be opened and publicly read aloud at the above stated time and place.

Each bid must conform with and be responsive to the contract documents, copies of which are on file and may be obtained electronically on or after July 6, 2017 - Contact Edwin Munguia at emunguia@rachlinpartners.com

A mandatory bidder's conference and job-walk will be conducted at Downey High School 11040 Brookshire Ave, Downey, CA 90241 on July 21, 2016 at 8:00 a.m.: No bid shall be accepted from any bidder failing to comply with attending the mandatory bidder's conference.

The District has obtained from the Department of Industrial Relations the general prevailing rate of per diem wages and the general prevailing rate for holiday and overtime work for the Los Angeles County area for each trade, craft, classification, or type of work needed to execute the contract. Holiday rates shall be paid as specified in the collective bargaining agreement applicable to each particular trade, craft, classification, or type of work employed on the project.

Copies of schedules of rates so determined are available on the Internet at (http://www.dir.ca.gov/DIR/S&R/statistics_research.html) and are on file and available at the District Office address noted above. In accordance with Section 1773.2 of the California Labor Code, the Contractor shall post a copy of the determination of prevailing rate of wages at each jobsite. The schedule of per diem wages is based upon a working day of eight (8) hours. The rate for holiday and overtime work shall be any subcontractor(s) shall pay not less than the specified prevailing rates of wages to all workers employed by them in the execution of the contract. In accordance with provisions of the Public Contract Code Section 22300, substitution of eligible and contract contra equivalent securities for any monies withheld to ensure performance under this contract will be permitted at the request and expense of the Contractor.

No bidder may withdraw their bid for a period of ninety (90) days after the date for the opening of bids.

All bidders and their subcontractors MUST be registered with the Department of Industrial Relations (DIR) and possess a current and valid DIR registration number at the time of bid submission.

The District reserves the right to reject any and all bids or to waive irregularities in any bid.

The Downey Unified School District is an "Equal Opportunity" employer. Qualified Disabled Veteran Business Enterprises (DVBE) are encouraged to participate in this project.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
ON A PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO TENTATIVE TRACT MAP

NO. 74254 PLN-17-00077 Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held before the DOWNEY CITY PLANNING COMMISSION on the 19th day of July, 2017, at 6:30 p.m., in the Council Chambers of the Downey City Hall, 1111 Brookshire Avenue Downey

11111 Brookshire Avenue, Downey,

California. At that time and place, consideration will be given to the PLN-17-00077 (Amendment to Tentative Tract Map No. 74254) – A request to amend the previously approved Tentative Tract Map No. 74254 from thirty-nine condominiums to thirtynine townhomes, and one common lot.
The amendment will not change the site layout, building architecture or design of the approved project; but will rather change the development from an air-space subdivision to each unit being located on its own parcel. The property is located at 7940 Telegraph Road and zoned R-3 (Multiple-Family All interested parties are invited to submit written comments and/or to attend and give testimony. The staff report, which provides a detailed description and analysis of this project, will be posted to the City's website (http://www.downeyca.org/gov/cd/planning/planning commission.asp) on the Friday prior to the public hearing.

As required by the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), this request has been found to be CEQA Guideline, Section 15332 (Class 32, In-Fill Developments).

If you challenge the proposed actions in court, you may be limited to raising only those issues you or someone else raised at the public hearing described in this notice, or in written correspondence delivered to the Planning Commission at, or prior to, the public hearing.

PROBATE

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF GLADYCE A. MCGOUGH Case No. 17STPB02679

Case No. 17STPB02679

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of GLADYCE A. MCGOUGH A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Steven M. Cerile in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Steven M. Cerile be appointed as personal representative to administer the personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on ugust 10, 2017 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles,

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Shared Stories: Miss Fireworks

Sharon Benson Smith lived in East L.A. during the car culture period of the 1950's – before the construction of the East L.A. Interchange changed the neighborhood. This story is about her participation in a July 4th advertising campaign. Shared Stories is a weekly column featuring articles by participants in a writing class at the Norwalk Senior Center. Bonnie Mansell is the instructor for this free class offered through the Cerritos College Adult Education Program. Curated by Carol Kearns

By Sharon Benson Smith

In 1954, at age 16, and shortly after I was crowned Friendship Festival Queen of East Los Angeles, I was approached by a local merchants' association to pose as "Miss Fireworks" for the local advertising of an upcoming 4th of July celebration to take place in the general area.

Again, I was honored, discussed it with Mom, and she quickly agreed as long as she could accompany me.

So, I donned the pink high heels that I wore in the Friendship Festival contest and the multicolored, one-piece bathing suit I wore when completing my Junior Lifeguard tests at the local Atlantic Plunge.

All of my siblings and other family members were elated for me, as usual, and we awaited the momentous occasion.

Mom was with me, of course, but she wasn't too thrilled that they wanted me to pose, three stories high, seated with my legs dangling down the side of the building. They assured her they would take every precaution to ensure my safety. So, up three stories I gladly went, via the elevator, to the top of the building.

By the way, this took place right outside the window of our family dentist, Dr. Winnegar, so that put me at ease immediately. I was sitting on top of my little East L.A. world, looking down on the streets we cruised on Friday and Saturday nights.

From this vantage point, I could see the familiar intersection of Whittier and Atlantic Boulevards. I could even see the very popular Stan's Drive Inn, where we often "hung out," as well as the façade of the Golden Gate Theatre where I was then employed.

A family member took photos of me in the bathing suit, but this 8" X 10" photo is the only photo I have that was taken professionally of the occasion. If my memory serves me correctly, a few photos were posted in the area surrounding the celebration, but it didn't get a lot of publicity.

I was just honored and humbled, once again, merely to be considered to take part in such a special occasion, and I can't think of any celebration more significant that the 4th of July!

My memory of that long-ago day keeps pulling me back to what was truly special about it - looking down on a very worried Mom who was looking up at me writing her hands, and telling the gentleman in charge to, "Please take care of my precious cargo."

Special congratulations to Sharon from the Memoirs Class for her recent L.A. Press Club award, 3rd place, for her article about housing which appeared in the Downey Patriot last year. "We're proud of you, Sharon!"

On June 13, student delegate of California State University, Long Beach and Downey Resident, Bianca Salgado joined more than 300 Americans on Capitol Hill in Washington, DC, to collectively urge Congress to support full U.S. funding for the United Nations.

The gathering took place on the last day of the United Nations Association of the United States of America's (UNA-USA) annual Leadership Summit, which trains and mobilizes Americans who support the work of the UN.

UNA-USA advocates collectively called for full U.S. funding for UN regular budget and peacekeeping dues in the Fiscal year 2018 budget.

On Thursday, June 28, Congresswoman Lucille Roybal-Allard (CA-40) welcomed this year's Lucille Roybal-Allard Student Art Competition winner, Rebeka Martinez of Paramount, to the United States Capitol to celebrate the opening of a student art exhibit in the Capitol featuring her winning artwork.

Martinez's graphite, charcoal, and acrylic piece, titled "Light That Never Goes Out," is currently on display in the Capitol for one year, alongside student art from congressional districts across the country.

Martinez received free round-trip plane tickets to Washington, DC for her and her mother to attend the art exhibit opening, as well as a three-night hotel stay and $500 to pay for expenses on the trip. Martinez also won a $1,000 scholarship and $200 for art supplies.

John Adams believed the Fourth of July should be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival. "It ought to be solemnized with Pomp and Parade, with Shews, Games, Sports, Guns, Bells, Bonfires and Illuminations," he wrote Abigail, "from one End of this Continent to the other from this Time forward forever more." Poetry Matters is curated by Lorine Parks.

What does a home inspector look for?

After you've made an offer on a home and it's accepted, you might want to start packing your bags. But hang on—you're not home free yet. Before you close the deal, it's wise to hire a home inspector to check out the house for major flaws that might need to be fixed. After all, even if a house looks like it's in great condition, appearances can be deceiving.

So what does a home inspector look for, anyway?

In short: a whole lot. "We've got 1,600 different items on our list that home inspectors are supposed to look at," says Claude McGavic, executive director of the National Association of Home Inspectors, which trains and certifies home inspectors throughout the country

And their discoveries can help home buyers big-time: Provided you have a home inspection contingency in your offer, you can renegotiate with the seller to fix certain problems or to lower the price. Or, if the problem is more than you want to handle (think faulty foundation or roof on the verge of caving in), you can walk away from the deal with your deposit in hand. Either way, it's a win-win for the buyer.

What does a home inspector look for?

Inspectors run down a checklist of potential problems. While we Realtor.com won't list all 1,600, here's the boiled-down version:

Grounds: Inspectors are looking for current or future water issues such as standing puddles and faulty grading or downspouts. They check out landscaping to see if trees and shrubs are in good condition (an arborist will give you a more detailed assessment); and evaluate pathways, retaining walls, sheds, and railings.

Structure: Is the house foundation solid? Are the sides straight? Are the window and door frames square? This part of the inspection is particularly important when you're considering buying an older home.

Roof: The inspector's looking for defects in shingles, flashing, and fascia, all of which can cause ceiling drips; loose gutters; and defects in chimneys and skylights.

Exterior: The inspector will look for siding cracks, rot, or decay; cracking or flaking masonry; cracks in stucco; dents or bowing in vinyl; blistering or flaking paint; and adequate clearing between siding and earth, which should be a minimum of 6 inches to avoid damage from moisture (although dirt can be in contact with the cement foundation).

Window, doors, trim: If you want to keep heat in, cold out, and energy bills low, windows and doors must be in good working condition. The inspector will see if frames are secure and without rot, caulking is solid and secure, and glass is undamaged.

Interior rooms: Inspectors are concerned about leaning walls that indicate faulty framing; stained ceilings that could point to water problems; adequate insulation behind the walls; and insufficient heating vents that could make a room cold and drafty.

Kitchen: Inspectors make sure range hood fans vent to the outside; ground fault circuit interrupter (GFCI) protection exists for electrical outlets within 6 feet of the sink; no leaks occur under the sink; and cabinet doors and drawers operate properly.

Bathrooms: Inspectors want to see toilets flushing, drains draining, showers spraying, and tubs securely fastened.

Plumbing: Inspectors are evaluating pipes, drains, water heaters, and water pressure and temperature.

Electrical: Inspectors will check if the visible wiring and electrical panels are in good shape, light switches work correctly, and there are enough outlets in each room.

How you can help the inspector

Bring any and all concerns about the property to your inspector before he begins, so he'll keep a sharp lookout for possible problems. If the seller has disclosed damage, give your inspector a heads up about Another smart move is to accompany the inspector during his rounds. It's in your best interest to understand the home, its systems, and potential problems. For instance, an inspector can introduce you to electrical panels and shut-off water valves (which the seller may not know how to operate or forget to show you), and if he spots a problem, he can show you exactly how a system is malfunctioning and what it means. And this info will serve you well not only before you buy, but afterward as well.
