ALMA MARQUEZ LOOKS TO REPLACE HUSBAND ON CITY COUNCIL

By Eric Pierce
Editor

DOWNEY – Alma Marquez, wife of Downey councilman Luis Marquez, is running to replace her husband on the City Council when he is termed out this November.

Alma Marquez was the surprise addition to a list of certified candidates released by Downey city clerk Adria Jimenez on Tuesday.

A graduate of UC Irvine, Alma has worked in state government, most recently as district director for State Sen. Tony Mendoza. She also was a field representative for State Sen. Roderick Wright.

In addition to Marquez, the final list of candidates for District 1 (south Downey) includes attorney Blanca Pacheco and assistant principal Hector Lujan.

Pacheco is an attorney specializing in living trusts, probate and eviction cases. She was president of Downey Kiwanis Club last year.

Her goal as a council member, she said, would be to make sure south Downey isn't overlooked when it comes to public safety, economic development and street repairs.

"I didn't notice the neglect in south Downey until I moved into the district 11 years ago," she said. "We're not south Downey – we're Downey."

Lujan is vice principal at Paramount Adult School and is a Downey Planning Commissioner, appointed by Luis Marquez. He is past commissioner of Downey AYSO.

"If elected, I will do everything possible to continue to look out for the residents and the businesses in our entire community," Lujan said. "Moving forward by seeking ways to ensure safety for our district will be one of my goals. I will encourage the city staff to find ways to keep the city budget balanced. You will see transparency from me."

DISTRICT 3: There were no surprise candidates in District 3 (northwest Downey). Candidates include Frine Medrano, Art Montoya, Louis Morales and Rick Rodriguez.

Medrano is a field director for State Sen. Kevin de Leon, while Montoya is a worker safety specialist for Walt Disney Co.

Morales operates an economic development consulting firm, and Rodriguez is owner of RMI International, a multinational security firm.

DISTRICT 5: Mayor Alex Saab will have competition in his race for re-election.

Art Gonzalez, a Realtor, filed paperwork to run against Saab. District 5 encompasses the entire city of Downey.

As a council member, Saab has prioritized economic development and a greater police presence at local parks.

"Our staff does an incredible job, but the day we get complacent, the day we think things are just fine the way we are, is the day we need to move on as your representatives," Saab said when he was sworn-in as mayor last December.

■ ANNIVERSARY: Downey marks 60th anniversary with Karen Carpenter tribute show.

By Kathy Perez
Contributor

DOWNEY – The newly-renovated Downey Civic Theatre hosted a very special 60th anniversary celebration on Saturday, August 13.

The evening's festivities began at 5:30 p.m. with an Open House which was free to the public. Guests lined up on the red carpet to enter the refurbished lobby adorned with dramatic and artistic banners. They were presented with commemorative 60th anniversary coins inside and were entertained with live piano music. On the second level of the lobby, an extensive art exhibit celebrating the city's and theatre's history was on display.

Guests were invited to enjoy complimentary Cafe n Stuff hors d'oeuvres and beverages graciously served by Soroptimist International volunteers at a no-host bar on the patio. Inside the theatre, Mayor Alex Saab and council members Roger Brossmer and Sean Ashton welcomed everyone, including city manager Gilbert Livas, State Sen. Tony Mendoza, and Congresswoman Lucille Roybal-Allard's senior adviser, Kim Tachiki-Chin.

After a slide show highlighting the programs and performers who have been and will be at the theatre, Mr. Ashton gave a brief history of Downey's last 60 years. Then, Mr. Brossmer spoke about the history of the theatre and its origins with Mr. John Hume and the Downey Children's Theatre. He also listed all of the improvements that have occurred at the theatre, those that have come about because of the management by VenueTech under manager Amber Vogel, and the city monies invested in the renovation.

These improvements include: the new lobby furniture, new air conditioning system, upgraded sound system and multi-media projector, the interior and exterior banners, and the beautiful new restrooms.

The city was presented with a state resolution from Sen. Mendoza and a congressional record from senior adviser Chin in recognition of its 60th anniversary. The audience was then treated to a sneak peek to the evening's concert, with a performance by Michelle Berting Brett, lead singer for "We've Only Just Begun: Carpenters Remembered". Mr. Saab thanked her for bringing her show to Downey (it was their Southern California debut) and presented her with a city proclamation.

After the Open House activities ended, the evening's festivities continued with what many described afterwards as an amazing and most memorable event. Concert-goers were taken on a musical journey through the professional and personal lives of two of Downey's most famous and beloved residents. Ms. Brett described it as a "dream come true".

From the moment she and her husband and the show's producer, Mark Brett, put the tribute show together they thought about Downey. "Wouldn't it be great to play there?" she remembered.

Ms. Brett, backed by her multi-talented 7 piece band, invited the audience to "sing along and sway to the music" as "we invoke, evoke and provoke and conjure up the spirit of their music." After the heartfelt tribute, she exclaimed, "It was heaven from the first moment!"

For those who were fortunate enough to be in the sold-out audience, many who have their own Carpenter story, it was truly a unique experience to listen and sing along to the sweet sounds of our very own Carpenters inside our very own theatre.

"Where Incredible Happens!" is the theatre's slogan and it certainly did on Saturday night at our 60th anniversary celebration.

Teen charged with killing ex-girlfriend in Pico Rivera

PICO RIVERA – A 17-year-old was charged Wednesday with fatally stabbing his former girlfriend in her Pico Rivera home last Friday, the Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office announced.

Rory Murga (dob 4/18/99) of Pico Rivera has been charged as an adult with one count of murder.

The felony complaint includes a special allegation that the defendant personally used a dangerous and deadly weapon, a knife, during the commission of the crime.

Murga was scheduled to be arraigned Aug. 18 at the Los Angeles County Superior Court, Downey Branch. Prosecutors will ask that bail be set at $2 million.

Prosecutors said Murga and the victim, Elena Lillian Moore, 16, had been in a relationship for about a year, but the teen had broken up with the defendant two weeks before the killing.

In the early morning of Aug. 12, Murga reportedly entered the victim's home and stabbed her multiple times before he fled the area, according to prosecutors.

Following the stabbing, the victim's mother heard cries for help, went to the aid of her daughter and called 911, prosecutors said.

Paramedics arrived at the home and pronounced the injured girl dead at the scene, prosecutors added.

On Aug. 16, authorities located Murga near Slauson and Rosemead Avenues in Pico Rivera and arrested him in connection with the killing.

If convicted as charged, Murga faces a maximum possible sentence of 26 years to life in state prison.

The case is being investigated by the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department.

Cerritos begins providing water to Forest Lawn

CERRITOS – The City of Cerritos is now providing recycled water service to Forest Lawn Memorial Park in Cypress as of August 8.

In addition to helping Forest Lawn save more than 250 acre-feet of potable water annually, the expanded service also is expected to generate approximately $50,000 in annual revenue for the city. Forest Lawn has more than 100 acres of lawn area that was previously irrigated with potable water for more than 50 years.

Cerritos embarked on the project to expand the city's recycled water system to serve Forest Lawn in December 2014. The project involved the construction of approximately 8,200 lineal feet of 16-inch-diameter recycled water pipeline starting from Cerritos and continuing through a portion of the cities of Lakewood and Cypress.

The new pipeline crosses two bridges: Coyote Creek, which is shared between Los Angeles County and Orange County, and Moody Creek, located within the Forest Lawn facility.

The project was completed in December 2015, with final approvals received from the state and OC Department of Health in July 2016. The total project cost was approximately $2.6 million. Roughly $1 million of that amount was funded by a California Department of Water Resources grant, with the remaining cost funded by Forest Lawn.

Cerritos is responsible for maintaining the water line and related infrastructure.

"With this latest service to Forest Lawn, the city's recycled water system continues to benefit numerous local agencies, in addition to our own community" said Cerritos Mayor George Ray. "As a result of the City's leadership and foresight in this area, our neighborhoods are blessed with beautiful green parks, schools, lawns and landscaped areas."

Cerritos officials said the city "is committed to conserving natural resources" through the use of a recycled water distribution system, one of the largest systems in California with a 22-mile underground loop. Since 1988 when the system was constructed, the use of recycled water has saved approximately 815 million gallons of drinking water every year.

The recycled water system is used to irrigate more than 200 acres of city-owned property, including the majority of the city's medians, parks, parkways, decorative fountains and schools.

In addition to Forest Lawn, the recycled water system transports water to various local agencies, including the ABC Unified School District, Artesia Cemetery, Caltrans, Central Basin Municipal Water District, Cerritos College, Cerritos Post Office, Cerritos Regional Park, City of Lakewood and Valley Christian Schools.

Downey students return to school

Jackie Trigueros: Kudos to all those parents who decided to make this a family field trip... Bringing kids, grandma, grandpa, Tio, Tia, Nina, neighbors, second cousins twice removed... Filling up the streets and making it totally impossible for cars to pass by even through the green light.

Ken Cook: ...and you don't have to watch them walk through the front gate, as you leave your car double parked, in the middle of the street.

Janet Meier: I remember when we went back to school in mid-September. (Oh Downey, why'd ya do it??)

The $20 million facility, built with proceeds from the district's $75 million Measure W facilities bond, was dedicated the Sandra Sanchez Thorstenson Stadium.

"We are excited to open this new stadium to our schools and community and to honor a visionary, transformational leader – Sandra Thorstenson," Whittier Union Board of Trustees President Leighton Anderson said. "She showed all of us that demographics do not determine destiny and this new stadium demonstrates that every student deserves the right to a first-rate education in high-quality facilities. I want to thank the community for supporting this project and helping us continue to empower our student-athletes on and off the field."

The stadium's scoreboard bears the name "Sandy Thorstenson Stadium."

Thorstenson spent her entire career at Whittier Union, serving in the district since 1977 and making her personal mark on all five comprehensive high schools. The Whittier High grad began her career as a teacher at Pioneer High School, before becoming an assistant principal at Cal High. She was then assistant principal and principal at Santa Fe High School. She is also the parent of a La Serna High School graduate.

"I am beyond humbled and honored to have the state of the art sports facility named after me. It's something I would have never dreamed when I was growing up in this very community," Thorstenson said. "It's a testament to the collaborative success of Whittier Union, and all the talented staff and supporters of this District, who ensure we leave a lasting impact for every student that walks through our schools."

During the celebration, visitors toured the stadium, which will be shared among California, La Serna and Whittier high schools, and saw firsthand the many improvements it will offer to the school community, including enhanced seating capacity – with 2,000 seats for visitors and 5,000 seats for the home team – and upgrades that include an all-weather track, renovated soccer fields, outdoor basketball and volleyball courts,

As with Everything in Turkey, Our Trip to Cappadocia Was Loosely Organized and Not Explained
An indication of the hotel would be this:
I spread towels on the dresser before putting out our things.
It was hot but we wandered dutifully behind Ibrahim as he explained the ruins.
We were bombarded by peddlers trying to sell us wallets.
None of us really knew what to look for and it is obvious that we didn't get the most from the trip. I bought a string of strangely shaped amber beads which I have since been told by an expert are really "quite special." We changed to an Old World hotel frequented by Winston Churchill. It was apparent to us—after we didn't get served in the main dining room—that we were not their favorite customers. Just as I fell asleep, I heard Sam exclaim that he had not loaded the camera correctly. All the pictures we took were now never taken. All we had left was a flower given to me by a little girl to whom I gave candy. We are not sure if the trip was worth it. But we would never have known if we had not gone.

NEWS BRIEFS: Acapulco remodels, hookah lounge OK'd for live bands

By Eric Pierce
Editor

After extensive remodeling, the Acapulco restaurant at Stonewood Center unveiled its fresh, new look at a grand re-opening last week.

The restaurant features a new cantina, dining room, two outdoor patios, and an updated main entrance next to the indoor-outdoor bar.

"Our guests are going to be blown away," said Bryan Lockwood, chief executive officer of Acapulco's parent company, Real Mex Restaurants. "The Acapulco brand has always been about the feeling of vacation and relaxation, served up with fresh food and drinks. The new redesign provides a perfect setting for that everyday escape. I couldn't be more pleased with the new look at our Downey location."

The 9,250 sq. ft., 255-seat restaurant has occupied its same location at Firestone and Lakewood boulevards since 1989. Its re-design was inspired by vacations to Mexico and resorts of the Mexican Riviera, company officials said.

The renovated cantina features a new tile floor, bar top, and all new stools, tables and chairs. The bold painted wall treatment was inspired by intricate Mexican tiles.

The tables, chairs, booths and light fixtures in the dining room are also new, and the decor is highlighted with the restaurant's own take on vintage travel posters from the resort region.

A fireplace was added to the dining area, along with a firewall to the front patio. The 20-ft. long, glass-enclosed trough has flames dancing up above the patio wall.

In addition to the makeover, Acapulco also revamped its menu to include dishes like chimichurri poke tacos, pozole by the sea, crab and shrimp enchiladas, and tropical salmon. A coconut margarita was added to the cocktail list, along with an Oreo cookie ice cream torte to the dessert menu.

The remodeled Acapulco will employ 130 workers, with an additional 20 expected to be hired by mid-September, company officials said.

A downtown hookah lounge had its request for a live entertainment permit granted by the Planning Commission on Wednesday, allowing it to host live bands and DJs.

Hookah Hub, located at 8323 Firestone Blvd., is a smoking lounge exclusively for hookah pipes. The 2,720 sq. ft. storefront was previously the Hookah Time Lounge until it was taken over by current owner Emad Hanna last year.

Under Hanna's proposal, Hookah Hub will be allowed to host live and amplified music -- along with dancing -- from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Sunday through Thursday, and until 1:30 a.m. Friday and Saturday.

The hookah lounge will install a 12 ft. by 15 ft. dance floor, and a separate area for bands and a DJ.

City planners endorsed the application, noting that live entertainment would help draw customers to Downey's downtown.

"[Allowing] live entertainment will attract patrons to the Firestone

Business Spotlight:

It all started when Maria Mojica got a job at GNC in downtown Los Angeles. It was the 80's, and at that point and time, GNC was known as General Nutrition Center and did not have any franchise locations. However, in 1989 that changed, and by this time, Maria had become a corporate manager. In 1993, she decided to take a leap of faith and open her very own franchise location in Fontana, California. Then, in 1998, her brother Salvador Mojica joined the team and opened another location in Rosemead, California.

This is where our story begins. Ruben Mojica and Cathy Mojica are cousins. They grew up always being at each other homes, and therefore, have always been very close. When their parents opened their own shops, they began working there. In time, they grew to love the business. Little by little, they took on more and more responsibilities. Before they knew it, their parents relied on them to help their businesses grow.

It was then that they realized they wanted to get their own location. Ruben and Cathy both bring different sets of skills that together make them better at what they do. They are really excited to open their very first location in Downey. They both have over 18 years of experience and can't wait to share their knowledge with others.

GNC is a specialty retailer of health and wellness products, including vitamins, minerals and herbal supplements, sports nutrition products and diet products. GNC began in 1935, as a single store on Wood Street in downtown Pittsburgh to today's more than 8,300 retail locations throughout the United States and in over 50 international markets.

Boulevard Gateway District, which is consistent with other downtown businesses," assistant city planner Kevin Nguyen wrote in a report to the Planning Commission, which will make a final determination on the application Wednesday.

"However, to avoid future noise problems, staff has recommended a condition requiring that all entry and exit doors to and from the business shall remain closed during the hours when live entertainment is permitted."

Planning Commissioners approved the permit but with additional conditions to protect residents of The View housing development. They also voted to bring back the case in six months for review.

Downey-based Southern California Resource Services for Independent Living (or SCRS-IL for short) has announced plans for its first ever Disability Pride Parade, taking place Sunday, Oct. 9, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Downey.

"The Disability Pride Parade is an opportunity to celebrate and strengthen the pride, diversity and unity of people with disabilities, their families and friends," the organization said in a news release. The parade will begin and end in SCRS-IL's parking lot near Apollo Park. The full route is posted online at disabilityprideladea.com.

From KTLA: Carlos Gomez, of Downey, had been doing business with Rojas for about nine years, and even considered him a family friend.

He had planned a vacation with 14 other family members to Cancun through Rojas, but when he called the airline to change his flight, he discovered it had never been booked. The same thing happened with the hotel he and his family were planning to stay in.

"We ended up losing everything at the same time," he said. The ordeal cost him $19,000, Gomez said.

NEWS BRIEFS: Comedic plays, library auctions, new UCLA alumni president

■ "Bills Shorts Two: Chart-Topping Comedies" is heading into its final week of performances at the Epic Lounge in downtown Downey.

The 90-minute show features five short comedic performances. Sylvia Blush is the director.

Performances include:

"French Toast" by Bill Blush (10 minutes): Mop in hand and a song in his heart a free-spirited techie challenges authority to think outside the box.

"Run To You" by Megan Breen (10 minutes and directed by Julianna Stephanie Ojeda): An eccentric couple's happy romance is put to the test when something vital to their bliss takes off to search for its own.

"Linda" by Diana Burbano (10 minutes): A story of finding your inner hero.

"Song of the Armadillo" by Forrest Hartl (10 minutes): Adapted from a Bolivian folktale, Song Of the Armadillo follows the journey of Pichi, a small armadillo with big dreams.

"Damn You Kenny!" by Bill Blush (30 minutes): A leader desperately tries to hold on to his group's ethics as a bi-weekly meeting slowly spirals out of control.

Below is a list of cast members:

Chloe Tatiana Avila: In 2012 she was the rhythm composer for "Electricidad" directed by Sylvia Blush. She's a member of the Improv troupe G.I.P.S. & recent work include: Trickster at Knott's Scary Farm, "Interludes" by Miguel de Cervantes & "Late Night Burnright".

Juan Enrique Carrillo has worked with immigrants, organizing day laborers and domestic workers throughout Los Angeles and incorporating Theatre of the Oppressed (TO) techniques based on the work of Augusto Boal. He was awarded a Center Theatre Group Educators Fellowship and his first solo piece will be published in the anthology, Palabras del Cielo: A Critical Anthology of Latina/o TYA Plays and Playwrights.

Jessica Delgadillo debuted in Miguel de Cervantes's "Interludes" at Cerritos College. She has performed with the G.I.P.S. Improv touring troupe and had the pleasure of writing and acting in various sketches in "Late Night Burnright".

Andrea Eparza recently graduated from Cal State Dominguez Hills receiving her BA in Anthropology with a Minor in Theater performance. She was invited to showcase "Linda" by Diana Burbano at Viva La Muxer and the 10 Minute Play Festival Teatro Frida Kahlo Theater.

Alberie Rachele Hansen, a city of Downey native and California State University, Fullerton graduate, Alberie has trained extensively at Trinity St David University of Carmarthen Wales UK and Beverly Hills Playhouse - Los Angeles. She recently finished a short film "Hollywood Mouth 3" with Jordan Mohr and is starting production on "Claude" with Lime Train productions.

Forrest Hartl studied drama at UC Berkeley (B.A.) and playwriting at U.S.C. (M.F.A.). His plays tour with Kaiser Permanente's Educational Theatre Programs and his short play, Mass Effect, is published by PlayGround-LA publications. His short film "A Boy and His Dad" won the award of merit at the 2015 Catalina Film Festival.

■ Over 50 UCLA Alumni from the Southeast Los Angeles Region welcomed Downey attorney Ricardo Perez, who has been named president of the Southeast Bruins, and the incoming Board of Directors at an event Aug. 16 at Downey's Lock & Key.

Its aim was to invite alumni to engage in the association and to kickoff a new year of programming.

Known officially as the UCLA Alumni Los Angeles Southeast Network, the association is officially recognized by UCLA and strives to create a sense of community among the 5,000 UCLA alumni in the area.

Alumni consist of individuals in multiple professions, and includes attorneys, engineers, doctors, educators, judges, business owners, elected officials and more.

Programming for the Southeast Bruins includes networking events, student activities, family-friendly events, and game-viewing parties at Joseph's in Downey. There are community service components as well, including a Thanksgiving turkey and food drive in Maywood and a holiday teddy bear drive benefiting children fighting cancer.

Events are held throughout the Southeast Region, including an annual "Send-Off" in South Gate for newly admitted students, and an annual networking event in Whittier.

For more information about the events or the group, contact Ricardo Perez, Southeast Bruins president, at rperez@alumni.ucla.edu.

■ Assemblywoman Cristina Garcia's proposal to eliminate taxes on feminine hygiene products has passed the Senate Appropriations Committee, bringing it "a step closer to bringing gender equity to our state tax code," Garcia said.

The measure, jointly authored by Garcia and Republican Ling Ling Chang, would exempt tampons, sanitary napkins, menstrual cups, and menstrual sponges from state sales and uses taxes.

■ The Downey Police Department posted photos on Facebook of its gym, which was decorated in memory of fallen officer Ricky Galvez.

■ Century 21 Jervis and Assoc. will be hosting a free home-buying seminar Saturday, Aug. 27, at 10 a.m.

Their office is located at 10841 Paramount Blvd., Suite 200. Call (562) 862-2226 for more details.

■ Former Downey educator Craig Bertsch died Saturday. Not many details were released surrounding his death.

Bertsch was a longtime teacher and vice principal at Downey Unified.

He left to become director of administrative services for the Fullerton school district in 2011, and last year was promoted to assistant superintendent of personnel services.

He graduated from Downey High School.

■ The L.A. County Sheriff's Department's Special Enforcement Bureau, more commonly known as SWAT, were awarded Citations of Valor Wednesday night for their actions during the hostage incident at Chris 'N Pitts last year.

Street sweeping ticket

Dear Editor:

So the city of Downey has found a new revenue stream, giving parking tickets to parked cars that parked after the sweeper has passed.

Last Wednesday, I was home recovering from two teeth extractions when I was told the sweeper was coming. I ran out and drove around the block several times as the sweeper made its way to the front of the house. I passed the Parking Enforcement twice as she handed out other tickets.

A few more turns around the block, and the sweeper train had passed and I parked my car. The Parking Enforcement person saw me park, we made eye contact. I went into the house knowing I had avoided the ticket. The next morning there it was the extortion request clipped to my windshield.

This is yet another reason I will not be voting for a tax increase to fill the coffers even more. This blatant racketeering style of government has to stop.

Coyote attack

Dear Editor:

I moved to Downey about a month ago from South Gate. We moved near the mall, north Downey to be safer. But that was a mistake.

Saturday, Aug. 13, at 9 a.m., I woke up to find my poodle, Lola, in my backyard -- heart, stomach, and half her rib cage gone. Her, gone. I screamed and called family to help me and put my husky inside the house. Sadly, it hit me harder to realize I'd probably walked past her dead body earlier that morning.

At 5 in the morning I rushed to the door to find a cop there to let me know a neighbor called to report hearing a dog crying badly. I rushed into my dark backyard and the cop helped me find my husky pup quivering, crying in the side passageway next to my garage. I assumed it was him who they called about.

Still half asleep, I carried him on into the house as I called out for Lola to come in too. But nothing, and I couldn't see anything; none of the lights were bright enough to shed light towards our lemon tree by where she lay dead. I foolishly settled for the thought that she may be asleep on the other side of the yard.

Now I look back and feel stupid. Lola would never deny the opportunity to come inside. She loved being with my dad in his comfy chair. I'd had her since middle school; she was barely going to turn 8.

I noticed my husky pup was taking long to fall asleep; he usually knocks out like a light. Eventually he did fall asleep as did I. But at 9 in the morning my husky woke me to take him out to take care of necessities, and when I opened the curtains to the slide door towards the backyard, I saw Lola laying there motionless. And I saw half of her is white and the other half, with a gaping hole, is blood red.

I called SEAAACA immediately to ask them to remove the body because I couldn't sum up the courage to do so. Hours passed and they never came so my boyfriend came to do me the favor. SEAAACA said it was a coyote attack and when my father checked our cameras, we realized they were right.

Just twenty minutes before I went out to check what the cop was referring to, the coyote had jumped in by the gate at my window, and attacked her while she slept outside my parents' bedroom. After my husky heard that, I assume he bolted into the darkest corner he could find and waited to be saved. After the coyote finished feasting on my poodle, he ran in the direction of the husky but disappeared from the camera's view.

I never thought I would lose her like that. I didn't even know Downey had coyotes. I thought this city was safe and now I come to find out neighbors have seen packs of them directly down my street? It infuriates me that nothing has been done to attempt to limit their access in our direction.

The danger of time they feast begins at sun down and ends around sunrise. That's about an entire 12 hours of either another beloved pet being attacked, or even a child. I can't even feel comfortable letting my niece play in the backyard or stepping out of my car to walk to my door.

Something needs to be done. Knowing the danger now, finding my little angel that way, I'm traumatized from the experience alone and I haven't slept a single night without the same nightmare since that night. We need to take precautions. It hurts to feel sorry than safe.

Defending Hillary

Dear Editor:

It is apparent that Martha Morrissy-Call feels that Hillary Clinton should be raked over the coals continually for mishandling her emails, and for allegedly causing the deaths of four people in Benghazi (Letters to the Editor, 8/11/16).

In regards to the emails, FBI Director James B. Comey (a lifelong Republican) concluded that nothing illegal was done in Clinton's handling of her emails. Subsequently, the Justice Department accepted his conclusions and formally closed the investigation.

As for Benghazi, the House Select Committee on Benghazi, which was chaired by Rep. Trey Gowdy (a Republican from South Carolina) spent 17 months and $4.5 million of taxpayer money only to conclude that Clinton's actions before, during or after the Sept. 11, 2012 attack weren't to blame for the incident.

Ms. Morrissy-Call should look at the bright side; perhaps her candidate, Donald Trump, will win in November. I'll bet she can just see him sitting in the Oval Office with his feet up on the desk, smoking a victory cigar.

The media's responsibility to our democracy

By Lee H. Hamilton

Politicians spend a good bit of their time complaining about the media. But why should they have all the fun?

I'm going to join in, though I tend to get upset about different things than most sitting politicians do. You see, I don't actually mind when journalists — whether in print, on television or online — treat what politicians say with skepticism. That means they're doing their jobs.

But this doesn't happen nearly as much these days as it should. The media today is less objective, more ideological, and much showier than it once was. What you see can be eye-catching — both the graphics and the personalities — but it is also brash and relentlessly self-promoting. A lot of journalists don't just want to report the news, they want to be players and affect policy. They see politics as a blood sport, often exaggerating the differences among players.

As one observer said, the media is drawn to “superficiality, sensationalism, scandal, and sleaze.” They're all too happy to seize on small points of contention and fan them into major points of discord. They make building a consensus — the key task of the democratic process — much harder.

The field has been moving in this direction over decades, and there's a reason for it: all these changes have been well received by the public. They draw viewers, readers and clicks. And they've encouraged consumers to pay attention only to the sources that reflect and broadcast their own viewpoint.

I don't want to be a fogey here. Yes, I grew up in the days of Edward R. Murrow and Walter Cronkite, and I still think they were solid journalists, but what I miss is not the voice-of-authority-from-on-high that's so often associated with them. Instead, what I too often find lacking now is the spirit that drove the profession in those days. I think the news media had a sense of responsibility to make representative democracy function. Journalists imbued their work with a palpable sense that they were involved in a public service.

There are still really excellent journalists out there who are doing their best to serve both their profession and the country. Every day they struggle to make sense of enormously complex events. What they understand — and what I wish more of their colleagues believed — is that democracy demands

America's racial wealth divide is shocking

By Dedrick Asante-Muhammad and Chuck Collins

Most media coverage of racial injustice has understandably focused on our country's unfair policing and criminal justice system. But to fully understand the current reality of racial inequality in America, we also need to take an honest look at our nation's shocking wealth disparities.

Wealth — the total assets a family owns after the bills are paid — is the safety net we all need to help us get through the tough times and invest in our futures. And its polarization along racial lines is striking.

The average wealth for white households is $656,000. For Latinos it's $98,000, and for black households it's just $85,000. The average wealth of black and Latinos combined still doesn't come close to half of white wealth.

And while white wealth continues to grow substantially, any gains in black and Latino wealth pale in comparison. Current estimates show that if nothing changes, the racial wealth divide will grow to $1 million by 2043.

In fact, it'll take the average black family 228 years to accrue the same amount of wealth that white families have today. That's just 17 years shorter than the centuries-long institution of slavery in the U.S. For Latinos, it'll take 84 years to reach average white wealth today.

Generations of racial discrimination in programs like housing and government benefits are now reflected in dismal bank statements and paltry retirement funds for blacks and Latinos.

Moon hoax

Dear Editor:

Another year has passed this July since our alleged moon landing, which happened 57 years ago.

Our government has stated that we have a satellite that can read a license plate on Earth, that oxygen is not a hindrance. So we should aim this satellite at the moon -- which has no oxygen or clouds -- and show us the six flags and six plaques and the six landers and the three lunar rovers.

But we all know this will never happen. Because it never did happen. They show us photos that are about 70-75 miles high up and difficult to discern.

America, it never happened.

Demon Democrats

Dear Editor:

Who has the JV team? Is it not the Democratic Party?

Who is bringing in the refugees and trying to fool us into believing the lie that they have been property vetted? The FBI nor the Attorney General can properly vet or investigate Hillary Clinton. Loretta Lynch met “privately” with Bill to discuss grandchildren and anyone who believe this -- I have a beautiful yacht on the coastline in the Saudi Arabian desert that I'd like them to have.

This is the only time this has happened. There is always a staffer present. So were they discussing letting Hillary off the email scandal, or perhaps the Clinton Foundation?

President Obama and the Democrats are trying to take guns. Was it a gun that killed the 3,000 in the Twin Towers, or the bomber in the Boston Marathon or now the French people celebrating Bastille Day, mowed down by a truck? Maybe the Democrats should outlaw trucks or airplanes.

Or maybe we need some people in high offices who aren't on the JV team. We should not let one more refugee in this country. Ben Carson has the solution -- send food, tents, etc. over there. It wouldn't cost us nearly as much as supporting them here for the rest of their lives. You know refugees have the same rights as U.S. citizens.

I can't believe anyone would vote for Hillary Clinton or Bernie Sanders. Even those who would receive someone else's money would have the intelligence to realize that this money will run out and who is going to pay the $20 trillion debt? For heaven's sake, wake up and smell the coffee, if you have enough money left to buy a cup.

Anyone who cares about the U.S. and their families had better call President Obama, senators Feinstein and Boxer, and Gov. Brown and tell them to stop bringing refugees in or settle them only in D.C.

I'm fed up!

journalism that improves its workings. Properly done, journalism can bridge differences, help consensus emerge, improve the knowledge and judgment of voters, and sharpen the performance of public officials and government as a whole.

In the end, the democratic process is about overcoming disagreement. This is virtually impossible without a solid base of information and analysis.

Governing well is immensely difficult, and good journalism can keep government open and honest — which serves not just the voters, but politicians who are trying to resolve the problems facing the country. Journalists can and should be watchdogs, keeping a watchful eye on politicians — what they do, what they say...and what they don't do or say. They should serve not just the elites, but the underdogs and have-nots in society.

The independence of our press was hard to win, and it's vital that we sustain it. People must have sources they can rely on in order to make our system work. Our democracy needs well-informed citizens making decisions based on facts about both policies and politicians.

This means that the model of the journalist that seems to be going out of fashion — reporters who were reasonably objective, independent of outside groups, and even independent of their company's owners — is actually crucial to representative government. Curious, skeptical journalists who point out inconsistencies, draw attention to mistakes, call out misleading statements, and identify outright lies serve a larger purpose: they provide citizens what they need to know in order to be a good citizen, and public officials what they need in order to do their work well.

This is quite an ideal, especially in this age of economic turmoil within the media universe. But I don't think it's too much to hope that as the profession sorts out its future, it takes seriously its leadership role in advancing the public good, and doesn't sacrifice its part in making representative democracy work properly.

Lee Hamilton is a Senior Advisor for the Indiana University Center on Representative Government; a Distinguished Scholar, IU School of Global and International Studies; and a Professor of Practice, IU School of Public and Environmental Affairs. He was a member of the U.S. House of Representatives for 34 years.

In particular, racial bias in mortgage lending — known as redlining — has consistently barred communities of color from the wealth-building train, resulting in low homeownership rates.

After World War II, for example, predominately white families received government-subsidized mortgages that allowed them to purchase homes, while black families didn't. The result has played out over generations: Today, more than 70 percent of whites own homes, compared with only 41 percent of blacks and 45 percent of Latinos.

For many blacks and Latinos, a lack of assets has contributed to economic insecurity and sometimes-heartbreaking reversals of fortune. This explains the dizzying disparities in retirement savings: The average white household in the U.S. today has $130,000 in retirement funds, while average black and Latino households have $19,000 and $12,300, respectively.

The younger generation isn't doing any better. College debt is rising for all races, and nearly half the workforce earns less than $15 an hour — barely enough to pay the bills.

The structures in place driving these inequalities, like tax cuts for the wealthy and global trade deals that drive down wages, amplify existing racial wealth divisions. They pit low-wage workers of all races against each other, leaving us vulnerable to the politics of blame and deflection.

The good news is we can reverse these trends through public policies that both reduce overall inequality and close the racial wealth divide.

First, we should fix the upside-down system of tax incentives that currently flows almost exclusively to wealthy households. We should redirect the $650 billion a year Congress allocates in tax subsidies to support first-time homebuyers and first-generation college students.

Additionally, taxing multi-million dollar inheritances and investing in tuition-free higher education are approaches that can expand wealth and opportunity for everyone.

We can reverse the racial wealth divide if we understand our history of racial discrimination and press lawmakers to stand on the side of opportunity, not inequality.

Dedrick Asante-Muhammad directs the Racial Wealth Divide Initiative at the Corporation for Enterprise Development. Chuck Collins is a senior scholar at Institute for Policy Studies and author of Born On Third Base. They are co-authors of the report, The Ever-Growing Gap.

Trump buddies up to Putin

By Jim Hightower

Please, people — stop denigrating Donald Trump as a foreign policy ignoramus.

After all, he's a global real estate tycoon with special insights into U.S. adversaries, like Vladimir Putin of Russia. “I got to know him very well,” The Donald has assured us voters. Only, it turns out, by “very well” he meant “not at all.” He later conceded that he's never actually, you know, met Putin.

Still, Trump says he's taken measure of the authoritarian Russian president from his corporate perch atop Trump Tower, concluding admiringly that Putin is “a lot stronger than our leader.”

Sure, if by stronger he means violently suppressing any opposition, stealing billions of dollars from the public for himself and his chosen oligarchs, or invading neighboring Ukraine.

Picky-picky-picky, says Donnie, who's so enamored with Putin he publicly pleaded with the foreign strongman to hack into Hillary Clinton's computers in order to interfere with the U.S. presidential election.

“Russia,” Trump called out during a July press conference, “if you're listening, I hope you're able to find the 30,000 emails that are missing.” No need for Putin to outmaneuver the United States when clueless Donald would willingly surrender our people's democratic sovereignty to him.

Amazingly, while top Republican officials say they're horrified by Trump's twisted and traitorous invitation to Putin, they still say he should be president, shrugging it off as Donald being Donald. Imagine their scathing derision if the Democrats had invited Putin to intervene.

It's time for people to stop writing off Trump's dangerous shallowness as “entertaining.” After all, “Bumbling Bumpkin for President” wouldn't even make a good TV show.

Jim Hightower is a radio commentator, writer, and public speaker. He's the editor of the populist newsletter, The Hightower Lowdown.

Sports Briefs: Downey football in final preparations for season opener

■ FOOTBALL: Vikings scrimmage against Orange Lutheran Friday night, begin season next week.

By Mark Fetter Contributor

DOWNEY - The Downey High School football team will officially begin their 2016 season when they travel to San Pedro next Friday night. Downey won last year's game 13-2 at Downey.

The Vikings will scrimmage Orange Lutheran tonight at 6:00 p.m. in a final tune-up in preparation for next week.

The Downey offense will be led by senior quarterback Trevor Hill. Hill started as a sophomore and split time last season as a junior with Rafeeq Rahim. Hill will have weapons on offense to help move the ball. Senior running back Emari Demercado returns bigger, faster and stronger from a season ago and will be joined in the backfield by senior Asfunso Elam.

The offensive line will be led by senior Joaquin Nunez and juniors Steven George and Anthony Montes. Nunez, George and Montes plan to keep Hill upright in the pocket and create holes for Demercado and Elam to run through.

Coach Jack Williams believes that Dominguez and cross-town rival Warren will be the teams to beat in S.G.V.L. play. Williams sees his team this year as "more explosive" from a season ago and "should be fun to watch."

Downey will travel to San Pedro in week one, will host Hart in week two, will host Burbank in week three, will travel to Millikan in week four and will host Chino Hills in week five. Downey will have their bye week in week six in preparation for the start of league play.

The Vikings will begin S.G.V.L. play in week seven when they travel to Lynwood, will host Warren in week eight, will host Gahr in week nine and will travel to Paramount in their league finale in week ten.

■ The Downey High School football team kicks off their 2016 season when they travel to San Pedro next Friday night.

San Pedro finished last season with an overall record of 7-5 and were 3-2 in Marine League play. The Pirates have a new head coach this year in Corey Miller. Miller was the defensive coordinator for San Pedro last year and is now the man in charge.

Downey's strength on offense will be the play of the offensive line, quarterback and running back positions. The strength of Downey's defense will be their defensive line. Seniors Eli Garcia, Andrew Vodicka, Sebastian Martinez and Josh Cooper will anchor a defense that will be very good up front. The linebacking corps will be athletic but young and senior defensive back Michael Cabrera will lead by example in the secondary.

Coach Williams likes the chemistry of this team and is looking forward to what should be an exciting season. Downey finished last season with an overall record of 7-5 and were 4-1 in San Gabriel Valley League play. The Vikings were tri-champions last season with Dominguez and cross-town rival Warren, respectively.

The Vikings will no longer compete in the C.I.F. Southeast Division but will now compete in C.I.F. Division Four. Downey will be joined in Division Four by Dominguez as the only other S.G.V.L. school.

Paramount will now be in Division Six, Warren will now be in Division Seven, Lynwood will now be in Division Nine and Gahr will now be in Division Ten.

Downey has a preseason national rank of 4505 and are ranked 318 in California.

■ The Warren High School girls' basketball team has had a busy summer.

The girls have played in several college viewing Nike Invitational Tournaments since March and have placed fifth or higher in each. These tournaments have provided the Lady Bears an opportunity to be seen by several college coaches ranging from Division One to NAIA and have opened those doors to be able to compete at the next level.

Warren currently has girls in correspondence with CSULB, Cal Berkeley, Biola University, Concordia, Pomona Pitzer and more.

The Lady Bears have traveled to Las Vegas and Oregon and other areas this summer and have been challenged by some of the best players on the west coast. Warren was fully sponsored by Under Armor this summer while competing.

The Lady Bears attended the EOT in Portland, Oregon, after the 4th of July. Warren finished with a record of 2-2, which was sixth out of 128 teams. The highlight of the Portland Tournament was defeating the Canadian National team.

The Warren girls' basketball program was also busy training and competing to better prepare themselves for the next level. Lady Bears attended team camps and elite camps at local colleges but also those further in distance.

The team was also able to hold their own skills and elite camps this year by inviting boys and girls to come and better their skills at Warren High School. The Lady Bears went to Doty Middle School this summer and put on a basketball clinic in the school cafeteria. The Lady Bears read a book to students called "Oh the Places You'll Go" by Dr. Seuss. That book was donated to the school library on behalf of the Warren High School girls' basketball team.

The Lady Bears are coming out of their C.I.F. mandated "Dead Period" and will begin preparing for another huge Nike invite college viewing in September.

Warren alumni also returned to the gym to do their college workouts to stay in shape and prepare for their college seasons. The Lady Bears also sent standout athlete Janeane Hernandez off to Baker University in Kansas where she received a full scholarship to run and play basketball.

Franny Vaalu returned from Germany and will now be the head JV coach and Varsity assistant coach alongside Monterey Bay alumni and former Lady Bear Tahja Matthews. Other Lady Bears have also returned to college for another year of school and basketball. Danielle Rodriguez was able to go to China with the USA basketball team on a tour and is now preparing to play basketball overseas.

A list of fall clinics will be offered to those in the community who want to build and strengthen skills throughout the fall. Clinics will focus on individual skills as well as position work. Please contact Warren girls' basketball coach Rachel Palmer at rpalmer@dusd.net with further questions.

■ The Downey Unified School District has released the 2016-17 middle school sport's schedule. It will once again feature five rotations of different sports and will begin in mid-September and end in mid-May.

The first rotation will be football and girls' volleyball, the second rotation will be boys' volleyball and girls' soccer, the third rotation will be basketball for boys and girls and boys' soccer, the fourth rotation will be baseball and softball and the fifth and final rotation will be boy's and girl's track and field.

Competitions will begin on Monday, September 19, with football and volleyball and will conclude on Friday, May 19, with the all-city district track and field meet at Downey High School.

Boys' football and girls' volleyball are the first rotation and feature six games for each school. On Monday, September 19, Sussman will travel to Griffiths and Doty will host Stauffer. On Wednesday, September 21, Doty will travel to Sussman and Stauffer will host Griffiths. On Monday, September 26, Griffiths will travel to Doty and Sussman will host Stauffer.

On Wednesday, September 28,

Griffiths will travel to Sussman and Stauffer will host Doty. On Monday, October 3, Sussman will travel to Doty and Griffiths will host Stauffer. On Wednesday, October 5, Doty will travel to Griffiths and Stauffer will host Sussman.

The school who has the best record at each level of competition will be declared the city champion. There will be six city championships up for grabs in the first rotation. Eighth, seventh and sixth grade football as well as eighth, seventh and sixth grade girls' volleyball.

Games will begin at 2:15 p.m., 3:10 p.m. and 4:05 p.m. for both football and volleyball, respectively. Eighth grade teams will play first followed by seventh grade and then sixth grade.

Free after-school program for kids

DOWNEY - Downey's Park and Recreation Department is offering a free after-school "Playground Adventurers" program at local parks for children ages 6-12.

The program operates daily from 3-6 p.m. with outdoor activities and homework help. The program, which does not operate on school holidays, is offered at Apollo, Dennis the Menace, Furman, Golden and Rio San Gabriel parks.

The program is free but registration is required. Call (562) 904-7238 for more information.

Shared Stories: A vibrating experience

The pitfalls of dating are a category of experience that has not changed over time. Women young and old can relate to Helen Hampton's dilemma after a lovely dinner with someone she knew from work. Shared Stories is a weekly column featuring articles by participants in a writing class at the Norwalk Senior Center. Bonnie Mansell is the instructor for this free class offered through the Cerritos College Adult Education Program. Curated by Carol Kearns

By Helen Hampton

Years ago in 1961, when my babies were 2 ½ years old, I was working at a small hospital in Bellflower called St. Helen's. I worked the 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. shift in the office. I was single at the time, so when one of the doctors asked me out, I decided to go.

We had a lovely dinner at the Lafayette Hotel in Long Beach. We talked and laughed and had a delightful evening. On the way home, he asked me if I would like to see his office with his brand-new vibrating table.

He was so proud of it, as it was very expensive and the latest thing. So I said yes, and we proceeded to his office. We went in and he turned the lights on, took my coat, and hung it on the coat tree.

He proceeded to walk me through the office, showing me the business office, the kitchen where the nurses would make coffee and have lunch, and Examining Rooms #1, #2, and #3. Then we came to the room with the vibrating table, and I exclaimed how beautiful it was. He asked if I would like to lie down on it and try it out. I said sure, why not?

When I was resting comfortably on it, he started it up. It was vibrating slowly and felt really nice. He cranked up the power and it was vibrating so much that I was flopping all over the table.

Then he tried to jump on top of me and I let out this ungodly scream and pushed him off! He got really mad, stopped the table from vibrating and curtly told me that he would take me home.

He stomped out of the room and started turning off all the lights as he went along, leaving me to find my way out in the dark. He retrieved my coat and threw it at me. We didn't speak all the way back. He let me out two blocks from my house, sped off with tires squealing, and left me to walk the rest of the way home.

Needless to say, it was a bit awkward back at the hospital whenever I would see him in the hallway or the break room. At least it taught me a lesson - never go to see anyone's office at night, especially if they have a vibrating table.

NEWS BRIEFS: Downey Adult School student pursues life long dream

• Laura Perea was a stay-at-home mom raising four children, including one son who is wheelchair bound due to cerebral palsy.

Because of her son's profound cerebral palsy, his level of care added significantly to Perea's responsibilities as a homemaker, mother and wife; yet, this did not affect her nature to always be cheerful and ready to lend a hand to anyone who needed help.

Facing yet another hurdle, Perea's husband regrettably lost his job and the need to sell their home became evident. Upon selling their home, she decided to use the equity to invest in herself: taking the leap to pursue her lifelong dream of becoming a Licensed Vocational Nurse (LVN) to further provide for her family. With the help and support of her husband and family, she entered the Vocational Nursing Program at Downey Adult School (DAS).

This year-long course requires 32 hours per week of classroom instruction and clinical hands-on training; not taking into account the additional hours one devotes to study, preparing for exams and volunteer.

True to form, Perea managed her time wisely, balanced school and family commitments, and emerged as a natural leader to become her class' most valuable member.

"Laura assisted other students by participating in study groups and also helping others understand the course material," said Mariana Pacheco,

Director of Nursing at Downey Adult School. "When a student needed help, whether it was in the classroom or in their personal life, she always extended a helping hand. Laura became known as the 'class mom' willing to help others with their studies, community service and life. She was the first to say yes and the last to leave."

During the time she was a student at DAS, Perea participated in several volunteer events. During the Special Olympics, she assisted at the first aid stations throughout the city of Downey, which was a host city to Ireland; she assisted at the Care Harbor Los Angeles Health Fair and aided in many Downey Unified health related events.

Perea has successfully completed the Vocational Nursing program at DAS and is preparing to take the state exam. Completing the DAS program will put her one step closer to achieving her ultimate goal of becoming a Registered Nurse and, because DAS has a 96% Completion, Placement and Licensure rate, soon she will be a LVN in the State of California.

Once Perea obtains her LVN, she wishes to work with elderly patients in a skilled facility or clinic where she can continue to help others in need.

• The Sky Knight helicopter program, the nation's first helicopter law enforcement patrol program that services the cities of Cerritos and Lakewood, recently added two Robinson R-44 helicopters to its fleet.

The newly acquired Robinson helicopters will replace the current Sikorsky 300C helicopters. The R-44 is larger, faster and can carry more specialized equipment than the previous Sky Knight helicopters.

The R-44 is now equipped with a FLIR thermal imaging system, which allows an operator to monitor body heat from the air, and a moving map system to help with navigation.

Established in 1966 and based at the Long Beach Airport, the Sky Knight helicopter program is a unique and proven law enforcement tool that provides quick response to crimes in progress, conducts routine aerial patrols of the City and enhances field officer safety.

The City of Cerritos currently partners with the City of Lakewood for Sky Knight services. The City of Cerritos paid an estimated $139,000 for its cost of one of the new R-44 helicopters, and pays approximately $250,000 a year for its share of services. Participation in the Sky Knight program reduces the City of Cerritos' reliance on the Sheriff's Aero Bureau helicopter, which must respond daily to calls in numerous cities and unincorporated areas throughout Los Angeles County. Whereas a response from the Aero Bureau could take 10 to 15 minutes or more, Sky Knight can respond to calls in the Cerritos area in two to three minutes.

"It was an honor to recently join with other local government officials and members of the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Sky Knight program," remarked Cerritos Mayor Pro Tem Naresh Solanki. "The innovation, success and dedicated service of Sky Knight throughout the years have played a significant role in preserving public safety and ensuring a high quality of life for our community."

Retired NBC Universal executive Paula Williams Madison discusses her powerful memoir "Finding Samuel Lowe: From Harlem to China" at 6 p.m. on Monday, August 22 in the Cerritos Library Skyline Room. The free event is open to the public.

Raised in Harlem by their Chinese Jamaican mother, Madison and her brothers embark on a journey to trace their ancestral roots. In a true rags-to-riches tale, from welfare recipients to wealthy entrepreneurs, Madison's book is a personal account of the challenging search for her maternal grandfather, which takes her and her siblings to Jamaica and China. "Kirkus" reviews described the book as "A well-structured memoir told in brief, punchy vignettes alternating between past and present."

The 88-minute video of "Finding Samuel Lowe: From Harlem to China" will be screened before the author's talk. Copies of the book will be available for purchase at the event.

Cerritos Library is located at 18025 Bloomfield Avenue. For more information, call (562) 916-1342.

• CineMark will be showing free movies with $2 concessions this Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Free movies include "Shrek," "Kung Fu Panda 3," "Home," "How to Train Your Dragon 2" and "Madagascar 3: Europe's Most Wanted."

The free movies are part of CineMark's "Community Day." In addition to $2 concession items, rafiki bracelets will be sold for $3, with proceeds benefiting WE Charity.

• The Second Tyme Around Thrift Shop in downtown Downey has received a large donation of buttons.

The shop, which is operated by the Assistance League of Downey, is selling bags of buttons for $1 per bag.

Buttons have already been donated to a group who make button dolls for foster children and the Arc for its arts and crafts program.

The thrift shop is located at 11026 Downey Ave. Proceeds generated the thrift shop support the Assistance League's philanthropy.

• Downey police officers will be at the Starbucks located at Imperial Highway and Paramount Boulevard on Wednesday, Aug. 31, starting at 6 p.m. to chat with residents.

The event is designed to bring residents and police together for an informal, friendly discussion over a cup of coffee.

"We hope that community members will feel comfortable to ask questions, bring concerns, or simply get to know our officers," said Police Chief Carl Charles. "These interactions are the foundation of community partnerships. There has never been a more important time for Coffee with a Cop than right now. This program will bring our community together and help heal our nation and make us stronger."

SummerSlam Preview: Brock Lesnar vs. Randy Orton

SummerSlam 2016 takes place this Sunday at the Barclays Center, and it's headlined by a highly-anticipated matchup between Brock Lesnar and Randy Orton. Below is a preview of Sunday's card.

Brock Lesnar vs. Randy Orton: In a match 15 years in the making, Raw's Brock Lesnar faces SmackDown Live's Randy Orton for the first time ever on pay-per-view.

Finn Bálor vs. Seth Rollins (for the WWE Universal Championship): "The Demon King" Finn Bálor battles "The Architect" Seth Rollins in a match to determine Raw's inaugural WWE Universal Champion.

Dean Ambrose vs. Dolph Ziggler (for the WWE Championship): The Lunatic Fringe's WWE World Title is on the line against show-stealing former World Heavyweight Champion Dolph Ziggler.

John Cena vs. AJ Styles: The Phenomenal One looks to prove his time is now, but will he succeed against the Cenation leader in a marquee matchup for SmackDown Live?

Rusev vs. Roman Reigns (for the U.S. Championship): Roman Reigns will challenge Rusev for the United States Championship at SummerSlam. Can the former WWE World Champion thwart The Super Athlete's reign of terror?

Sasha Banks vs. Charlotte (for the Women's Championship): Dana Brooke will be barred from ringside when WWE Women's Champion Sasha Banks and Charlotte battle in a title rematch.

The New Day vs. Gallows & Anderson (for the Tag Team Championship): Intent on avenging Big E, Kofi Kingston & Xavier Woods defend the WWE Tag Team Championship against the men who injured their partner, Luke Gallows & Karl Anderson.

Enzo Amore & Big Cass vs. Chris Jericho & Kevin Owens: Mere miles away from their old stomping grounds, Enzo Amore & Big Cass take on the newly formed Jeri-KO.

The Miz vs. Apollo Crews: With a win in a New Era Triple Threat Match, Apollo Crews has punched his ticket for SummerSlam, where he will challenge Intercontinental Champion The Miz.

Cesaro vs. Sheamus: A Best of Seven Series between Cesaro and Sheamus to determine which Superstar is physically dominant — and, perhaps, worthy of championship consideration — gets underway this Sunday.

Carmella, Becky Lynch & Naomi vs. Natalya, Eva Marie &

Alexa Bliss: SmackDown Live's Women's division will take center stage in a six-woman tag team match.

Videos surface of a death in custody the LAPD didn't want released

By Topher Sanders
ProPublica

LOS ANGELES — Early on the afternoon of June 4, 2012, Vachel Howard was handcuffed to a bench inside the Los Angeles Police Department's 77th Street Station Jail. He was 56 years old, and had been taken into custody for driving while intoxicated. The grandfather of seven had been strip-searched, and his shirt still hung open. Howard told the officers present that he suffered from schizophrenia. Police suspected he was high on cocaine.

Less than an hour later, Howard was pronounced dead at Good Samaritan Hospital, just miles from the jail. He had been released from the handcuffs, but later subdued by half a dozen officers after he became, by their testimony, "violent and combative." A coroner eventually listed three contributing causes of death: cocaine intoxication, heart disease, and a chokehold employed by one of the officers.

Two years of litigation followed before, in October of 2015, the city of Los Angeles agreed to pay Howard's family $2.85 million to settle a wrongful death claim.

The legal fight included dozens of depositions and competing medical opinions and claims of responsibility, all of them publicly filed in federal court in Los Angeles. What never became public, however, were 30 minutes of video showing Howard's death inside the 77th Street Station Jail — recordings of a sequence of events that had enraged a family and cost Los Angeles taxpayers nearly $3 million.

The tapes — recorded by two fixed cameras in the jail — had been filed with the judge in the case, S. James Otero, but when ProPublica requested the footage, Otero's clerk said he was unsure if the judge still had it, and that the judge's practice was not to make such material available to the news media. The police department denied a request for any video and the city attorney's office said it didn't have the footage.

ProPublica has now obtained copies of the tapes, and is publishing them in the interest of establishing a more complete public record of a controversial and costly death. [The videos can be viewed at ProPublica.org] The videos offer compelling evidence of how Howard died and how police and medical personnel at the jail responded to Howard's needs in the aftermath of an ultimately deadly jailhouse struggle.

The videos capture Howard in an agitated state on the station house bench. They show the officers shooting him with a Taser while simultaneously tackling him to the ground. For four minutes, six officers are either on top of or surrounding Howard, handcuffing his hands and feet. One officer is atop him, with a knee in his back. Another, at least briefly, can be seen with his arm around Howard's neck and shoulders. Officers and medical personnel slowly come to realize Howard is in distress. Four different people perform CPR over nine minutes. Finally, emergency medical personnel arrive and work on Howard for another eight minutes. Howard is then wheeled to an ambulance and police tape is used to cordon off the station house floor.

ProPublica contacted Howard's daughter and her lawyer. Tushana Howard said her father had struggled with drugs for years, but that he did not deserve to die that night in the jail. V. James DeSimone, Tushana Howard's lawyer, was more blunt.

"Mr. Howard posed no threat whatsoever," said DeSimone. "He was down on the ground, six officers on top of him, no guns in the nearby vicinity executing a chokehold where there was no threat to the officers or to anybody else. It's out of policy, it's unlawful, and in this case it's murder."

Officials with the police department and the city attorney's office would not comment. Neither agency admitted to wrongdoing as part of the settlement. The officer accused of using the chokehold, Juan Romero, was suspended for 22 days. Prosecutors decided not to pursue a case against Romero. In court filings, the police said Howard had tried to bite Romero and defended the officer's actions.

"Given what were indisputably tense and rapidly evolving circumstances, Officer Romero's decision to apply an upper body hold on the decedent was justified," the filing said.

The five-member board that reviewed the fatal encounter between Howard and the police was established in the 1920s. Known as the Board of Police Commissioners, it sets policy for the department and recommends discipline of officers. On April 16, 2013, it reviewed the Howard case and subsequently issued an 18-page summary of its findings. Its detailed analysis noted that some things might have been handled differently — the decision to remove the handcuffs from Howard among them — but determined that, as a matter of policy, only Romero's chokehold amounted to a violation.

Video recordings have played a central role in heightening the nation's attention on deadly interactions between the police and the public. They have surfaced in Chicago and New York, North Charleston, S.C., and Cleveland. Some of the videos have served as grim vindication for black communities whose allegations of police misconduct are often met with skepticism, and whose calls for the punishment of offending officers often go unsatisfied. For their part, the police have argued the disputed episodes are isolated, and some officials have even claimed that the making and sharing of videos have hurt law enforcement's efforts to fight crime.

Video images such as those involving Howard's encounter with the LAPD have rarely been seen by Californians. Since the late 1970s, California law has specifically authorized police agencies to keep material involving real or alleged police misconduct secret from the general public. But the question of what police owe the public has been given fresh context as the LAPD moves to become the largest police department in the country to routinely outfit its officers with body cameras. The department so far has said it has no plans to make footage readily available to the public, even after deadly incidents.

The events that led to Howard's death began with a traffic stop. Officers had seen Howard's car swerving, crossing a center divide and nearly striking a car in oncoming traffic.

According to his family, Howard had made money restoring old cars and working with his father's lawn service. He had a history of drug use, but his daughter, Tushana, said she had years ago drawn a line with him. If he was to have a relationship with her children, she said, he would have to kick the drugs. Tushana said her father appeared to make good on the deal.

"He said his family was more important, and he wanted to be there for my kids," she said.

Tushana Howard said she was surprised to learn her father had cocaine in his system the day he died. Still, she made clear, his relapse hardly warranted his death.

"Someone's past doesn't determine who they are in the present and people shouldn't assume the worst," she said.

Howard's initial arrest, however, did not go smoothly, involving a car chase and a tense standoff with officers, one of whom wound up drawing his weapon. Howard had driven off after the initial stop, and according to the commission's report, officers worried that he had reached under the driver's side seat for a gun when he again came to a halt. Howard eventually got out of the car and was handcuffed. The two arresting officers noted Howard was sweating profusely, that his speech was repetitive, and that he seemed paranoid, but there was no further drama in the patrol car as they transported him for evaluation and booking.

At the jail, Howard was strip-searched, during which an officer said Howard described himself as a paranoid schizophrenic and indicated that he had not recently been taking his prescribed medication. On one video — there is no accompanying audio for either tape — Howard and several officers can be seen returning to the jail lobby after the search. Howard appears to have been told by an officer to sit on a bench. He sits down and is handcuffed to the bench. He appears agitated and moves constantly while on the bench, turning from left to right and gesturing at officers.

Howard sits on the bench for about 90 seconds before an officer begins to unshackle him. At that point, another officer, Maryann Bunag, enters the camera's view and un-holsters her stun gun. Howard, who still appears to be talking to officers, is escorted out of the camera's view. Court records state that Howard was being taken to see a nurse in the dispensary. Howard and the officers are off camera for about 90 seconds.

The report by the board of commissioners said officers claimed Howard became uncooperative and refused to be assessed by a nurse. He was, the officers said, verbally abusive, and had advanced toward the nurse, prompting her to scream. One officer described Howard, 5-foot-8, 247 pounds, as having been foaming at the mouth during the earlier strip search.

What followed was an extended wrestling match, one that spilled back into the camera's view. Four officers can be seen grabbing at Howard's waist and legs. A Taser was employed five times, according to the commission's report. The officers said Howard was unfazed, often swearing and once removing the Taser probes from his body. The officers reported that at least twice they themselves were exposed to the Taser's electrical charge.

Once Howard is on the ground, a fifth and sixth officer join the fracas. It is then that Romero alleges Howard tried to bite him. The officers told the commission they feared for their lives.

LAPD: Officer receives 22-day suspension after jailed man's death

It is difficult to clearly see Romero in the video. But the commission summed up his actions:

Romero said he applied the hold for only five seconds. He said Howard did not lose consciousness, and that he let go of Howard’s neck once another officer got on top of Howard and put a knee into his back.

Officers eventually handcuff Howard and bind his feet. Officer Richard Fox, 6-foot-3, 230 pounds, then puts his knee into Howard’s back and keeps it there for about a minute in order to maintain control, and because, he said in a deposition, he was utterly exhausted.

Howard is visibly motionless. One officer uses his feet to move Howard’s feet, but there is no visible response from Howard. About 40 seconds later, a nurse, Irene Rowe, responds to calls from officers and peers over Howard. She walks away to retrieve her stethoscope.

While Rowe is retrieving her stethoscope, officers can be seen laughing and smiling. It is unclear what prompts the chuckling or what is said. When Rowe returns about 50 seconds later she appears to have a hard time assessing Howard because he is lying on his side or stomach. The officers then roll Howard over on his back.

Another 20 seconds pass. Rowe couldn’t hear Howard’s heart, she testified.

He wasn’t breathing. Fox makes a 911 call on the radio for an ambulance.

Rowe then begins her first compressions on Howard’s chest, nearly 4 minutes after he was first visibly motionless. The resuscitation effort is interrupted momentarily to allow officers to roll Howard on his side so they could undo his handcuffs and foot restraints. Medical staff and officers, including Romero, spend the next nine minutes compressing Howard’s chest until paramedics arrive. He was never revived. The coroner found hemorrhages and fractured cartilage in Howard’s neck.

Howard, who was affectionately called Big Duck by friends and family because of the way he walked, was laid to rest on June 16, 2012 in Inglewood, California. A number of restored late-model vehicles and their owners were present in tribute at Howard’s funeral. His family filed their lawsuit in March of 2013, asserting that Howard was the victim of abusive treatment and unnecessary use of deadly force in the form of a chokehold.

Across the months of legal sparring, lawyers for the department and the city cited Howard’s obesity, health history and state of delirium as critical to his death. One officer described Howard as super human, akin to the cartoon character the Hulk.

The family said through its lawyer that it had no knowledge of any mental health history for Howard. They blamed the chokehold, and argued that the officers and nurses failed to render aid to Howard in a timely fashion.

“They’re noticeably laughing on the video when they’ve essentially just killed a man and he’s lying at their feet,” said DeSimone, the lawyer for Howard’s daughter, of one moment in the episode.

The LAPD declined requests by ProPublica to speak with the officers involved.

The Board of Commissioners that reviewed the incident included two former U.S. Attorneys, including one who had investigated the infamous Rodney King beating, as well as a civil rights leader and law school dean. Its report offers a detailed chronology, from the traffic stop through Howard’s departure for the hospital from the jail. The board notes that the officers initially failed to broadcast a required alert during the chase, but determined that the circumstances made that understandable. It noted that re-handcuffing Howard after he had been freed from the jail bench “would have been tactically prudent,” but did not amount to a policy violation. It faulted an officer for how she holstered her Taser, but found its repeated use to have been reasonable.

Only Romero was sanctioned in any way. The board noted Howard was on the ground in a controlled position with five officers on top of him and two others monitoring. It said Howard’s attempt to bite Romero did not equate to a deadly threat and did not require the chokehold.

“Given the totality of the circumstances,” the board wrote, “the BOPC found that a detention officer with similar training and experience as detention officer A, while faced with similar circumstances, would not reasonably believe that the subject’s actions presented an imminent threat of serious bodily injury or death. The BOPC found detention officer A’s use of lethal force to be out of policy.”

The penalty was a suspension of 22 days. Romero was soon back on the job.

NOTICE CALLING FOR BIDS

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENT PROJECT NO. 17-05 SLURRY SEAL PROJECT AREA "B"

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that sealed bids will be received at the office of the City Clerk of the City of Downey until 11:00 AM on Thursday, September 1, 2016 which hour the proposed bids will be publicly opened and read in the City Hall at 11111 Brookshire Ave, Downey, California for Capital Improvement Project No. 17-05 Slurry Seal Project Area "B".

The work to be performed under the Contract generally consists of application of Slurry Seal to existing pavements of various residential streets throughout the southeast quadrant of the City. The work involves crack sealing, applying emulsified slurry; replacing pavement markings and implementing traffic control. The work shall be done in accordance with the Plans and Specifications entitled Capital Improvement Project No. 17-05.

Plans and Specifications on file in the office of the City Cashier at 11111 Brookshire Avenue Downey, California, where they may be examined and copies obtained at a cost of $25.00 per set. The cost of said Plans and Specifications is non-refundable and purchased Plans and Specifications need not be returned. Plans and Specifications may be mailed for an additional charge of $20 via On-Trac Overnight courier.

BIDS MUST BE MADE ON THE PROPOSAL FORM INCLUDED IN THE PLANS AND SPECIFICATIONS FOR CAPITAL IMPROVEMENT PROJECT NO. 17-05. Each bid shall be accompanied by cash, a certified or cashier's check or by a corporate surety bond issued by a surety company, admitted to do business in the State of California, on the form furnished by the City as guarantee that bidder will, if an award is made to him in accordance with the terms of his bid, promptly secure Workers' Compensation insurance, and liability insurance, execute a contract in the required form, and furnish satisfactory bonds for the faithful performance of the Contract ("Performance Bond") and for the payment of claims of materialmen and laborers thereunder ("Payment Bond"). Said cash, check or bidder's bond shall be in an amount of not less than ten percent (10%) of the amount of the bid. The Performance and Payment Bond shall be not less than one hundred percent (100%) of the total amount of the bid price named in the contract. Only bonds issued by companies admitted to do business in the State of California will be accepted in accordance with the Code of Civil Procedure, Section 995.313. Callers to submit acceptable Payment and Performance Bonds as required shall result in a rejection of the bid and a forfeiture of the proposal guarantee.

The Contractor shall abide by the provisions of the California Labor Code § 1770-1781, et seq. In accordance with the provisions of the California Labor Code § 1773, the general prevailing rate of daily wages in the locality and overtime work in the locality in which the work is to be performed has been obtained from the Director of the Department of Industrial Relations, a copy of which is on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Downey and will be made available to any interested party upon request. The Contractor shall post a copy of the prevailing rate of per diem wages at the job site. The Contractor shall Sub to the Contractor under him, shall pay not less than the specified prevailing rates of wages to all workers employed in the execution of the contract.

All projects require the successful bidder to possess a valid State of California Contractor's License at the time of Contract Award, in accordance with Section 20103.5 of the Public Contract Code. Pursuant to Section 3900 of the Public Contract Code, the City has determined that the Contractor to whom the subject contract is awarded shall possess a valid Contractor's License in the Classification of A, "General Engineering Contractor, C-32, "Parking and Highway Improvement Paving Contractor," or C-12, "Earthwork and Paving Contractor."

In accordance with California Labor Code Section 1771.1, no Contractor or Subcontractor shall be qualified to (a) bid on or be listed in a bid proposal on or after March 1, 2015, or (b) engage in the performance of this Work after April 1, 2015, unless registered and qualified to perform the Work pursuant to Labor Code Section 17725.5.

Contractor's performance of the Work described in this Notice Intending to be subject to compliance monitoring and enforcement by the California Department of Industrial Relations.

Each Contractor submitting a proposal or bid for his work shall complete and submit with the proposal all of the forms included therein, including the Bidder's Qualifications Statement, Designation of Subcontractors, the Non-Collusion Affidavit, the Pre-Bid Site Inspection Certification and the Signature Page. Failure to include any of these documents with the proposal may disqualify the proposal.

The City of Downey reserves the right, after opening bids, to reject any or all bids, to waive any informality in any bid received, and to be the sole judge of the merits of the respective bids received. The award of the Contract, if it is awarded, will be to the lowest responsible Bidder whose bid complies with all the requirements prescribed.

Pursuant to California Public Contract Code § 22300, the Contractor at his sole cost and expense, may substitute authorized securities for any monies withheld by the City to ensure performance under the Contract.

All requests for information (RFI) shall be in written form and shall be directed to:

Mr. Desi Gutierrez, Principal Engineer
E-Mail: dgutierrez@downeyca.org
Tel: (562) 904-7110
Fax: (562) 904-7296

No inquiries will be accepted later than five (5) business days prior to the bid opening date as this would not allow time to respond to all plan holders. Phone inquiries will not be accepted.

NO LATE BIDS WILL BE ACCEPTED.

PROBATE

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF SOPHIE LOUISE MCCOY
Case No. 16STPB02385

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of SOPHIE LOUISE MCCOY A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by RALPH LEWIS, SR. in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES. THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that RALPH LEWIS, SR. be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court. THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on August 15, 2016 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 111 located at 111 N. HILL STREET, LOS ANGELES, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of the mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California Statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California Law. YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Said sale will be held, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession, condition, or encumbrances, including fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust, to pay the remaining principal sums of the note(s) secured by said Deed of Trust. The total amount of the unpaid balance of the obligation secured by the property to be sold and reasonable estimated costs, expenses and advances at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale is: $260,717.66. If the Trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the Trustee, and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse. The beneficiary under said Deed of Trust heretofore executed and delivered to the undersigned a written Declaration of Default and Demand for Sale, and a written Notice of Default and Election to Sell. The undersigned caused said Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the county where the real property is located. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (800) 280-2832 or visit this Internet Web site WWW.AUCTION.COM, using the file number assigned to this case 035397-CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. FOR SALES INFORMATION: (800) 280-2832 CLEAR RECON CORP. 4375 Jutland Drive Suite 200 San Diego, California 92117

10 tips to becoming a knowledgeable renter

■ RENTING: A few simple tips can save you money and headaches down the road.

By Nathaniel Sillin

On the hunt for a new apartment? A move can be an exciting opportunity to explore a new area or meet new people. However, competitive rental markets can make it difficult to find a desirable place on a budget.

Keep these ten tips in mind to manage the process like a pro. They'll help you stand out from the crowd, get a good deal, enjoy the neighborhood and manage your rights and responsibilities as a renter.

1. Talk to Other Tenants. Speak with current or past renters to get a sense for the building and landlord. Ask about the neighborhood, noise, timeliness with repairs and any other pressing questions. Consider looking for online reviews of the landlord as well, and research the neighborhood.

2. Upgrade Your Application. Go beyond the basic application requirements and include pictures, references, credit reports and a short bio about yourself and whoever else may be moving in. Try to catch the landlord's eye and show that you'll take care of the property. You can order a free credit report from each bureau (Equifax, TransUnion and Experian) once every 12 months at AnnualCreditReport.com.

3. Understand Your Lease. The lease may list the rent amount, terms of the security deposit, guest policies and other crucial details. Read it carefully and ask questions if you don't understand something. State laws regarding rent control or other regulations can impact your situation as well. If you can afford one, you could hire a lawyer to review and explain the lease.

4. Negotiate the Terms. You can't always negotiate lower rent

(it's worth trying), but there may be flexibility when it comes to the security deposit, parking spaces, administrative fees, or the lease's length.

5. Learn Your Rights. Protect yourself by learning about your rights as a renter. They can vary by state, and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has a directory with links to tenants' rights websites for each state.

6. Do a Walkthrough. Walk through the apartment with the landlord, look for damages and document anything you find. You'll thank yourself later when you move out and ask for your full security deposit back.

7. Consider Renters Insurance. Renters insurance costs about $15 to $30 a month for a policy that covers $50,000 worth of losses. It reimburses you if your belongings are stolen, damaged or destroyed by a covered cause, such as a fire. The insurance also helps pay for legal fees if, for instance, someone sues after getting injured at your home.

8. Make Your Own Repairs. Prior to signing the lease, ask if you can take on some of the maintenance responsibilities in exchange for reduced rent. You could offer to handle and pay for basic upkeep, such as replacing lights or smoke detectors, and making minor repairs.

9. Pay Attention to Bills. Evaluate which bills you'll pay in addition to the rent, such as gas, heat, water, electricity, trash, Wi-Fi or parking. A more expensive apartment that includes these can save you money overall.

10. Talk to Your Landlord. Hiding financial trouble helps no one. Talk to your landlord and ask for an extension if you can't make rent. Good tenants can be hard to come by, and your landlord will likely prefer open communication and a late check to being left in the dark.

Bottom Line: Being an informed renter is especially important in a competitive rental market. Take simple steps to improve your rental and money management skills and you'll benefit for years to come.

L.A. County property values increased 5.58% last year

Los Angeles County Assessor Jeffrey Prang has released the 2016 Los Angeles County Assessment Roll, which reflects the value of all taxable property in Los Angeles County.

The 2016 Assessment Roll reveals a 5.58% increase in value. The gross assessed value for the County reached $1.391 trillion, and the net taxable value after exemptions (charitable, homeowners, disabled, etc.) is a record $1.336 trillion, $70.619 billion greater than 2015.

"The 2016 Assessment Roll provides a comprehensive view of the strength of the Los Angeles real estate market," said Prang. "The Roll illustrates that in the last year, every city in Los Angeles County recorded an increase compared to 2015. I am pleased to report the 5.58% increase for assessed property values in Los Angeles County represents the sixth consecutive year of growth."

The 2016 Assessment Roll consists of 2,365,869 taxable real property parcels, 309,253 business property assessments, 45,778 boats, and 3,109 aircraft.

Transfers of real estate (e.g., sales) were the largest contributor to the Assessment Roll increase at 2.97%. Additional contributors to the growth of the Roll include decline-in-value restorations

(0.51%) and new construction (0.51%). The annual inflation-adjusted trend (also known as the Consumer Price Index) added an additional 1.32% to the Roll.

From 2007 through 2010, the economic recession and the corresponding real estate market decline resulted in consecutive annual Assessment Rolls decreases. However, the 2011-2015 Assessment Rolls reflected increases of 1.36%, 2.20%, 4.66%, 5.47%, and 6.13% respectively. With 5.58% growth, the 2016 Assessment Roll continues this upward trend and market recovery.
