Residents urged to limit outdoor watering

■ Crews will begin making repairs to a 36-mile pipeline starting Monday; outdoor watering will be restricted for 15 days.

By City News Service

DOWNEY – More than four million residents in Los Angeles County were urged Tuesday to suspend outdoor watering for 15 days next month while the Metropolitan Water District repairs a leak in a water delivery pipeline.

The repairs will take place from Sept. 6-20, and will impact the cities of Beverly Hills, Burbank, Glendale, Long Beach, Pasadena, San Fernando and Torrance.

Residents in the Central Basin Municipal Water District, which includes Downey, along with the Foothill Municipal Water District, Three Valleys Municipal Water District and West Basin Municipal Water District will also be impacted.

Officials discovered a leak in the 36-mile Upper Feeder pipeline, which delivers water from the Colorado River to Southern California, earlier this year. The pipeline was running at a reduced capacity after a temporary repair while officials designed a more permanent solution.

"The temporary fix we have in place has allowed us to operate the pipeline at a reduced capacity over the summer, but it is not intended to last long-term," MWD General Manager Adel Hagekhalil said at a news conference at Burbank Water and Power's Ron E. Davis Eco Campus.

"We cannot delay this repair any further -- doing so risks a failure and the potential for an unplanned, emergency situation."

Residents and businesses throughout the county were called on to temporarily suspend all outdoor watering, including drip irrigation and hand-watering. The MWD recommends trees and gardens be pre-watered before the shutdown and maintained using water collected from the sink and shower. Additional water-saving tips in preparation for and during the shutdown are available at mwdh2o.com/shutdown.

"During this shutdown, we'll be tapping into a very limited supply of water to deliver to these communities," MWD board Chairwoman Gloria Gray said. "So we must eliminate all outdoor water use and do everything else we can to conserve for 15 days. We want to thank residents and businesses in advance for their support and recognizing the water-supply challenges our region faces."

Officials provided tips to residents prior to the shutdown, including delaying new plantings until after Sept. 20, avoiding fertilizing lawns and plants and turning the sprinkler timer off on the evening of Sept. 5.

"This shutdown has been months in the making," MWD System Operations Manager Brent Yamasaki said. "Imagine you've got a bridge with a pipeline on it, it's 1,000 feet and it crosses a river. You don't want to do this in the wintertime when it's raining. We want to do this now ... rest assured we are going to be working 24-7 to get this work done."

Residents can view a map of affected areas and get more information at mwdh2o.com/projects-in-your-community.

Family brings world travels to Downey store

■ A Downey family is opening their new store Sunday, with merchandise inspired by their personal travels.

By Alex Dominguez
Staff Writer

DOWNEY – One local family has taken the treasures they have found while traveling and turned them into a new storefront boutique opening this weekend.

Mother, daughter, and niece trio Loraine Medina, 48, Alyssa Hilton, 23, and Cassandra Medina, 15, will open The Gypsy Trip on Sunday, selling clothes, accessories, and other items collected from their own personal travels.

The store began as a former mobile library truck they purchased in October 2018.

"We love to travel all over, and (Hilton) loves fashion," said Loraine. "I was telling her this would be a really good idea, to buy this truck... We fixed it up, all of us fixed it up. We converted it; a little mobile library to a mobile boutique."

The business started off small, doing little pop-up shops for family and friends, to great success.

"The more we went to, the more positive feedback we would get," said Hilton. "We loved connecting with the people, the experience, and all that."

When the Covid-19 pandemic set in, The Gypsy Trip was forced to take a hiatus, only just starting back up around a year ago.

Now, the entrepreneurial family have set their sights even bigger with their first brick and mortar shop, located at 7823 Florence Ave.

Hilton is currently committed to the store full-time. Cassandra, still a student at Downey High School, works on many of the graphic and design elements. Loraine supervises and serves in a mentor / assistance role.

They say the shop is catered and targeted to "free spirited" women of all sizes.

"Since we travel, we try to bring things from all over," said Loraine. "Little things you wouldn't really find at the mall, or hand-made stuff."

"We cater to all women, from size small to 3x, so that's another thing (our customers) like."

"We carry plus-sizes that most boutiques don't," added Cassandra.

Loraine specially mentioned that she had recently brought back items from Baja and Romania, but future stock is only limited by their travel.

"I'm going to bring back something," said Loraine. "Usually, I take a big luggage bag...because I know I'm going to bring (product) back."

Gypsy Trip will be holding a grand opening celebration on Sunday, featuring music, drinks, and special deals.

They hope this will be the first of many stores, but do not necessarily want to become a chain. The original truck will also still be used as well.

"I want us to grow," said Loraine. "I don't like the word 'chain,' but just to have a lot of Gypsy Trips all over, but still having the small vibe feeling, like shop small boutique. We don't want to be a Walmart or Target. We want to grow, but we want to keep it small at the same time."

Historical Society hopes youth can continue its work

■ Younger people are getting involved with the Downey Historical Society, offering hope for its future.

By Alex Dominguez
Staff Writer

DOWNEY – As they continue to try and preserve the past, the Downey Historical Society may have found its leaders of the future.

The Historical Society has recently seen a modest influx of youngsters, beginning with 18-year-old Andrea Barajas.

Barajas's introduction to the Historical society came during the summer of her junior year at Warren High School, when she found herself needing information on Rancho Los Amigos for a documentary she was working on as part of an internship.

"I came down to the historical society, and [Historical Society President] Bob [Thompson] loaned me a book," said Barajas. "I used some of those images in the documentary. I told Bob, 'I will give you the documentary, I'll give you a copy so you can have it for records.'"

"After that, he was really impressed with that so he invited me to come on down more frequently to the Historical Society."

Barajas would bring along Jesus Reyes, 19, who also had an appreciation for history. Zoelli

Ortiz, also 19, would join not long after.

Being the new generation of Downey Historians "can be a bit overwhelming" says Barajas.

"Just thinking about it all, like, wow, they (members of the historical society) know so much information, and just trying to save everything," said Barajas. "Even just trying to recruit people, you know? We've been coming up with different tactics – community service hours for high schools, programs for middle schoolers and stuff – so, I think it's great that we're actually able to still conserve it and work on that because I know a lot of historical societies have unfortunately dissolved because they don't have any members anymore."

Reyes added that there is an individual sense of responsibility to preserve Downey's history once it's been discovered. He feels that while Downey has always appreciated and celebrated its past, it hasn't done the best job in protecting it.

"To see external entities sort of erasing that in some sort of way, it kind of brings you more in; trying to find more history about the city, more ways you can try to preserve it to teach other people about that same history," said Reyes.

"Honestly, there have been a couple places where they've been irresponsible with preserving history, like Los Amigos that's been sort of just sitting there since the 80's, since the 90's," continued Reyes. "You also have the old Rockwell International Plant that has been brought over commercial, but at the end of the day is not very commemorative to its past."

After using the Historical Society's vast archives, Zoelli Ortiz, Andrea Barajas, and Jesus Reyes have all taken larger roles within the organization. (Photo by Alex Dominguez)

Ortiz described Downey as "the embodiment of American cities."

"When you look back in time, Downey started agricultural, and then it turned into more of a suburban town, and now it's what it is today," said Ortiz. "I think its so interesting that you can see both of those come into play."

"I think Downey encapsulates America and how America has progressed in one little city."

The trio has several goals and aspirations for the historical society, not least of which being recruitment and expansion. They also hope to see knowledge and teaching of Downey's history stretch beyond the society's four walls.

Downey falls to Schurr, 3-0, in non-league match

Downey, now competing in the Gateway League, hopes to build on early success.

By John M. Sherrard
Contributor

DOWNEY – After getting a quick jump in the preseason with some early success, the Downey girls volleyball team, which started off with a 5-2 start, fell to visiting Schurr in straight sets, 25-23, 25-21, 25-15 Tuesday afternoon (August 30).

The Vikings rebounded the next day with a 3-0 win over host Pacifica in non-league action to improve to 6-3 overall.

Results of the Thursday (Sept. 1) match at La Serna were not available at press time.

Before their first home crowd of the season, the Vikings (5-3) hung tough with Schurr (9-1) in the first two sets, but lost by 10 points in the third.

Downey lost to Schurr last year in the second round of the CIF-SS D5 playoffs.

“We played (Schurr) a lot in the summer and they’re a solid team,” Downey first-year coach Shawn Patchell said. “Good setter, good position player. We’re close. We just got to make sure the confidence stays up.”

The Vikings, who just came off a loss to CIF-DI, Laguna Beach, Saturday (August 27) are building off of last years’ success, as they won the San Gabriel League with a perfect 10-0 record. Overall, the Vikings finished at 25-7 in longtime volleyball coach Bob McCarthy’s last season before retirement. Patchell previously coached for many years at Laguna Beach.

Downey will go down as the last SGV Champs, as a formation of a new conference begins this year.

The Suburban League, which dates back years, will become the Suburban Conference, which will be divided into two leagues. Downey will play in the Gateway League.

After the retirement of McCarthy last year, the Viking program was fortunate to hire a longtime coach with a wealth of knowledge like Patchell this past summer.

Patchell, who recently coached at Long Island University and previously at Concordia of Irvine, for eight years, has won over his new team.

“When I heard of him, I actually googled his name and saw that he played before and obviously knows what he is doing and was at universities and colleges and he knows the big stuff,” Downey senior middle blocker Anet Morales said. “Ok, this is good. We met him at our first game at summer league.”

“I was very excited and knew that we were handed a very good coach from McCarthy, so we were in good hands.”

With the loss to CIF DI Laguna Hills on Saturday, the team learned a lot from an upper division team.

Morales said: “We learned so much and there’s still a lot of communication that needs to be done. We have little mistakes that we need to improve on. We saw the difference between both levels and how efficient they were.”

“We’re still trying to adjust to a new environment.”

Morales was referring to the number of new players from a team that lost 10 seniors last year to graduation.

This years’ team is balanced with seven seniors, four juniors and four sophomores.

Downey won a tourney with three wins to start the season.

The experienced Schurr team might have had a slight advantage over Downey, but the Vikings gave them a run for their money in two of the three sets.

The first set saw the Vikings get in a quick, 6-2 hole, and trailed by as much as seven points, 14-7, before they mounted a comeback.

Sophomore outside hitter Yaretzi Silva, who had a match-high 17 kills, started the comeback with a big kill to trail, 14-8, followed by a service ace from senior setter Aryanna Martinez (30 A), a kill by senior opposite Janay Robertson and a ball hit long by Schurr. That made the score, Schurr 15, Downey 10.

The Vikings came all the way back and two consecutive kills by Robertson brought them within a point, 24-23.

On an attempted kill by Downey into the net, that ended the comeback and the Spartans took the first set, 25-23.

Schurr had a balanced attack from three players, all with double digit kills – Karina Talavera (13K), Jasmine Soto (12K) and Victoria Murillo (10K). Leading the way with assists was Leeya Rubio with 24 and Soto added 11.

“It (comeback) did a lot for us, because it gave us at least some energy, because going into this we were really nervous,” Robertson said. “Towards the end, we could see, ‘oh ya, we can actually get points on them. It’s not impossible.’”

“You want to close it out and it’s also important in the beginning,” Robertson added.

Patchell was proud of his team for playing close.

“We played with a lot of heart,” he said. “These girls, I think they just get a little nervous. It’s our first home match and I wanted to play a home match in August and we got it out of the way and I think we didn’t win any mini games to five (points). Once we start winning the mini game to five, we’ll be rolling.”

“We passed a lot better to finish, which was good, but we want to start a little better.”

Patchell had high praise for his sophomore, (Silva).

“Ya, she’s learning the game and she’s going to be very, very good,” he said. “We need her to do a lot of stuff. Most sophomores only have to do one or two skills, but we’re asking her to be a very skilled player right now. She’s coming along nicely.”

Junior outside hitter Rebeca

Marquez, who is a captain along with senior libero Bailey Aguilar, had 10 kills in the game for the Vikings.

“(Marquez) was a libero last year,” Patchell said. “Now, playing the front row is a big responsibility for her, she gets it done and she’s going to be a very player for us. She’s a very good defensive player and she passes very well. It’s fun to have her.”

In the second set, the Vikings got into another quick, 6-0, hole but came all the way back again and tied the set, 15-15, on an ace by Aguilar.

The late-set comeback continued with only a two-point deficit, 23-21, after a big kill by Silva. But, the Spartans won the next two points to put Downey into a 2-0 hole in the match.

For the third straight set, the Vikings found themselves in that same early-set hole, trailing by as much as 13-3.

However, here they came again with another mini comeback highlighted by three consecutive kills from Silva (2K) and Robertson (K) brought them within three points, 13-10.

Multiple errors in the late stages of the set put the Vikings 10 points down, 23-13, and they defending Almont League Champions came away with the match before a nearly packed gym at Downey.

What they said:

Bailey Aguilar, senior libero: “I consider Schurr a rival. Their coach (Jorge Ortiz) is my uncle.”

“When we started our camps in the summer it was completely different with coach Patchell. His past teams were way better than us and for him to come here and give us as much work as his other teams. He pushes us way more harder than in past years.”

Rebeca Marquez, junior OH: “It came with a lot more adjustments and we had to adjust to more higher standards. (Patchell) comes from a high level of coaching.”

“Playing the higher-level teams was a good experience. It was a good way to see our strengths and weaknesses. It was a learning experience. (Tournament champions) it felt good and having this new team and the chemistry throughout is complete.”

Yaretzi Silva, sophomore OH: “It’s very exciting and a new experience and his coaching method is a little different. I like the opportunity that we’re getting to play with a coach of his credentials. I feel like he’s taught me so many more things and correcting things that I didn’t even think to correct.”

MAYOR'S CORNER

Kids are back in school, so please slow down

By Blanca Pacheco
Mayor, City of Downey

Hello Downey, Now that school is back in session, it is essential to remember all back-to-school safety precautions. While our schools continue to take preventive measures against COVID-19, we must also do our part to keep our kids safe. With more students returning to on-campus learning, children will be walking on our city streets, and keeping their safety in mind should be our top priority. Here are a few reminders.

- Yellow flashing lights on a school bus mean the bus is slowing down and getting ready to pull over to the side. Children are waiting to get on the bus, or parents are waiting to pick up their children.
- Red flashing lights mean to stop and wait for at least 20 feet behind the bus because children are getting on or off the school bus.
- When a bus is present, always watch for children, especially in the morning or mid-afternoon.
- It is important to be alert when backing out of a driveway, or driving through residential streets, school zones, and bus stops.
- Besides walking, children may be on their bicycles, scooters, or skateboards to travel to school.

- Parents should talk to their children about safety and remind them to be aware of their surroundings when traveling to school. Everyone should watch the road, not their phones.

While we all continue getting used to the new normal, our kids continue to be resilient and make strides in school. We are responsible for keeping them safe outside of school by being alert and driving responsibly.

Local organization Gangs Out Of Downey once again demonstrated their undying support for our community. They graciously donated to the City and Downey Unified School District with a grant for $12,500 to provide funding for a school resource officer at Columbus High School. Their generosity and commitment to our city's youth are examples of what continues to make Downey great. Thank you to all the members and volunteers of G.O.O.D. for all they do to keep our children safe.

Our local shelter continues to be full of pets needing forever homes. Besides dogs and cats, SEACA also has rabbits and birds available for adoption. To view all animals and for information about adopting a new friend, please visit seaca.org.

The highly anticipated International Food and Music Festival is coming to Downtown Downey this September 10th. Join us for great food from local restaurants and live music on two stages. There will also be face painting, balloon artists, and a photo booth. The Downey City Library will host the Beyond the Book event on September 17th. This is the library's annual celebration of all the fantastic resources they offer and the artists, makers, crafters, and creative explorers that make and enliven our city.

While summer is winding down, high temperatures remain. Older adults, children, and individuals who are sick or overweight are at greater risk from extreme heat.

To cool off, visit our newly remodeled Downey City Library to catch up on summer reading or check out a city laptop. The Barbara J. Riley Community and Senior Center also offer various programs and activities to participate in while getting to know your neighbors and making new friends. Or you can visit the Columbia Memorial Space Center.

For more information, please visit downeylibrary.org, downeyca.org, and columbiaspacecenter.org.

For any questions, ideas, or concerns regarding our city please call my council colleagues and I at 562-904-7274 or email bpacheco@downeyca.org.

Stay safe, and most importantly, be kind to one another.

Young adults take interest in history

"I know for me, I didn't really learn anything about Downey history until maybe junior year...and that was just an offhand note," said Barajas. "I think that if we can try to get some more partnership with some of the elementary schools, starting them off young, having them come in here, seeing the Dismukes House...having them be excited about their city's history," said Barajas. "Ultimately, we do live here, so I think it's really important to try to learn a little more about their schools, or the streets they go on."

The arrival of Barajas, Reyes, and Ortiz comes as a welcome addition to more seasoned members of the Historical Society.

Roger Miller, who at the age of 68 used to be considered "the young member" of the organization, says it's "quite a relief."

"I heard that South Gate and Arcadia both folded their historical societies due to folks aging out and nobody walking in behind them to pick up the mantle and do something," said Miller.

Thompson expressed excitement for the new batch of historians, saying that he thought the history center "would be in good hands."

"I don't want to sound corny, but I always try to tell young folks who come in here, 'This is your city, please take care of it, love it, respect it, don't let it get destroyed.' Kind of like preaching to them a bit, but that's how I feel," said Thompson. "These folks seem like they fit that bill. They're excellent."

Oregon community rallies after Downey family struck by tragedy

■ Ryan Hodak died Aug. 18, only two weeks after he was diagnosed with leukemia.

By Alex Dominguez
Staff Writer

DOWNEY – An Oregon family with Downey ties was on the receiving end of a generous outpouring of support, after the sudden loss of their patriarch sent them reeling.

Ryan and Laura Hodak met as students at Warren High School, during Ryan's senior year. They were high school sweethearts.

When Laura graduated in 2002 and went to college out of state, Ryan followed.

After a series of "off and on times," the couple reconnected and started their lives together.

Their first child, Derick, was born in 2007. The couple married in 2008. Daughter Kailynn followed in 2011.

The family had recently settled in Oregon, with aspirations of establishing their own family roots and future.

However, things unraveled quickly when a simple tickle in the back of Ryan's throat progressed to swelling and pain, prompting further investigation.

On Aug. 6, he was diagnosed with AML Leukemia. Two weeks later, on Aug. 18, Ryan died due to complications stemming from a bacterial infection and an immune system wiped out from chemotherapy.

Hodak says that her husband was "the center of their family," and that his passing "leaves a void."

"We worked so hard; we don't live by family. It was just me and him creating this new branch of our family...this beautiful life for us, and our children, and our grandchildren, and hopefully great grandchildren," said Hodak. "We worked every day for that."

Though they are still relatively new to their new community in Oregon, it hasn't stopped those around them from doing what they can to help.

At the time of Ryan's death, Kailynn was due to sell a lamb at the Clackamas County Junior Auction, which she had raised during her first year of involvement with 4-H.

Understandably still processing their recent loss and not feeling up to attending themselves, the family decided to send the lamb off to the auction with a family friend, who subsequently spread word of the family's circumstance.

Hodak and her daughter were hoping to "break even" at $2000. The lamb instead drew much, much more.

"What ended up happening from my understanding is people started bidding, which because of the devastation of losing her father, it drove up the price in a way to support because the money does go back to the child who's done the work," said Hodak.

Ordinarily, a lamb like Kailynn's would have fetched $10-$12 a pound. After initial bid and add-ons, it went for just under $14,000, or around $100 a pound.

"We were very humbled by that, a little not sure how to take that gratitude," said Hodak. "We live in a really small town... I think the story is that in rough times, small communities, or communities in general can come together and really make a difference in a child's life and a family's life when they're at their weakest."

Hodak intends to put the money towards a college fund for her daughter.

She says to "take every day

for everything it has."

"If you think you have time later, that's the wrong mentality about life," said Hodak. "...Live every day to the fullest, because you just never know."

Why Trump will soon be indicted

By Judge Andrew Napolitano

It gives me no joy to write this piece.

Even a cursory review of the redacted version of the affidavit submitted in support of the government's application for a search warrant at the home of former President Donald Trump reveals that he will soon be indicted by a federal grand jury for three crimes: Removing and concealing national defense information (NDI), giving NDI to those not legally entitled to possess it, and obstruction of justice by failing to return NDI to those who are legally entitled to retrieve it.

When he learned from a phone call that 30 FBI agents were at the front door of his Florida residence with a search warrant and he decided to reveal this publicly, Trump assumed that the agents were looking for classified top-secret materials that they'd allege he criminally possessed. His assumptions were apparently based on his gut instinct and not on a sophisticated analysis of the law. Hence, his public boast that he declassified all the formerly classified documents he took with him.

Unbeknownst to him, the feds had anticipated such a defense and are not preparing to indict him for possessing classified materials, even though he did possess hundreds of voluntarily surrendered materials marked "top secret." It is irrelevant if the documents were declassified, as the feds will charge crimes that do not require proof of classification. They told the federal judge who signed the search warrant that Trump still had NDI in his home. It appears they were correct.

Under the law, it doesn't matter if the documents on which NDI is contained are classified or not, as it is simply and always criminal to have NDI in a non-federal facility, to have those without security clearances move it from one place to another, and to keep it from the feds when they are seeking it. Stated differently, the absence of classification — for whatever reason — is not a defense to the charges that are likely to be filed against Trump.

Yet, misreading and underestimating the feds, Trump actually did them a favor. One of the elements that they must prove for any of the three crimes is that Trump knew that he had the documents. The favor he did was admitting to that when he boasted that they were no longer classified. He committed a mortal sin in the criminal defense world by denying something for which he had not been accused.

The second element that the feds must prove is that the documents actually do contain national defense information. And the third element they must prove is that Trump put these documents into the hands of those not authorized to hold them and stored them in a non-federally secured place. Intelligence community experts have already examined the documents taken from Trump's home and are prepared to tell a jury that they contain the names of foreign agents secretly working for the U.S. This is the crown jewel of government secrets. Moreover, Trump's Florida home is not a secure federal facility designated for the deposit of NDI.

The newest aspect of the case against Trump that we learned from the redacted affidavit is the obstruction allegation. This is not the obstruction that Robert Mueller claimed he found Trump committed during the Russia investigation. This is a newer obstruction statute, signed by President George W. Bush in 2002, that places far fewer burdens on the feds to prove. The older statute is the one Mueller alleged. It characterizes any material interference with a judicial function as criminal. Thus, one who lies to a grand jury or prevents a witness from testifying commits this variant of obstruction.

But the Bush-era statute, the one the feds contemplate charging Trump with having violated, makes it a crime of obstruction by failing to return government property or by sending the FBI on a wild goose chase looking for something that belongs to the government and that you know that you have. This statute does not require the preexistence of a judicial proceeding. It only requires that the defendant has the government's property, knows that he has it and baselessly resists efforts by the government to get it back.

Where does all this leave Trump? The short answer is: in hot water. The longer answer is: He is confronting yet again the federal law enforcement and intelligence communities for which he has rightly expressed such public disdain. He had valid points of expression during the Russia investigation. He has little ground upon which to stand today.

I have often argued that many of these statutes that the feds have enacted to protect themselves are morally unjust and not grounded in the Constitution. One of my intellectual heroes, the great Murray Rothbard, taught that the government protects itself far more aggressively than it protects our natural rights.

In a monumental irony, both Julian Assange, the WikiLeaks journalist who exposed American war crimes during the Afghanistan and Iraq wars, and Edward Snowden, the former National Security Agency employee who exposed criminal mass government surveillance upon the American public, stand charged with the very same crimes that are likely to be brought against Trump. On both Assange and Snowden, Trump argued that they should be executed. Fortunately for all three, these statutes do not provide for capital punishment.

Rothbard warned that the feds aggressively protect themselves. Yet, both Assange and Snowden are heroic defenders of liberty with valid moral and legal defenses. Assange is protected by the Pentagon Papers case, which insulates the media from criminal or civil liability for revealing stolen matters of interest to the public, so long as the revealer is not the thief. Snowden is protected by the Constitution, which expressly prohibits the warrantless surveillance he revealed, which was the most massive peacetime abuse of government power.

What will Trump say in his defense of taking national defense information? I cannot think of a legally viable one.

Appreciation from Stauffer Foundation

Dear Editor:

My mother was Dr. Mary R. Stauffer. On the eve of what would have been her 105th birthday, I am reminded of the tremendous community support at her celebration of life at this time last year. There was an outpouring of thank-you's for her contribution to Downey as a doctor and philanthropist. Next year the foundation she started will celebrate its 30th anniversary.

There is a special albeit delayed thank you I would like to offer to the anonymous donor of $20,000 shortly after her death. I tried to discover who it was to thank them, and now, still not knowing who it was, would like to thank and assure them that their support is helping to continue my mom's legacy in the Mary R. Stauffer Foundation.

We are planning student awards and teacher grants again this year. So, look for her continued presence in Downey through her foundation for many years to come.

God bless you.

Questionable leadership

Dear Editor:

Any so-called leaders of the City of Downey that endorse, support, or vote to reward Blanca Pacheco unto the State Assembly will be complicit in making Catherine Alvarez our next mayor.

That is a legacy that will be hung around your necks forever.

Downey lags in environmental sustainability

Dear Editor:

So far California's new 2022 Senate Bill (SB 1383) requiring organic waste recycling has been more suggestion than edict. Many cities have been unable to follow through on this mandate due to lacking infrastructure, funds or, at worst, interest. Downey is no exception.

As a long-time Downey resident, I'm proud to live in a city with a bustling economy and strong civic spirit; however, seeing Downey lag in the critical area of environmental sustainability is disappointing.

To the city of Downey's defense, the problem encompasses a broader scope than our own city. Los Angeles has only begun in 2019 a pilot program offering organic recycling set to expand to 750,000 households by January 2023. With a total population of about 4 million, this means that only about 20% will have access to this service by start of next year—far behind CA's mandated start date.

Other cities like Santa Monica and El Segundo have been able to implement their respective organic recycling programs more quickly. El Segundo residents, for instance, have received green bins to recycle food waste. Compositing at home is also an option with materials provided by the city. Granted Downey houses more residents than both aforementioned cities, but given its strong entrepreneurial spirit and civic character, a swift implementation of such California laws should also be within reach.

A California website that directs residents to their respective trash disposal options shows that CalMet Services provides trash disposal services to Downey residents. A company based in Paramount, it describes itself as a "family-owned company" whose mission involves "environmentally responsible rubbish collection." Currently, it only offers 3 options for waste disposal designated by the traditional green (green-waste barrel), black (trash barrel) or blue (recycle barrel) bins. Reading these guidelines with no indication of future changes aligning with the new California bill naturally led to some compelling questions. How is this company helping residents align to the new state mandate? What are the reasons for any kind of delays? When can we expect to be able to follow through on these changes?

Upon contact and further inquiry, two possible solutions are offered by CalMet Services and the Downey Public Works Department. First of all, CalMet Services provided an email update to their waste disposal guidelines stating that organic waste, except meat and dairy, could be placed in the green bin. "Anything that grows, goes," they stated as a general rule for dumping in the green bin. Moreover, contacting the Downey Public Works Department, one representative responded that a new organic recycling bin should be available in November. Both offer distinct, yet not mutually exclusive explanations of how this issue is being addressed. However, both fall short in that the former does not account for all of organic waste recycling and the latter in that the changes mean a delay of another few months.

California, unfortunately, does not seem to be offering subsidies to companies to make the transition, which could pose a challenge for small family-owned companies like CalMet. Nonetheless, with enough financial incentive in terms of increased revenue on new bins and increased public pressure, the change should be feasible and desirable.

Food waste has a significant greenhouse footprint. As it goes to the landfill and rots, it produces methane—a greenhouse gas even more potent than carbon dioxide. Food waste thus accounts for 6-8% of human-caused greenhouse gases. Given the increasing adverse impacts of climate change felt worldwide from rising temperatures to melting glaciers, immediate changes, like proper food recycling, are a moral and natural prerogative for a sustainable, bright future that require holding ourselves and our local institutions accountable.

Desperate Biden stoops to buying votes

By R. Emmett Tyrrell Jr.

Supposedly President Joe Biden's popularity went up last week. How did he achieve this feat, raising his popularity from 32% to the low 40s? He did it the old-fashioned way. Joe bought the votes of 20 million students who have been stupid enough to take out usually catastrophically burdensome student loans.

At first Joe was reluctant to give in to these students and their vast array of advocates. Then he decided to give them as much as $10,000 in debt relief for their vote. Then he dithered for months. Finally, he said last week he would buy their votes for as much as $20,000 a piece. The hell with those poor suckers who have paid off their student loans and for any other suckers who will pay off any debt that they owe the U. S. Treasury.

Maybe it is time to close down the IRS. In his latest misnamed bill, the Inflation Reduction Act, Joe has enlarged the IRS by 87,000, eventually costing the electorate an estimated $80 billion. In his student loan relief bill, he will cost the electorate an estimated $1 trillion dollars. In the meantime, we are trying to whip inflation by cutting spending, but by cutting it where? It seems to me that there is a lot of dizziness within this administration.

Consistency is not their strong suit.

For that matter, competence is not one of the administration's strong suits either. For months, its members have told us not to worry about the prospect of inflation. Inflation is not going to be a problem. The administration came up with a magic word to accompany inflation. The word was "transitory." They told us inflation was a transitory thing. For months, they spent madly. It was trillions of dollars that we did not have. They spent on COVID relief, on contrivances of the welfare state and on other matters. One did not have to immerse oneself in the mysteries of higher economics to know that inflation is what one gets when too much money is chasing too few goods in an economy. The consequence is a higher inflation rate eating into the family budgets. Right now, the family budget is being consumed at a rate of roughly 8.2% a month. It is no surprise that this rate of inflation is intolerable.

Now the Biden government is going to wipe out millions of dollars in student loans, and things will pretty much continue as they have for years, ever since the days of the Great Society when the spending took off. What began as a loan program for students borrowing up to $7,500 will continue to climb. And the universities of the country will continue to do what has been working for them for years: raise tuitions, raise fees, pass the expenses on to the students and their parents. The cost of a college education has risen exponentially with no test for the effectiveness of the education that the students are allegedly getting. One of the great jokes of this student loan controversy is that there is no recognized test offered after four years of college (or how many it might take) for discerning what a student has learned.

In all this controversy about student loans, rarely have I heard of any university official complaining about the costs that the universities pass on to students. The cost of counseling, the cost of the phony programs such as anger management, the cost of how to write up a proper contract before a couple can properly engage in sexual commerce and, of course, the vexed question of race relations, to say nothing of the looming question over every college campus today of transgender intercourse. Then there is the cost of deans for special studies, of deans for this enthusiasm or that enthusiasm. And the ever-present question of the costs that the university must pass on? The cost of salaries. The cost of nervous breakdown analyses among the profs, the costs of maintaining the classroom between demonstrations.

Let us face the facts. The universities of this country are some of the most poorly run institutions in the land. Most universities are organized scams. They lost the ability to educate years ago. Now they simply immerse students in ideological nonsense that has nothing to do with education. Look at a picture of students dressed for class. The students are dressed like 10-year-olds, and the profs are dressed like babysitters. I have no idea how administrators dress, though they might dress like con artists. It would be fitting.

Glory to Ukraine!

Former Downey mayors endorse Hector Sosa

DOWNEY – Downey City Council candidate Hector Sosa has secured the endorsement of the Downey Former Mayors Coalition.

The coalition is a collection of former Downey mayors, including Dr. Roger Brossmer, Kirk Cartozian, Alex Saab, Dn. Mario A. Guerra, Keith McCarthy, and Rick Rodriguez.

“Downey is at the crossroads and Hector Sosa is what we need to get our city back on the right track,” said Dr. Brossmer

All told, the coalition has more than 44 years experience serving on the Downey City Council.

“Getting the support from this group of dedicated former Downey mayors means they understand the importance of backing a candidate with a proven track record of service to the community” said Sosa.

“I’ve spent over 15 years as a volunteer coach and board member for West Downey Little League and DJAA; President of Gangs Out Of Downey (GOOD); president elect of Downey Los Amigos Kiwanis; English literacy tutor for the Downey City Library; youth ministries teacher at Calvary Chapel Downey and college student mentor at Cal State University of Los Angeles Business School. I look forward to continuing that service to my community on the City Council.”

As past president of Gangs Out of Downey, Sosa has made public safety a priority in his campaign, along with fiscal responsibility, supporting small businesses, and community outreach.

“Hector Sosa will provide much needed stability to our city government and city council,” said former councilman Saab. “Hector is the only candidate with a proven track record of service to Downey. His record shows he will always put the best interests of the community first by working with all stakeholders. He will be a positive voice for all residents and businesses of Downey.”

For more information about Hector Sosa, follow his campaign on Facebook and Instagram, or visit his website at www.HectorSosaforDowney.com.

The event will take place at LOOK Dine-In Cinema on Thursday, Sept. 8, at 6 pm.

Participating in the panel discussion are Dr. Stephany Powell of the National Center on Sexual Exploitation and Helen Taylor of Exodus Cry.

Tickets are $10 and can be purchased on Event Brite.

Thief breaks into Catholic school using crucifix

BELL GARDENS – A Catholic school in Bell Gardens was robbed of nearly $5,000 by a man caught on security video using a crucifix to break in and steal the money, authorities say.

Detectives with the Bell Gardens Police Department say the thief used the crucifix to pry open a window in the St. Gertrude’s Catholic primary school on Toler Avenue on Aug 19.

It is at least the third time, possibly all by the same suspect, the Catholic school was robbed. Police say the thief stole $4,800 during one of the burglaries.

The money was going to be used for a school field trip.

Detectives say the suspect has tattoos on his right forearm.

Rodriguez is podcast guest

DOWNEY – Former mayor Rick Rodriguez was the most recent guest on Live Wire, the Downey Patriot’s audio podcast. Rodriguez spoke about building a career and family in Downey, why he didn’t run for re-election, regrets, if he would ever run for office again, and what he’s up to today.

Live Wire is available for streaming on the Downey Patriot’s website and also on Spotify and Apple Podcasts.

POET’S CORNER

excerpt from Shirt

The back, the yoke, the yardage. Lapped seams,
The nearly invisible stitches along the collar
Turned in a sweatshop by Koreans or Malaysians

Gossiping over tea and noodles on their break
Or talking money or politics while one fitted
This armpiece with its overseam to the band

Of cuff I button at my wrist. The presser, the cutter,
The wringer, the mangle. The needle, the union,
The treadle, the bobbin. The code. The infamous blaze

At the Triangle Factory in nineteen-eleven.
One hundred and forty-six died in the flames
On the ninth floor, no hydrants, no fire escapes—

The witness in a building across the street
Who watched how a young man helped a girl to step
Up to the windowsill, then held her out

Away from the masonry wall and let her drop.
And then another. As if he were helping them up
To enter a streetcar, and not eternity.

A third before he dropped her put her arms
Around his neck and kissed him. Then he held
Her into space, and dropped her. Almost at once

He stepped to the sill himself, his jacket flared
And fluttered up from his shirt as he came down,
Air filling up the legs of his gray trousers—

Wonderful how the pattern matches perfectly
Across the placket and over the twin bar-tacked
Corners of both pockets, like a strict rhyme
Or a major chord.

Robert Pinsky, The Want Bone. Harper Collins, 1990

146 workers were killed in the Triangle Shirtwaist Factory fire in New York in 1911, some burned alive, some jumped to their death. Firefighters arrived, but their ladders weren’t tall enough to reach the upper floors of the 10-story building. Legislation was passed that changed working conditions for factory workers. But sweat shops still exist today, and exploitation of labor. Poet Laureate Pinsky’s poem is written formally, in blank verse. Poetry Matters is curated by Lorine Parks.

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURER AND TAX COLLECTOR

Notice of Divided Publication

NOTICE OF DIVIDED PUBLICATION OF THE PROPERTY TAX-DEFAULT LIST (DELINQUENT LIST)

Made pursuant to Section 3371, Revenue and Taxation Code

Pursuant to Revenue and Taxation Code Sections 3381 through 3385, the County of Los Angeles Treasurer and Tax Collector is publishing in divided distribution, the Notice of Power to Sell Tax-Defaulted Property in and for the County of Los Angeles (County), State of California, to various newspapers of general circulation published in the County. A portion of the list appears in each of such newspapers.

I, Keith Knox, County of Los Angeles Treasurer and Tax Collector, State of California, certify that:

Notice is given that by operation of law at 12:01 a.m., Pacific Time, on July 1, 2020, the Tax Collector declared the real properties listed below tax defaulted. The declaration of default was due to non-payment of the total amount due for the taxes, assessments, and other charges levied in tax year 2019-20 that were a lien on the listed real property. Non-residential commercial property and property upon which there is a recorded nuisance abatement lien shall be subject to the tax collector's power to sell after three years of defaulted taxes. Therefore, if the 2019-20 taxes remain defaulted after June 30, 2023, the property will become subject to the tax collector's power to sell and eligible for sale at the County's online auction in 2024. All other property that has defaulted taxes after June 30, 2025, will become subject to the tax collector's power to sell and eligible for sale at the County's online auction in 2026. The list contains the name of the assessee at the total tax, which was due on July 30, 2020, for tax year 2019-20, opposite the parcel number. Payments to redeem tax-defaulted real property shall include all amounts for unpaid taxes and assessments, together with the additional penalties and fees as prescribed by law, or paid under an installment plan of redemption if initiated prior to the property becoming subject to the tax collector's power to sell.

The Treasurer and Tax Collector's Office will furnish, upon request, information concerning making a payment in full or initiating an installment plan of redemption. Requests must be made at 225 North Hill Street, First Floor Lobby, Los Angeles, California 90012. For more information, please visit our website at tcc.lacounty.gov or contact us at (213) 974-2111.

I certify under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct. Executed at Los Angeles, California, on August 4, 2022

KEITH KNOX
TREASURER AND TAX COLLECTOR
COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES
STATE OF CALIFORNIA

Assessees/taxpayers, who have disposed of real property after January 1, 2019, may find their names listed because the Office of the Assessor has not yet updated the assessment roll to reflect the change in ownership.

ASSESSOR'S IDENTIFICATION NUMBERING SYSTEM EXPLANATION

The Assessor's Identification Number, when used to describe property in this list, refers to the Assessor's map book, the map page, the block on the map (if applicable), and the individual parcel on the map page or in the block. The Assessor's maps and further explanation of the parcel numbering system are available at the Office of the Assessor. The following tax property tax defaulted on July 1, 2020, for the taxes, assessments, and other charges for the Tax Year 2019-20:

LISTED BELOW ARE PROPERTIES THAT DEFAULTED IN 2020 FOR TAXES, ASSESSMENTS AND OTHER CHARGES FOR THE FISCAL YEAR 2019-2020.

PROBATE

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF ERIC ALLEN CHRISTIANSON
Case No. 22STPB08016

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of ERIC ALLEN CHRISTIANSON: A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Joann Christianson in the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Joann Christianson be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Sept. 22, 2022 at 8:30 am in Dept. No. 79 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

NOTICE TO DEFENDANT (AVISO AL DEMANDADO): HECTOR NOEL IRIBE, AN INDIVIDUAL; CONCEPCION LOPEZ, AN INDIVIDUAL; SULAIMAN HAROONI, AN INDIVIDUAL; HNI INNOVATIONS, LLC, A CALIFORNIA LIMITED LIABILITY COMPANY; S&S GLOBAL INVESTMENTS, INC., A CALIFORNIA CORPORATION; ELITE REO BROKERS, A CALIFORNIA S&S; AND DOES 1 THROUGH 10, INCLUSIVE

YOU ARE BEING SUED BY PLAINTIFF (LO ESTÁ DEMANDANDO EL DEMANDANTE): MANUEL BAHENA, AN INDIVIDUAL NOTICE! You have been sued. The court may decide against you without your being heard unless you respond within 30 days. Read the information below.

You have 30 CALENDAR DAYS after this summons and legal papers are served on you to file a written response at this court and have a copy served on the plaintiff. A letter or phone call will not protect you. Your written response must be in proper legal form if you want the court to hear your case. There may be a court form that you can use for your response. You can find these court forms and more information at the California Courts Online Self-Help Center (www.courtinfo.ca.gov/selfhelp), your county library, or the courthouse nearest you. If you cannot pay the filing fee, ask the court clerk for a fee waiver form. If you do not file your response on time, you may lose the case by default, and your wages, money and property may be taken without further warning from the court.

There are other legal requirements. You may want to call an attorney right away. If you do not know an attorney, you may want to call an attorney referral service. If you cannot afford an attorney, you may be eligible for free legal services from a nonprofit legal services program. You can locate these nonprofit groups at the California Legal Services Web site (www.lawhelpcalifornia.org), the California Courts Online Self-Help Center (www.courtinfo.ca.gov/selfhelp), or by contacting your local court or county bar association. NOTE: The court has a statutory lien for waived fees and costs on any settlement or arbitration award of $10,000 or more in a civil case. The court's lien must be paid before the court will dismiss the case. AVISO! Lo ha demandado. Si no responde dentro de 30 días, la corte puede decidir en su contra sin escuchar su versión. Lea la información a continuación. Tiene 30 DÍAS DE CALENDARIO después de que le entreguen esta citación y papeles legales para presentar una respuesta por escrito en esta corte y hacer que se entregue una copia al demandante. Una carta o un llamado telefónico no lo protegen. Su respuesta por escrito tiene que estar en formato legal correcto si desea que procesen su caso en la corte. Es posible que haya un formulario que usted pueda usar para su respuesta. Puede encontrar estos formularios de la corte y más información en el Centro de Ayuda de las Cortes de California (www.sucorte.ca.gov), en la biblioteca de leyes de su condado o en la corte que le quede más cerca. Si no puede pagar la cuota de presentación, pida al secretario de la corte que le dé un formulario de exención de pago de cuotas. Si no presenta su respuesta a tiempo, puede perder el caso por incumplimiento y la corte le podrá quitar su sueldo, dinero y bienes sin más advertencia.

Hay otros requisitos legales. Es recomendable que llame a un abogado inmediatamente. Si no conoce a un abogado, puede llamar a un servicio de remisión a abogados. Si no puede pagar a un abogado, es posible que cumpla con los requisitos para obtener servicios legales gratuitos de un programa de servicios legales sin fines de lucro. Puede encontrar estos grupos sin fines de lucro en sitio web de California Legal Services, (www.lawhelpcalifornia.org), en el Centro de Ayuda de las Cortes de California, (www.sucorte.ca.gov) o poniéndose en contacto con la corte o el colegio de abogados locales. AVISO: Por ley, la corte tiene derecho a reclamar las cuotas y los costos exentos pro imponer un gravamen sobre cualquier recuperación de $10,000 o más de valor recibida mediante un acuerdo o una concesión de arbitraje en un caso de derecho civil. Tiene que pagar el gravamen de la corte antes de que la corte pueda desahcer el caso.

At Downey Unified, we're excited for a new school year

■ The new school year is off to a fast start.

By Bobbi Samperi
President
Board of Education

As August comes to a close, I have to share that I am so happy to have our students and staff back on our campuses!

August 17th marked the first day of school and it has been such a wonderful few weeks since then. Seeing the smiling faces of not just our students, but also of our teachers, staff and families, has been so uplifting.

We kicked off the new school year with "Welcome Back" celebrations put on by our school site staff and our schools' PTAs. I, along with my fellow Board of Education members, cannot thank our staff and families enough for all they have done to welcome back our students in such a positive way after two challenging years.

As we look forward to a wonderful school year, I first want to share how excited I am to be able to continue to serve our Downey Unified students, staff and families as a Board of Education member.

I also want to take this opportunity to congratulate my fellow Board of Education member Martha Sodetani for her well-deserved retirement. She has decided to not run for reelection in November, and with that, I would like to welcome Tyrone Conde who will officially be sworn in as our newest member in December.

Mr. Conde is a proud Downey Unified parent and works for our local Downey Federal Credit Union. I know he will be a valuable addition to our Board.

I would lastly be remiss if I did not congratulate Nancy Swenson for being reelected to our Board for another term. Ms. Swenson has served on the Board of Education since 2005 and her continued presence will further guide our district as we move forward.

Now moving on to some exciting events just around the corner as we head into September... Be on the lookout for dates shared by your child's school as all of our schools will be hosting their "Back to School" nights in the next few weeks.

This is a great opportunity to get a glimpse inside your child's classroom(s), meet their teacher(s) and just get an overall experience of what their day is like at school.

Please make sure that your contact information is up to date with your child's school so you can ensure that you receive all of these important dates and information.

We are also very excited to share that we will be hosting "Community Open House" events at all four of our middle schools and we invite all of our community members and families to attend. We know that many of you who live in the city have seen the progress of these projects as you drive or walk by our schools we wanted to provide an opportunity for anyone interested to get a personal tour of our newly complete construction projects of our middle school campuses.

Please visit web.dusd.net/ openhouses for more details and to RSVP to one or all four of our Community Open House events in September.

Although we are just a few weeks into the 2022-23 school year, I also want to encourage all of our families to get involved in your child's school. Either by volunteering or joining the PTA, if you're able to be a part of your child's educational journey, these are two perfect ways to support your school's culture and help build on the already amazing things that are being done at your child's school.

I was lucky enough to be able to be a part of the PTA during all the phases of my two sons' time in Downey Unified. I started with Alameda PTA, then Ward PTA and then moving up to Sussman (well South, at the time) PTA before deciding to be a part of the Downey Council PTA that supports all of our schools' PTAs.

I can wholeheartedly say that it was such an amazing time for me as a parent, so if I could share any advice as we head into this new school year, get involved and join your school's PTA.

Have a safe and happy

Labor Day weekend everyone!

Sincerely,

Bobbi Samperi, President
Board of Education
